A Review of World Interests 1914 to 1919

"For I dipt into the future, far as human eye could see, Saw the vision of the world, and all the wonder that would be;
Saw the heavens fill with commerce, argosies of magic sails,
Pilots of the purple twilight, dropping down with costly bales;
Heard the heavens fill with shouting, and there rain'd a ghastly dew
From the nations' airy navies grappling in the central blue;
Far along the world-wide whisper of the south-wind rushing warm,
With the standards of the peoples plunging through the thunder-storm;
Till the war-drum throb'd no longer, and the battle flags were furl'd
In the Parliament of man, the Federation of the World.

There the common sense of most shall hold a fretful realm in awe
And the kindly earth shall slumber, lapt in universal law. "

Tennyson's Locksley Hall.

Dedication

We, the graduating classes of nineteen hundred nineteen, gratefully dedicate this book to our beloved Principal, Mr. Emory M. Wilson, whose absence during our Senior year we have keenly felt; whose ideals will guide us as we take our places in this new era of reconstruction, with its unprecedented opportunities; and for whose speedy recovery and restoration to active service we earnestly pray.

World of Peace

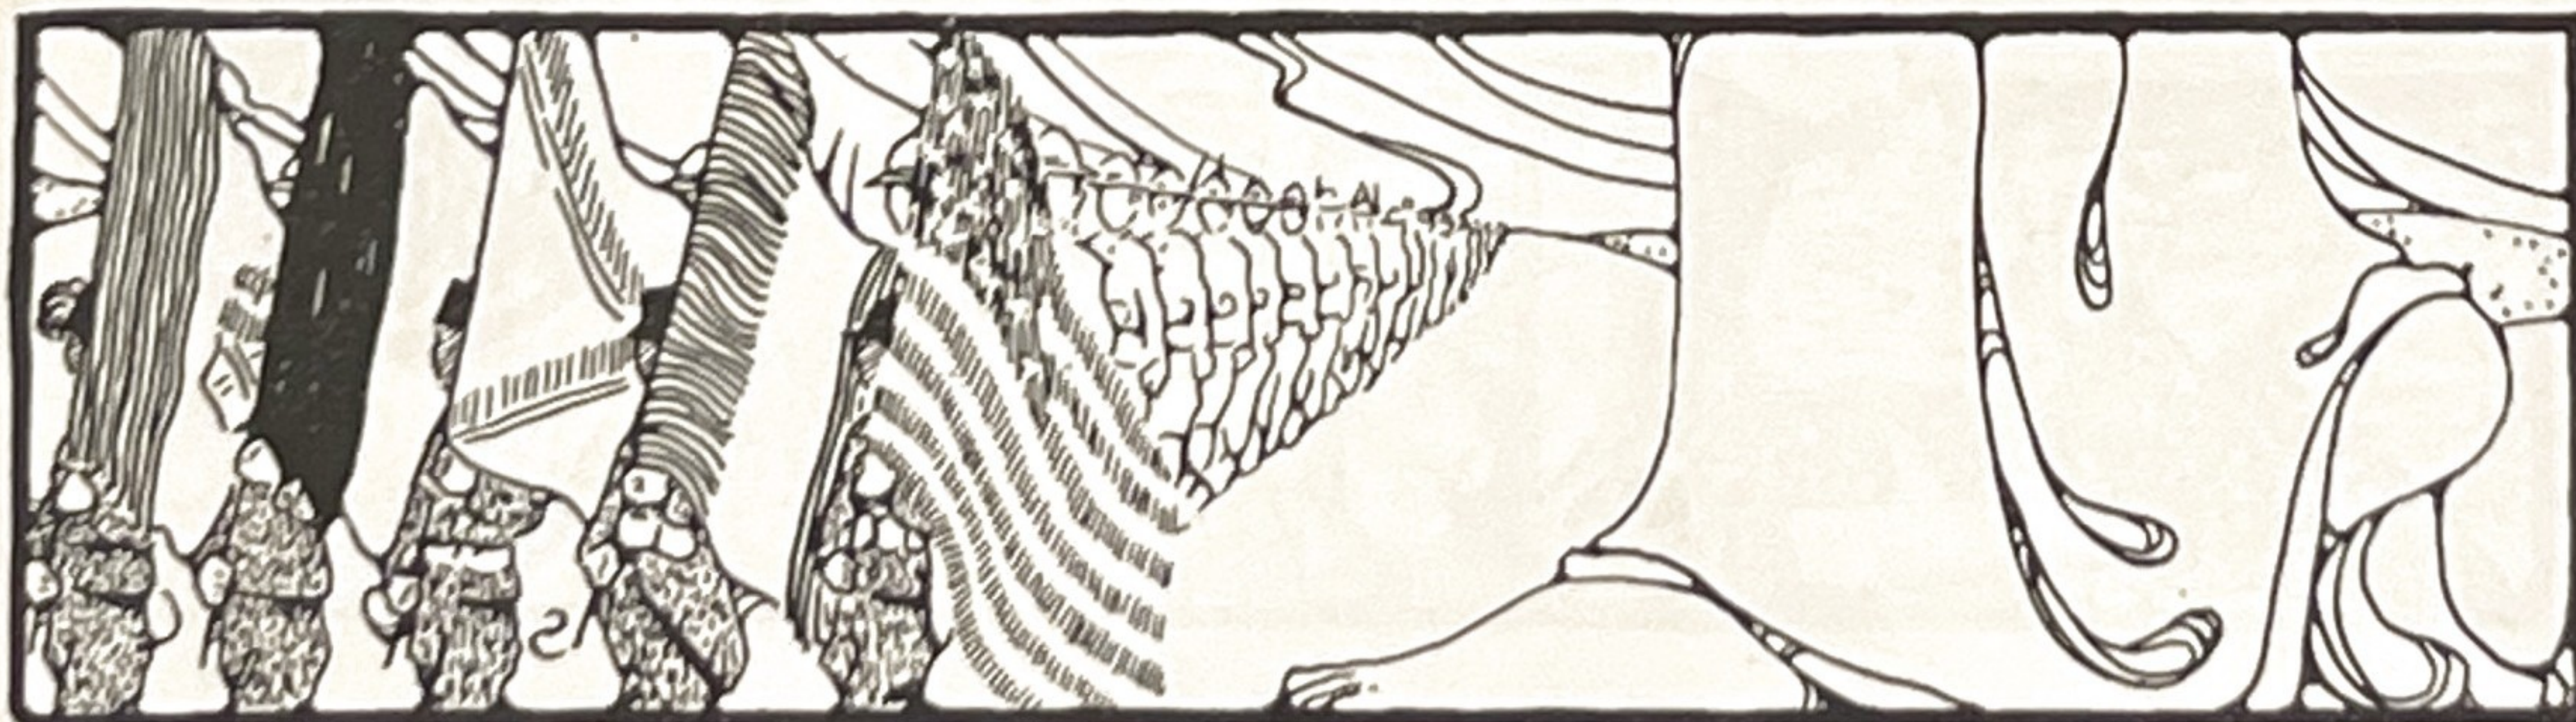

Great, calm world that moves in space,
 Guided by a power unseen,
 Mother of the human race,
 Through the ages that have been,
 Hail to thee, a world of peace!
 May thy happiness increase!

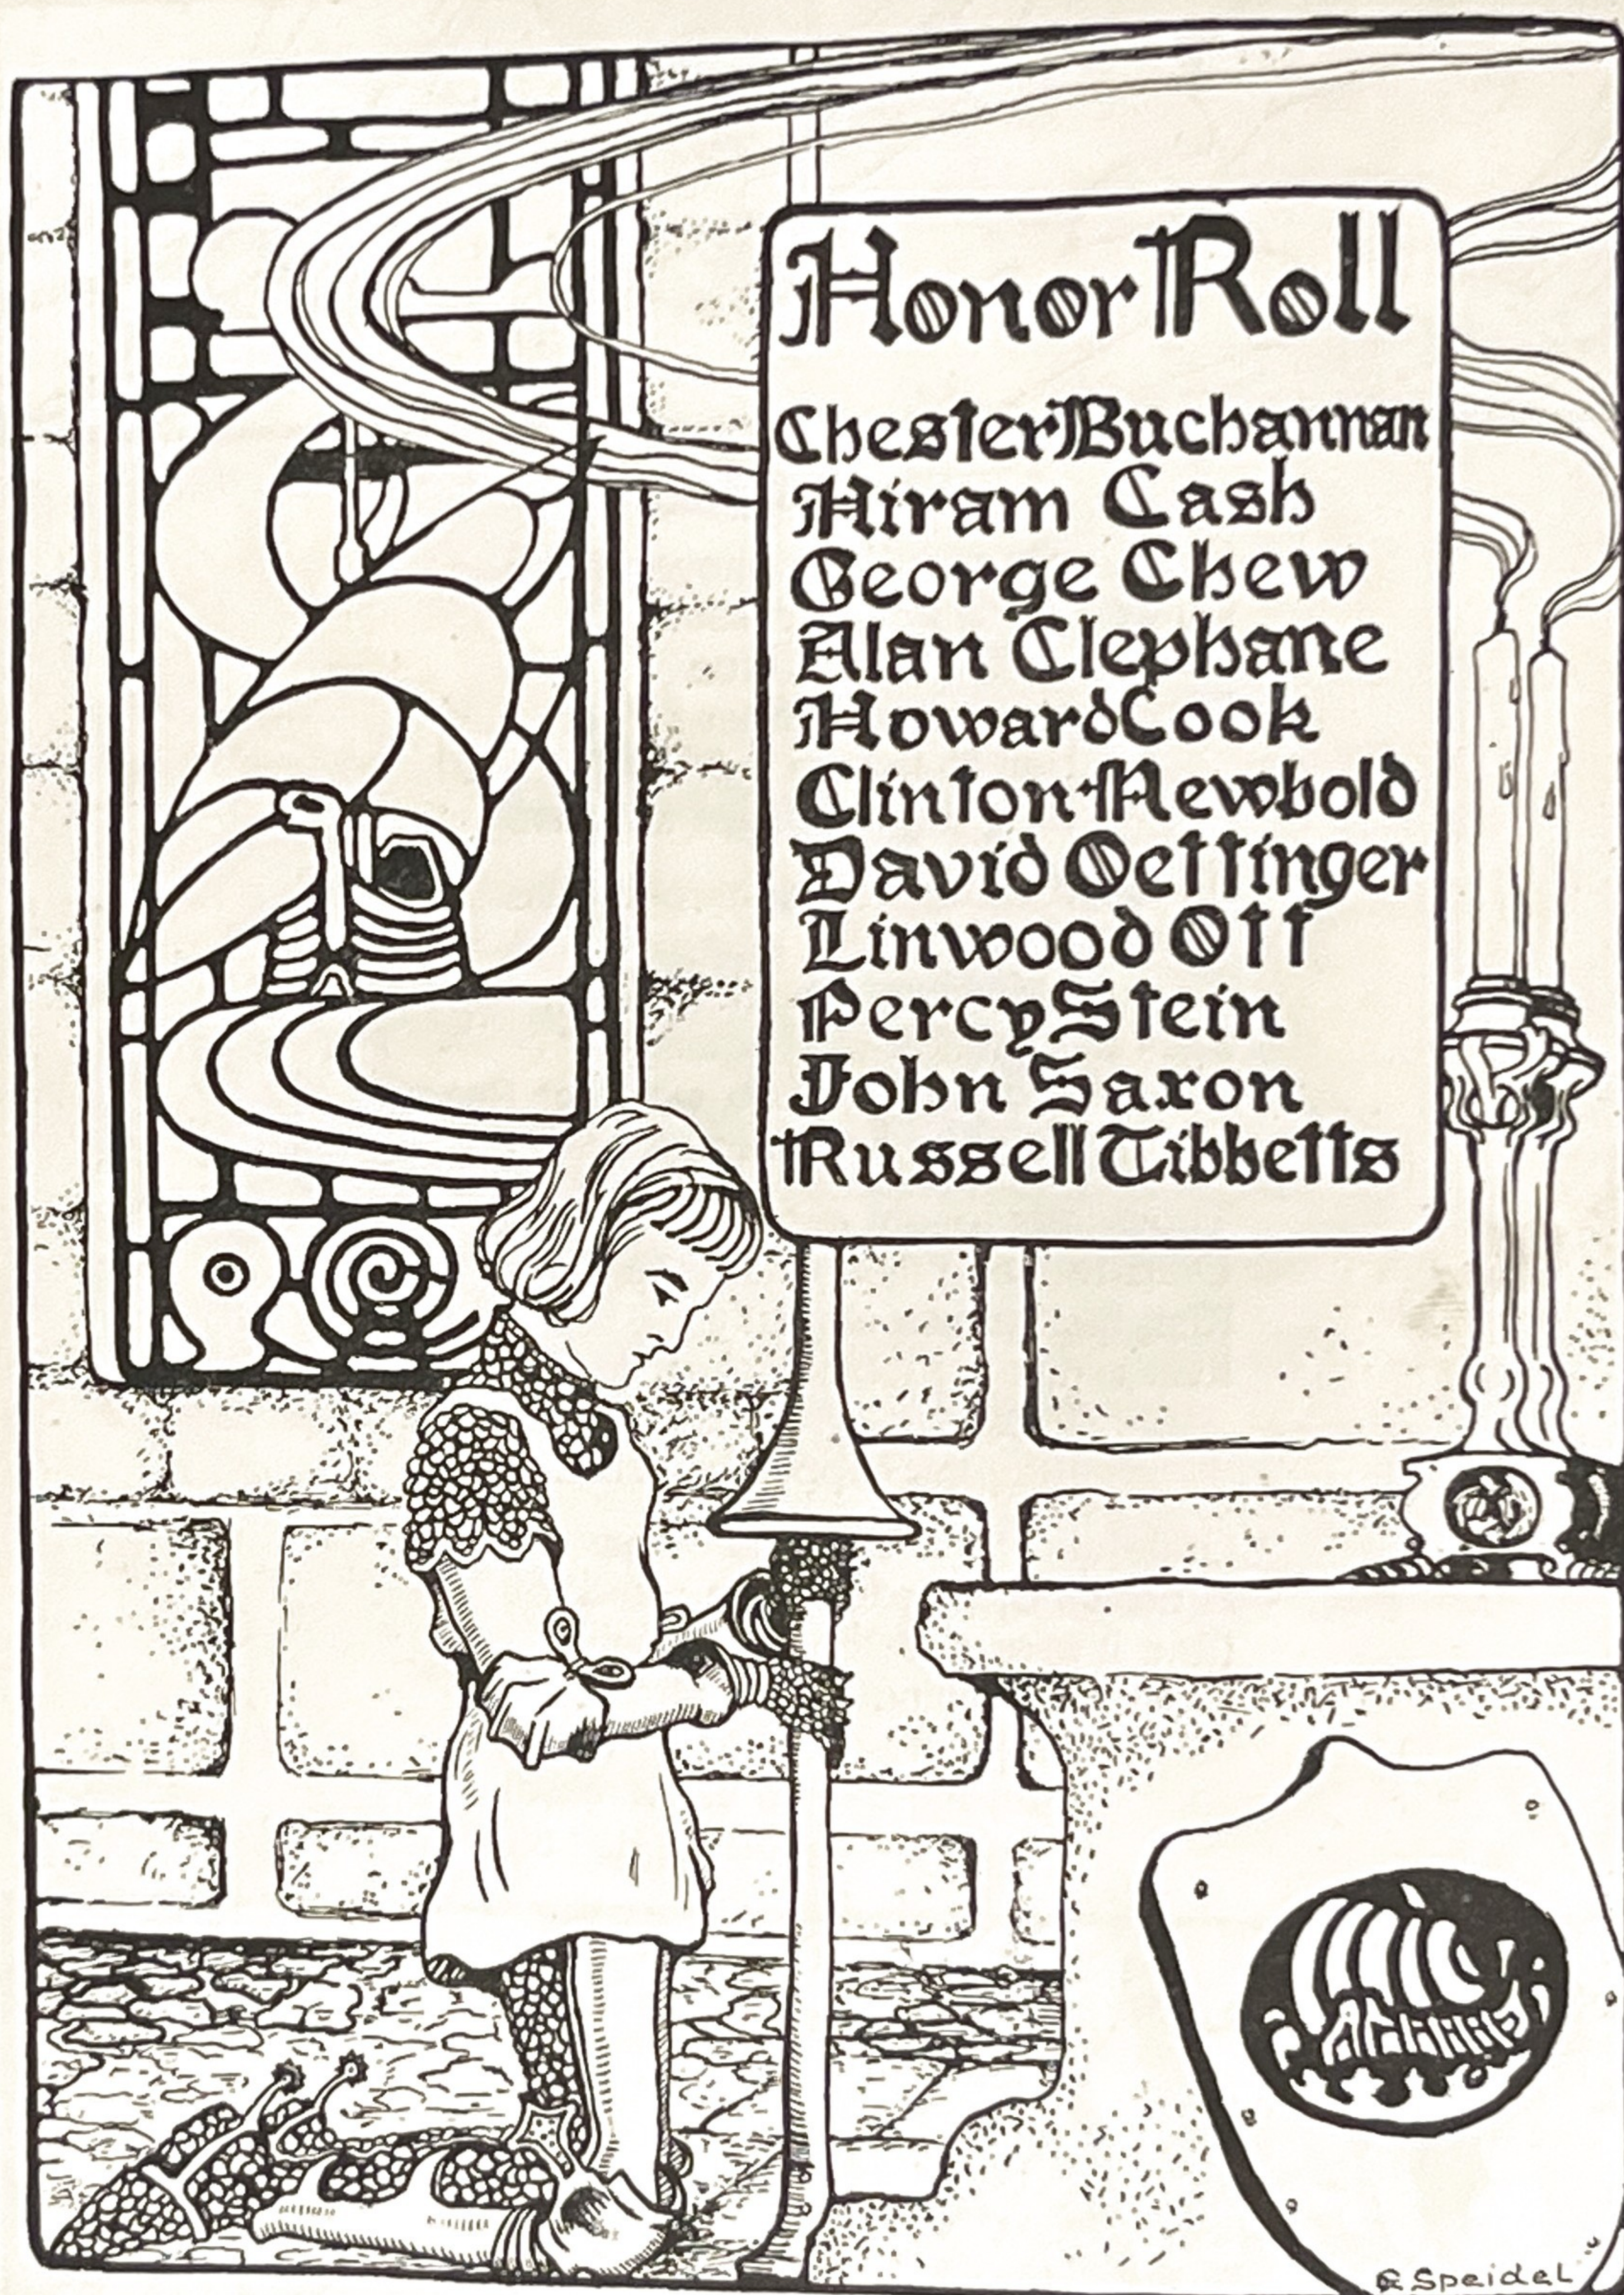

We have watched thee through the strife,
 Given all to ease thy pain,
 Nursed thee slowly back to life,
 Seen thee almost well again.
 Now we hail thee, world of Peace!
 May thy happiness increase!

Thousands fought and died for thee,
 Died to make thee what thou art.
 May their praise eternally
 Rest within thy mother's heart!
 Now thou art a world of peace,
 May thy happiness increase!

Grateful nations bring thee now
 A crown of freedom, hope, and joy.
 May it ever wreath thy brow,
 Light that nothing shall destroy!
 Be forever "World of Peace!"

From War to Peace

It began in a minaretted little city, among the hills of Bosnia. An Austrian band suddenly stopped playing, and a shabby creature, with a blood-stained mouth, was dragged away to prison. At the prompting of a group of bullies at Potsdam, Austria declared war. Russia began a startled mobilization, and the Germans hurried greedily toward Belgium. The tiny country was swiftly hacked through. Heaps of bricks and smouldering church-spires were left behind, while the roadways were littered with bits of homes. British, Belgian, and French armies retreated, and the government began to leave Paris. Lines of cabs raced through the boulevards to the southern railway stations. Then Joffre ordered a brusque halt. The Allies faced about, and skillfully pommeled back the heavy ranks of von Kluck and von Bülow, as far as the Aisne where they gave a surly growl and dug themselves in to stay for months.

In the meantime, a few German troops had sauntered into Russia, expecting a delayed resistance. But the Russians flew at them with bared teeth, and glittering scimitars, and the Germans stumbled awkwardly until von Hindenburg came to their rescue. The Slavs were lured into the quaggy lakes and marshes of Tanneberg, and were drowned. On the south, however, the Austrian army was rolled up the sides of the Carpathians, and gorged down through the narrow passes. Lemberg was soon captured.

Such was the offense. When 1915 came, Germany's elbows were rubbing aggressively against those of her respectable neighbors. The Russians had crawled to the airy crests of the Carpathians, but von Mackensen battered them down again, and von Hindenburg, who had been marking time on the Polish frontier, heaved forward. The dismal Galician retreat began.

On the western front, poison gas was used for the first time. Jets of white vapor were released, and they swirled into a brown-green mist toward the Allied trenches. The French broke into a mad retreat, their lungs bursting. In May, the Lusitania was stilettoed and sunk. Later, Nurse Cavell was hurried from a German prison, and shot down before a wall. The conquest of Serbia was completed. The blood-soaked peasants waded out from their homes through long stretches of miry, hopeless road. The wolves were howling in anticipation of their night's orgy. Thus did Germany add a goodly store to her treasure-trove of horrors.

In February, in the midst of a fog of shell-smoke, with a spray of bullets, and the beating of the big guns, a new drive was begun. The Germans were again at large, with their zenith of power reached. The citadel of Verdun was their goal. They seethed forward venomously, but the French defense was spirited and brilliant. The invaders were driven back over hill after hill, and the Meuse remained free.

In July, the chalky contour of the front trenches was again anxiously watched. Airplanes patrolled the skies, flying with the precision of wild geese. A lark was singing. Then there came the staccato of machine-guns, and the storming began. Above, the airplanes dashed here and there, with agility, the burnished aureole of their propellers gleaming in the sun. They swooped and slid. They flitted in fantastic minuet motions about the dumfounded sausage-balloons. On the carpet below them, the land battle was fought, and the Germans were defeated at the Somme.

In the autumn, an army of leviathans, called tanks, lumbered upon the field. They wrenched and rumbled a serpentine track over the warted ground, and the Germans fled in terror before the new god of the enemy.

When Germany defied the world with an announcement of unrestricted submarine warfare, the United States broke relations with her, and entered the war a few months later. The country fell into a frenzy of preparation; factory chimneys smoked feverishly, and men were hastily molded into armies.

The Russian Revolution began in March. Happy mobs, civilians, and soldiers, gathered in the streets of Petrograd, waving scarlet flags. It was a gay, noisy holiday. But German intrigue was darkly busy, and the ephemeral freedom came to a ghastly end, leaving Russia, groping on her hands and knees.

Italy, repentant for her early waywardness, began a malicious drive on the Austrians. Endless black threads of armies were drawn over the white mountain tops, down through ferny valleys, then up again, to meet the enemy. The Piave line was reached, and the Austrians scattered like sheep.

The British Crusaders, among their desert campaigns, had been delivering the Promised Land, and in Christmas month, they marched through the narrow streets, and beneath the arches of Jerusalem.

1918-1919

The Bolsheviki persuaded a bewildered Russia to make peace, and German ruthlessness was allowed full sway. Vain, and bloated with her easy success there, Germany began a drive for the channel-ports, in the west. In a little French town, behind the lines, Clemenceau, Lloyd-George, and Foch consulted together seriously. The enemy had guzzled to his fill, and had never been more powerful than now. Clemenceau believed that unless something were done immediately, it would be necessary to treat with the Germans. But Foch had a plan of welding the fighters more closely together by which the day was saved. The Germans ground their way in, and had wet their boots in the Marne before they were halted. There the Allies with Foch as Commander-in-Chief were ready to refight the first battle of the Marne. The Americans had refreshed them with a vigorous, new blood, and their unity of command had strengthened them. The French and the Americans threw the enemy across the river, and scaled the cliffs on the other side, at his heels. The terrace-torn Château Thierry was taken, then Fismes, then Soissons. Haig dashed his prize regiments against the Hindenburg line, and the men leaped eagerly forward through a waste of wire and concrete. Bulgaria surrendered. The Belgian ports were at last freed. Turkey and Austria clamored for peace, and far-sighted diplomats drew up an armistice for Germany to sign. The Prussian autocratic government, which had been inflated to such an enormous degree, (continued on page 46)

A REVIEW OF THE WAR

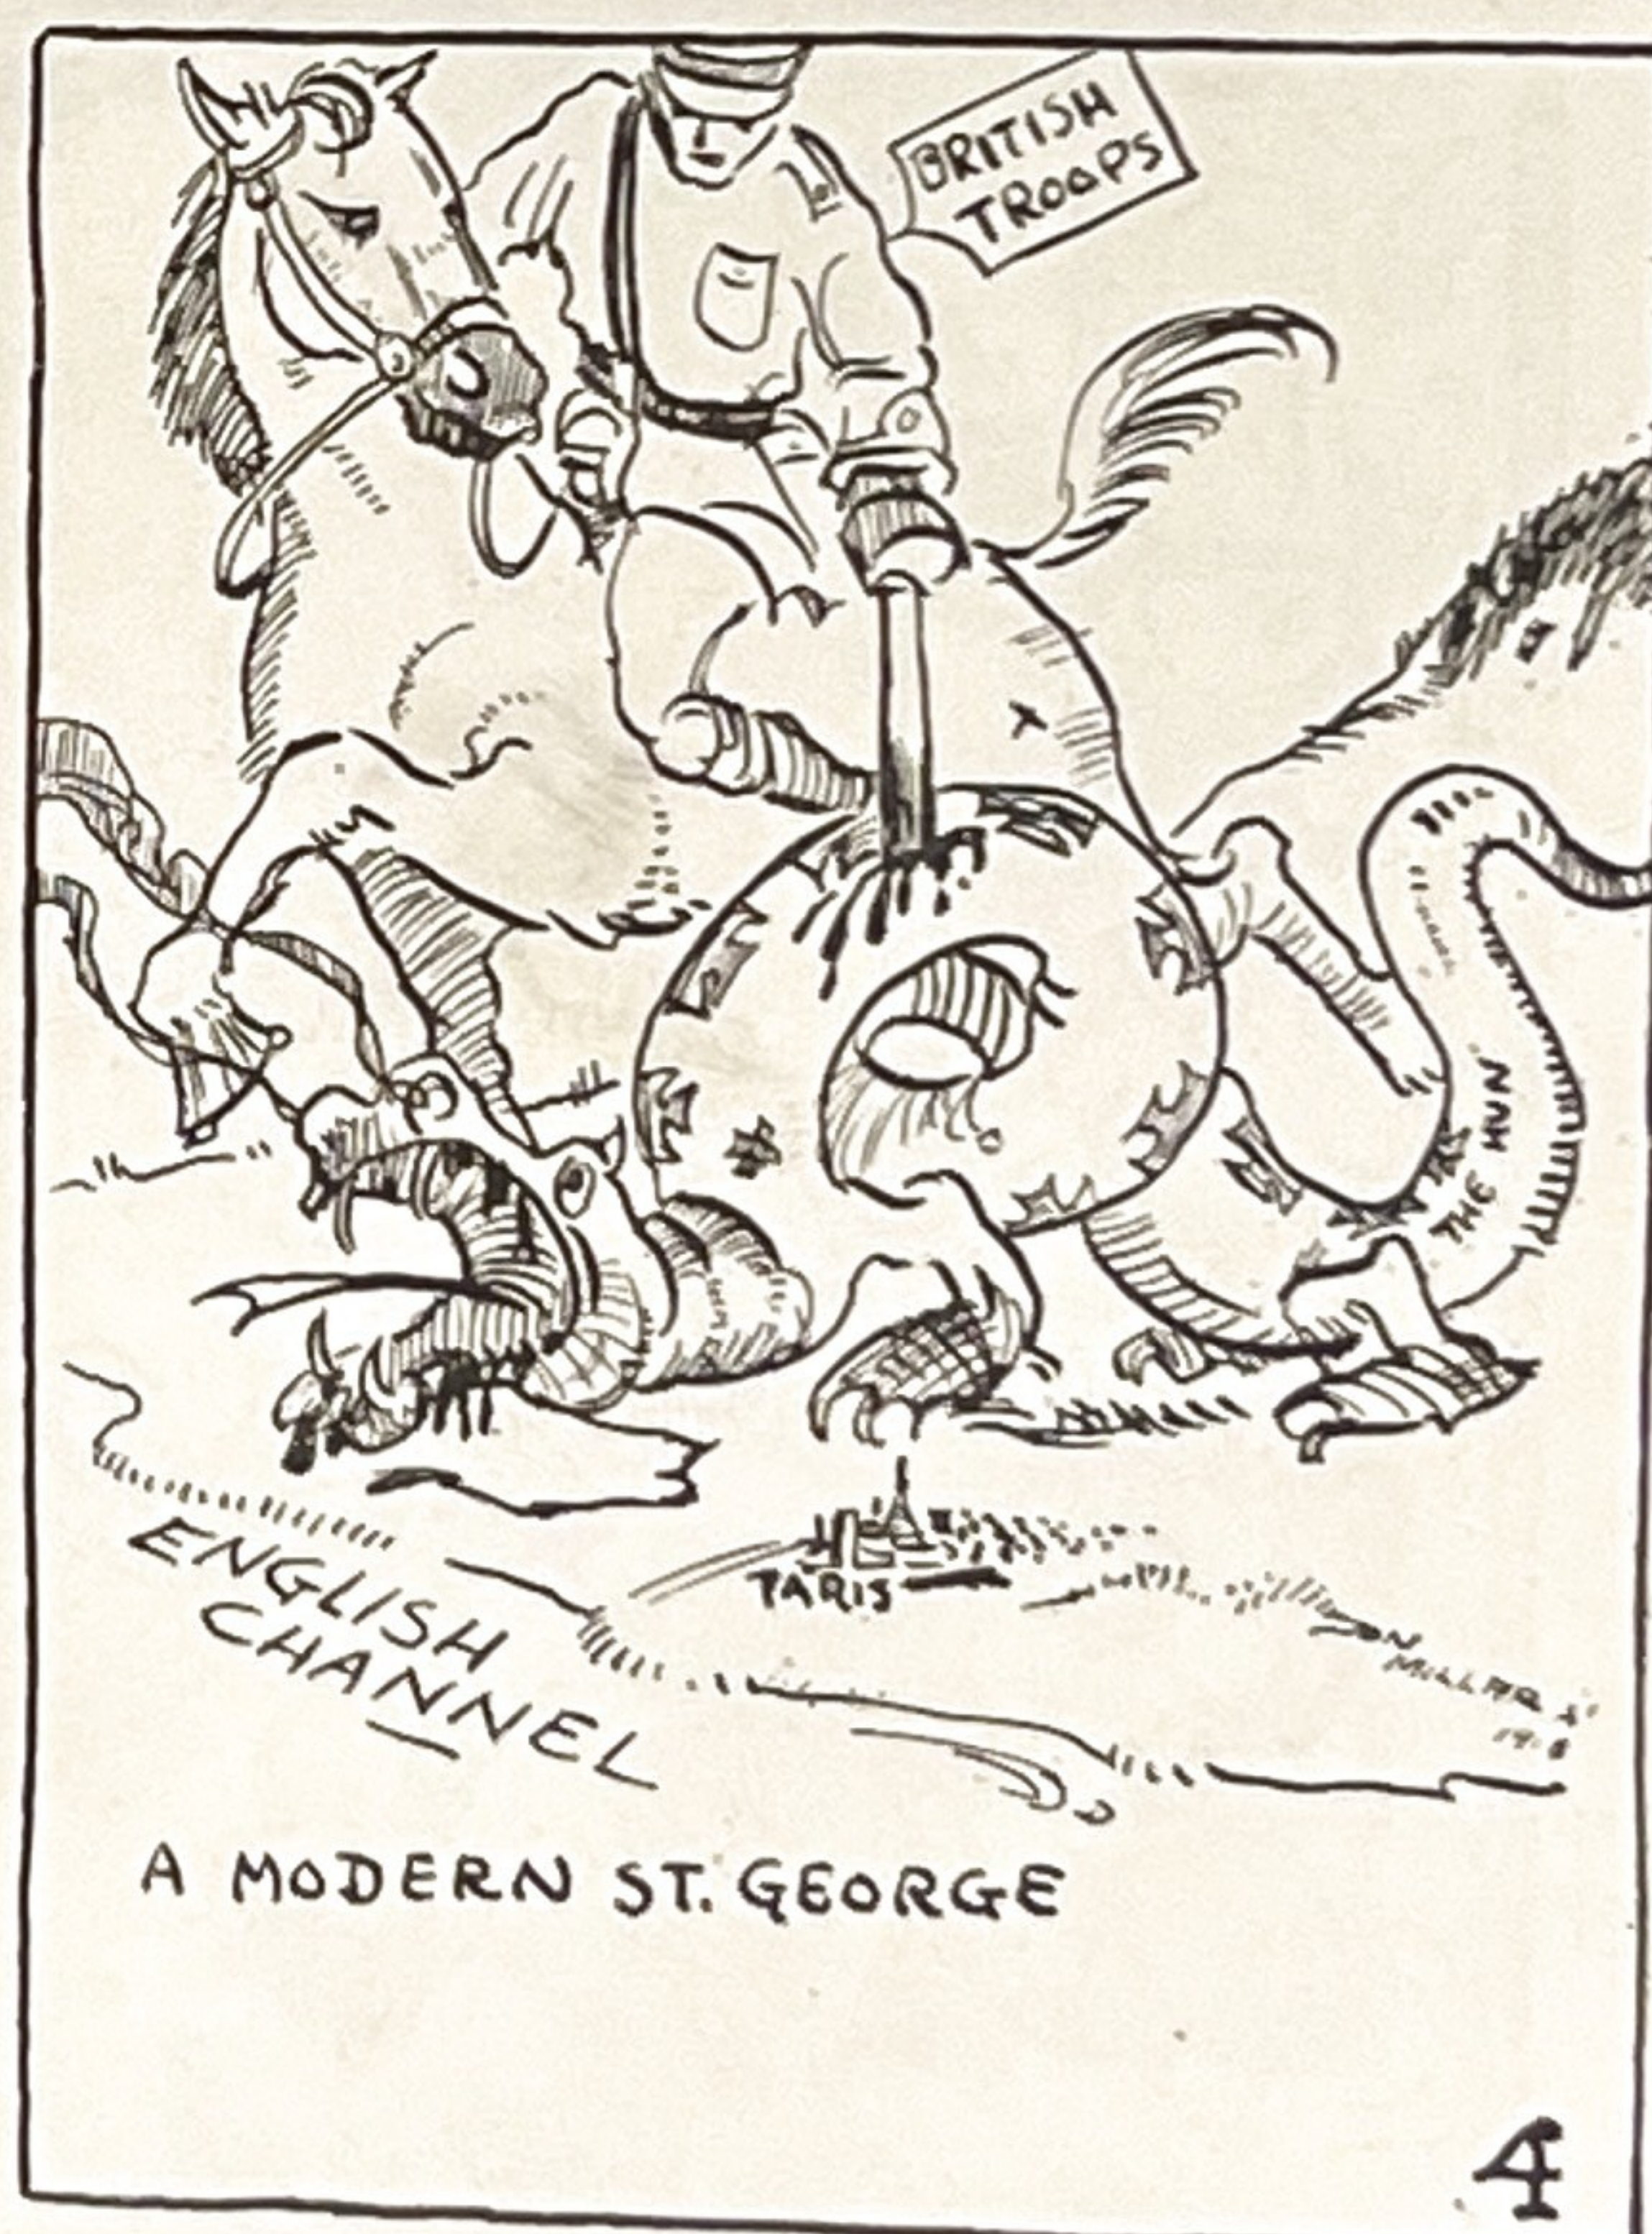

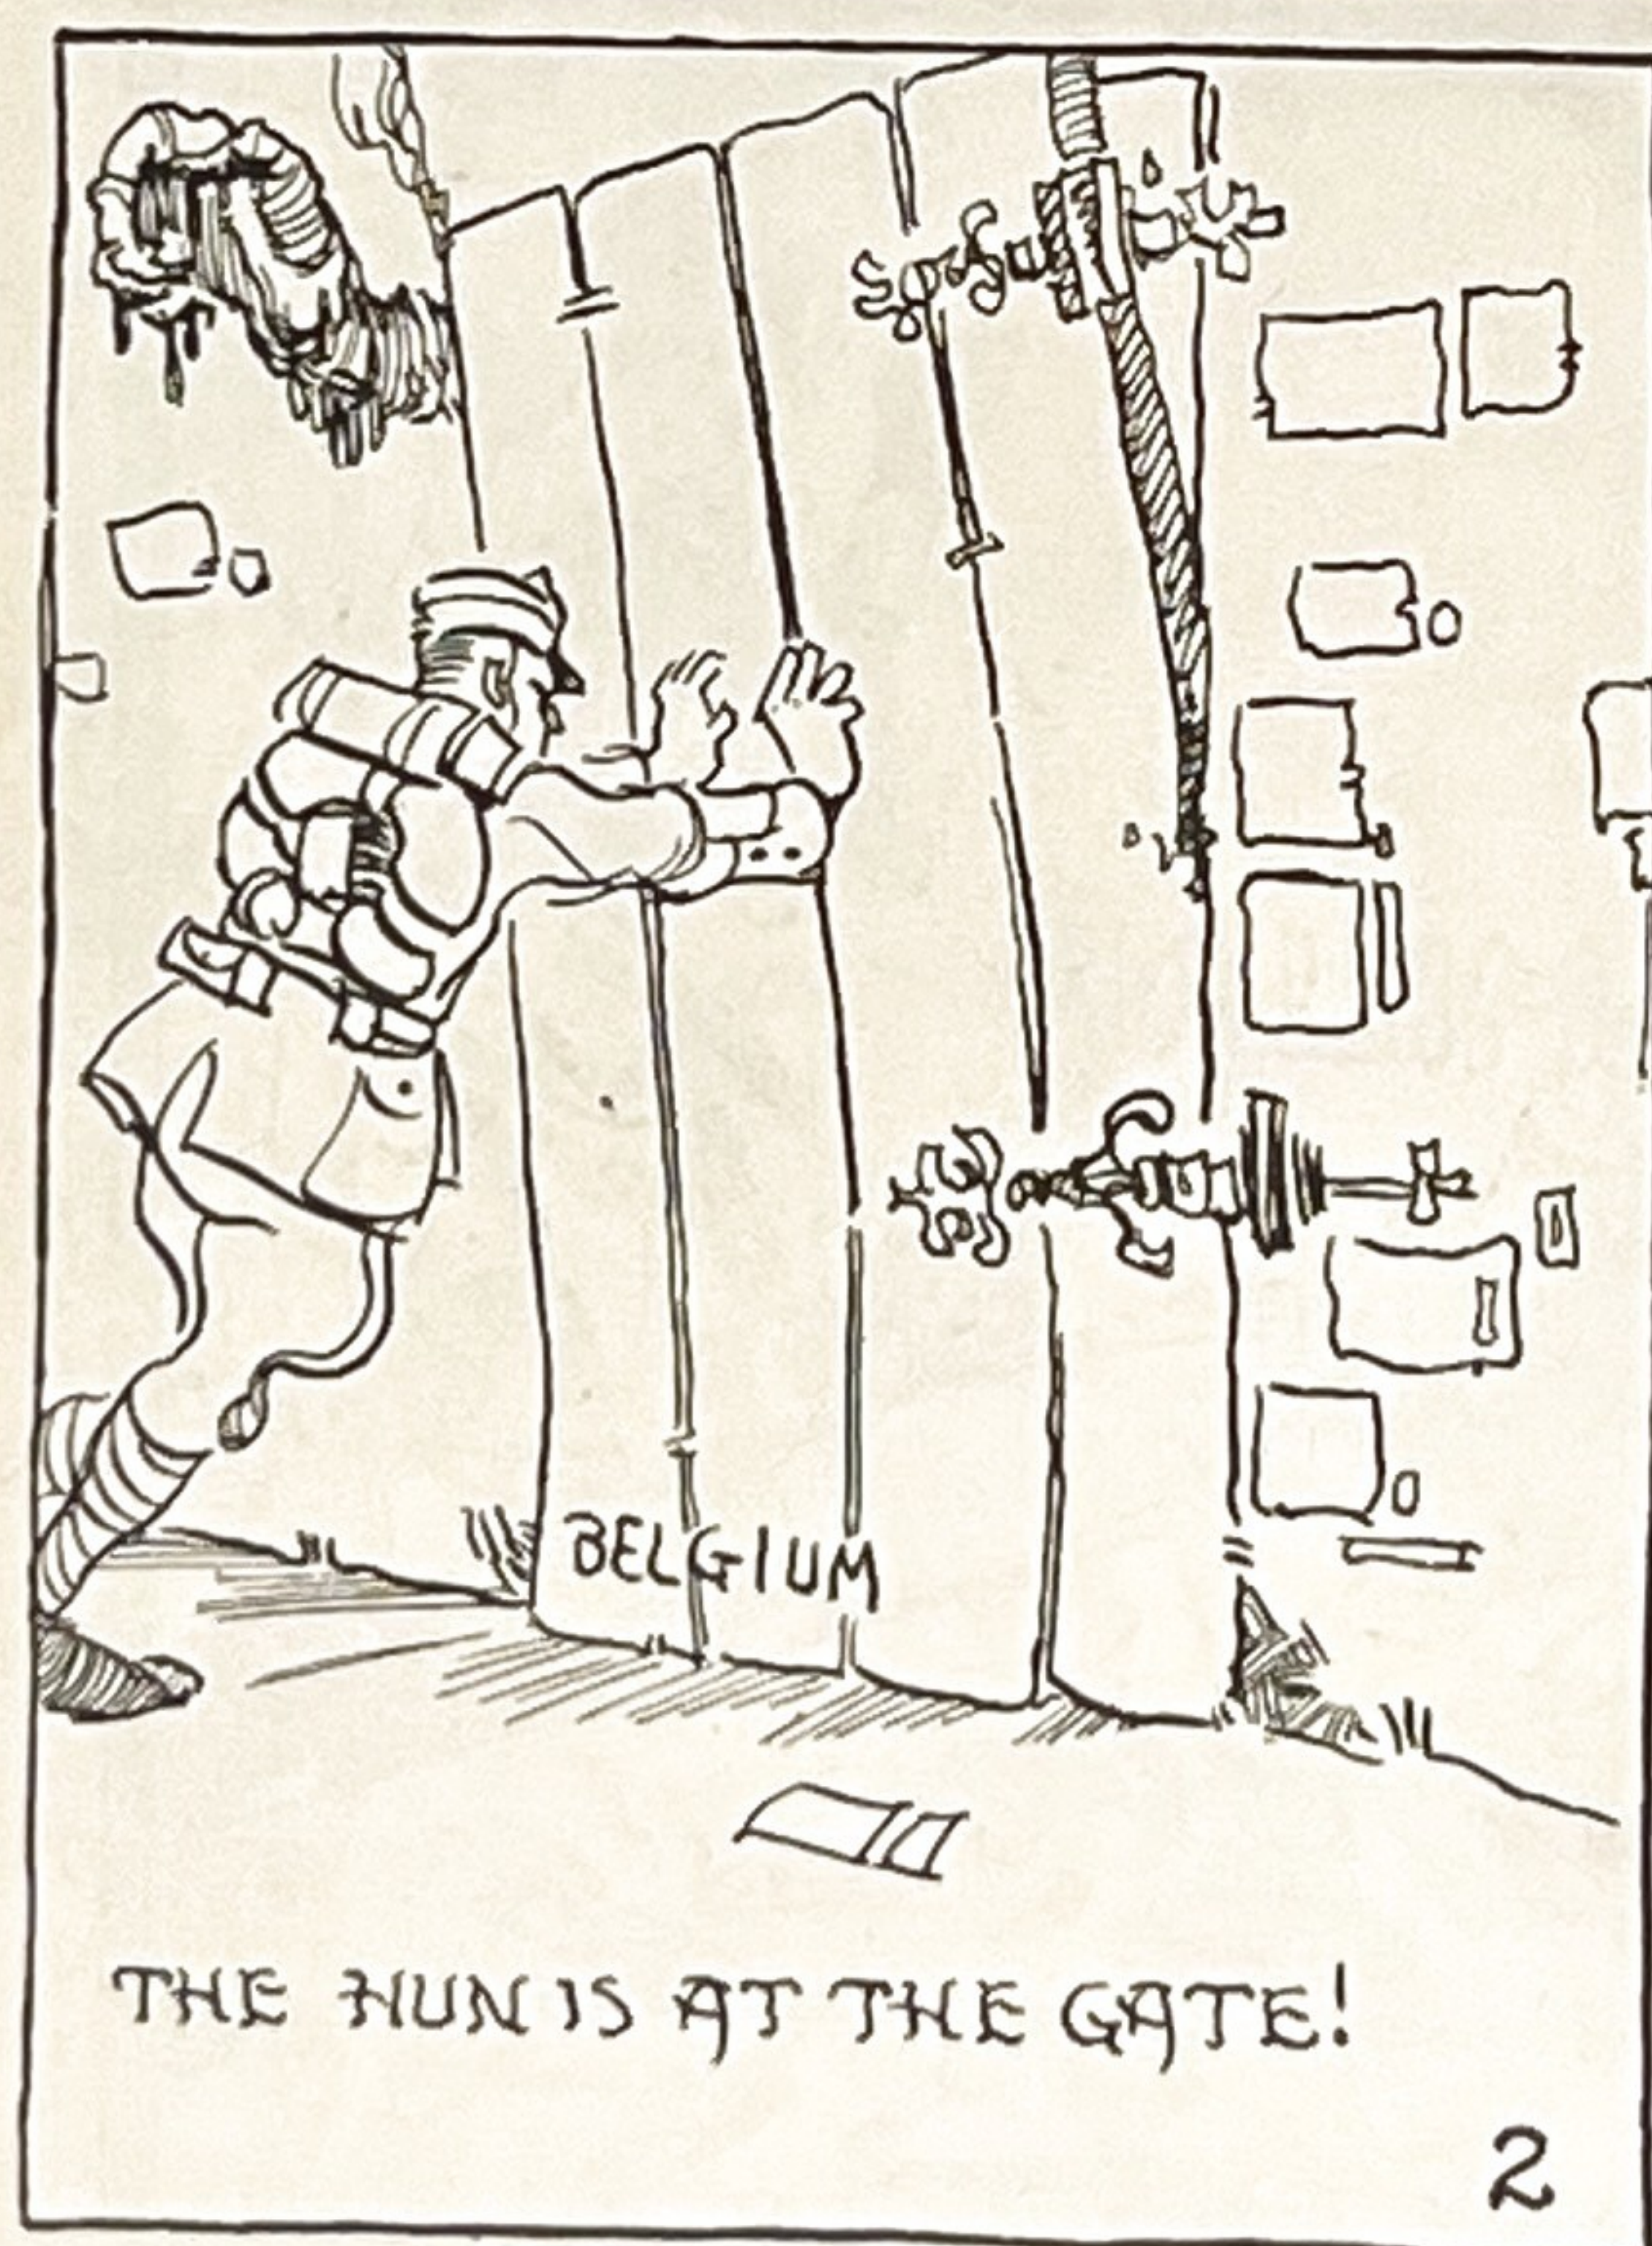

DONALD MILLAR

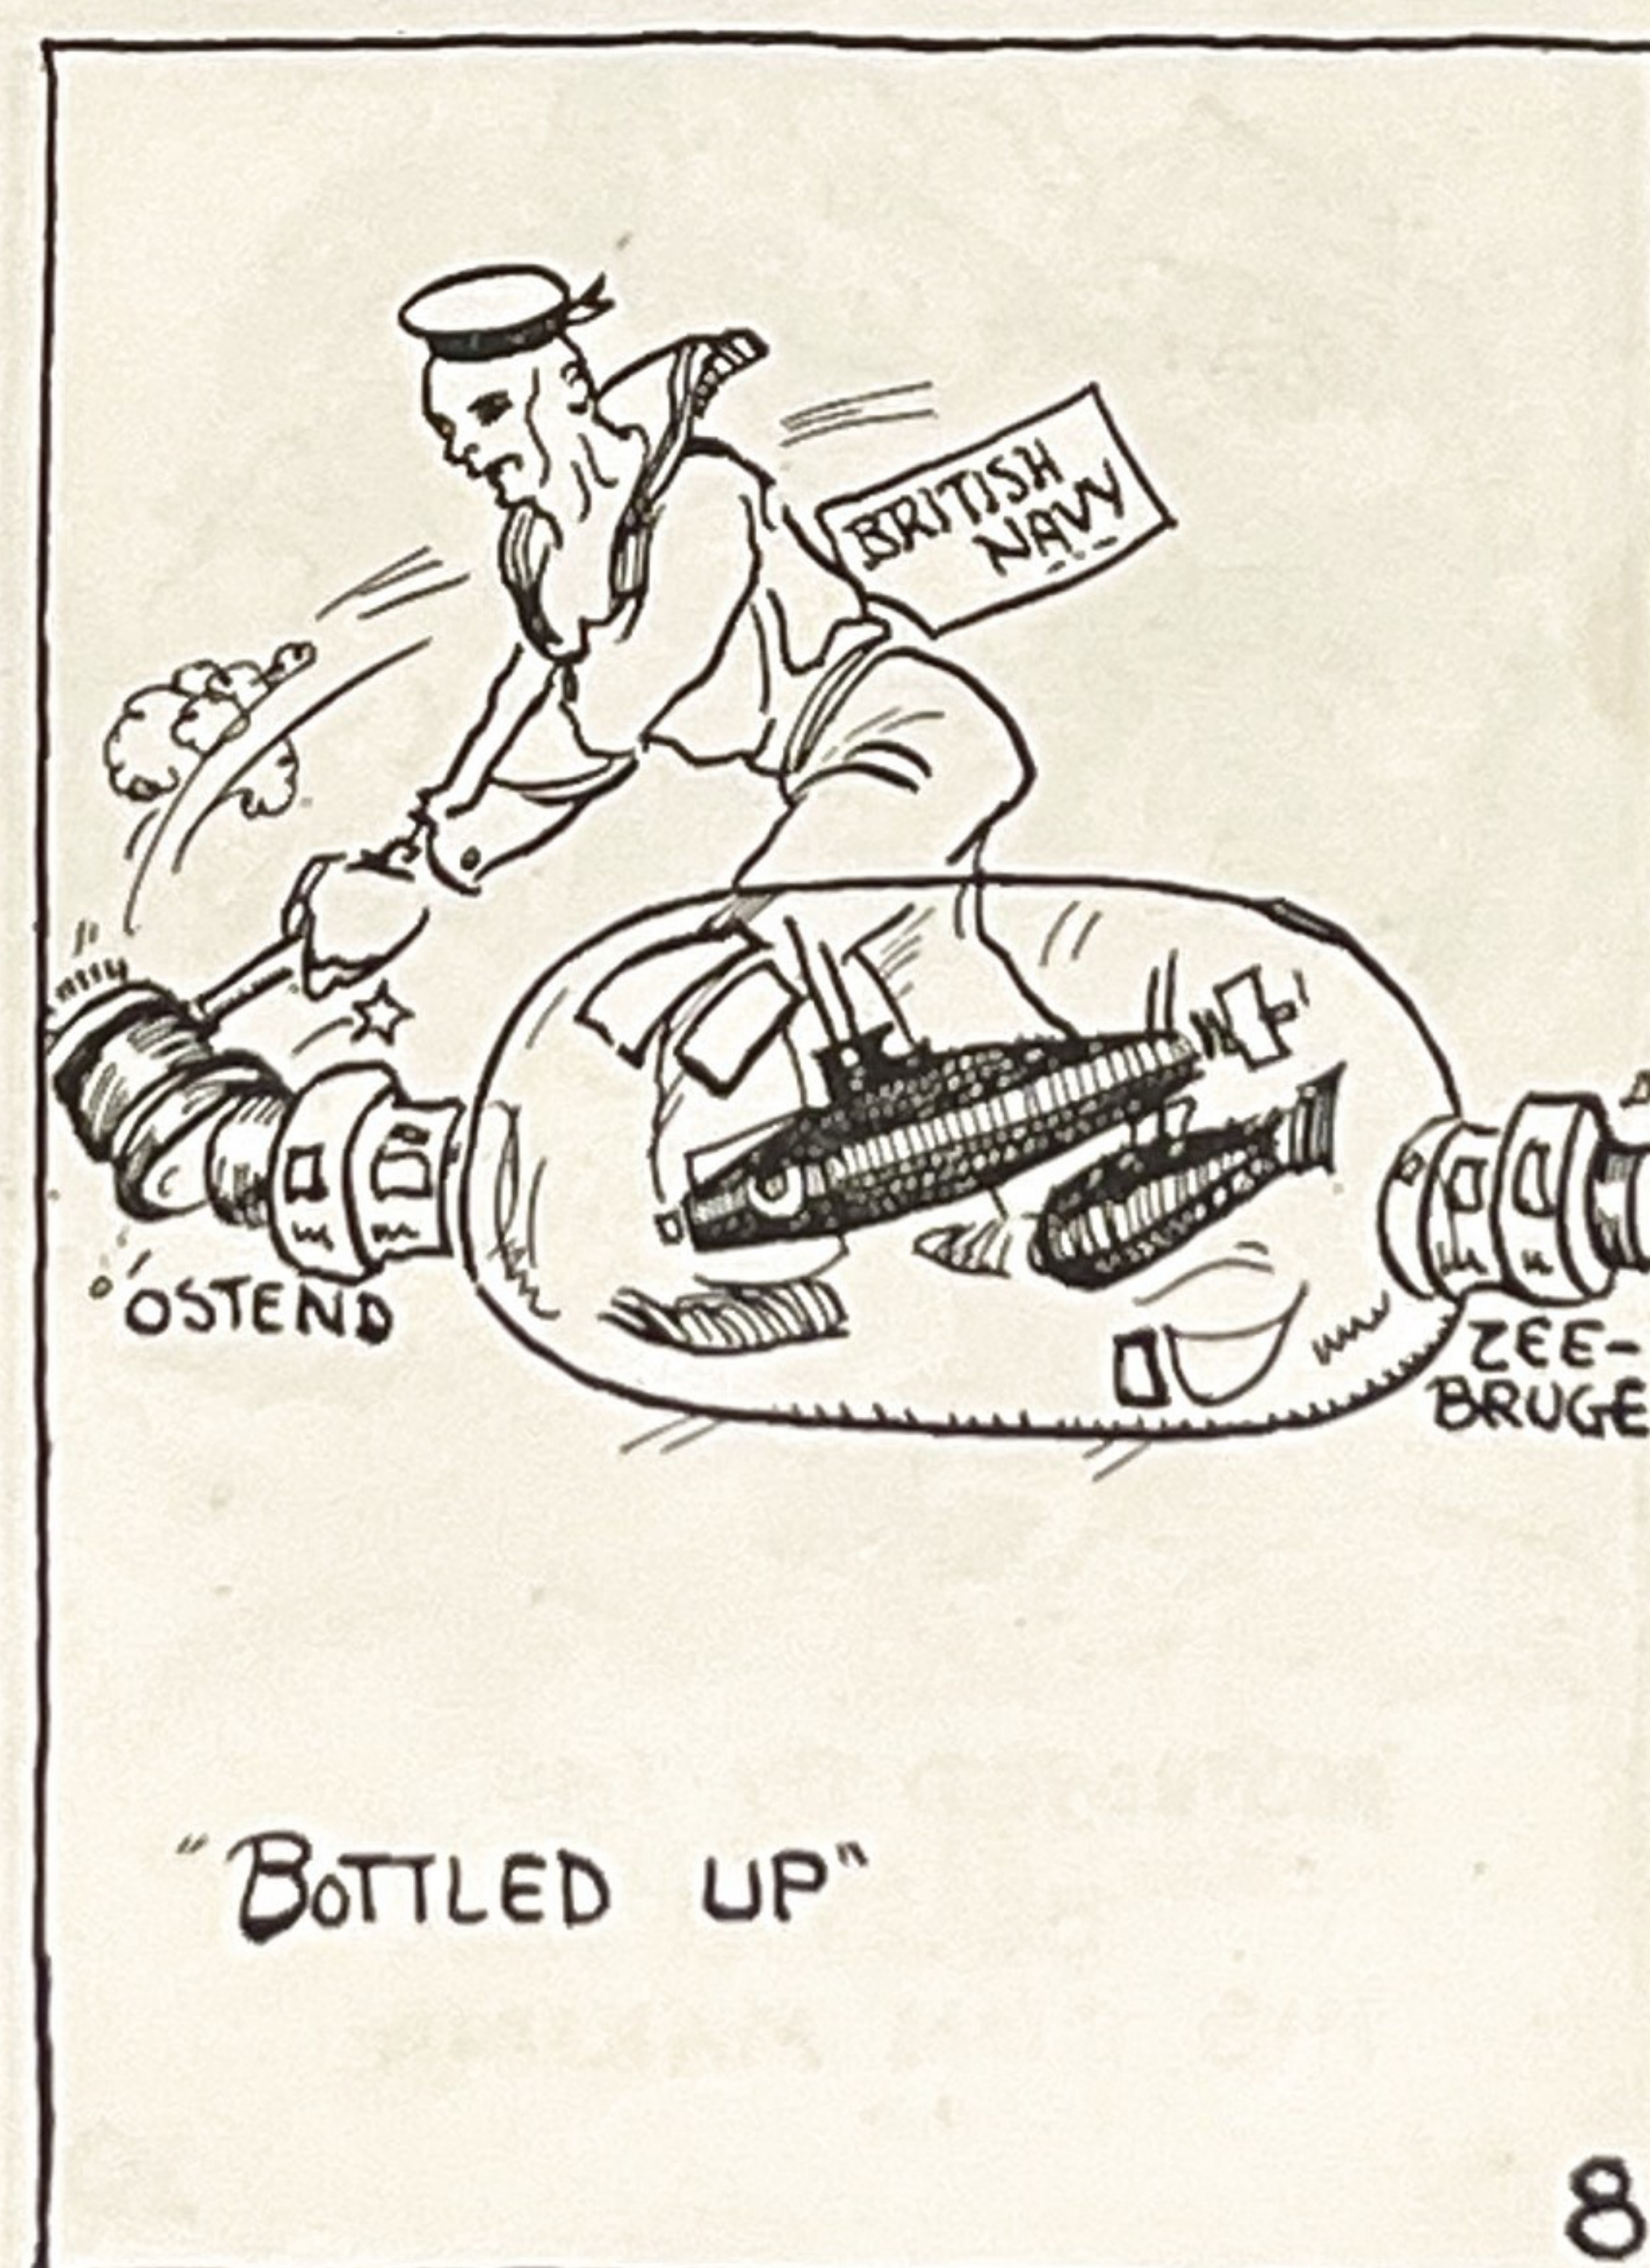

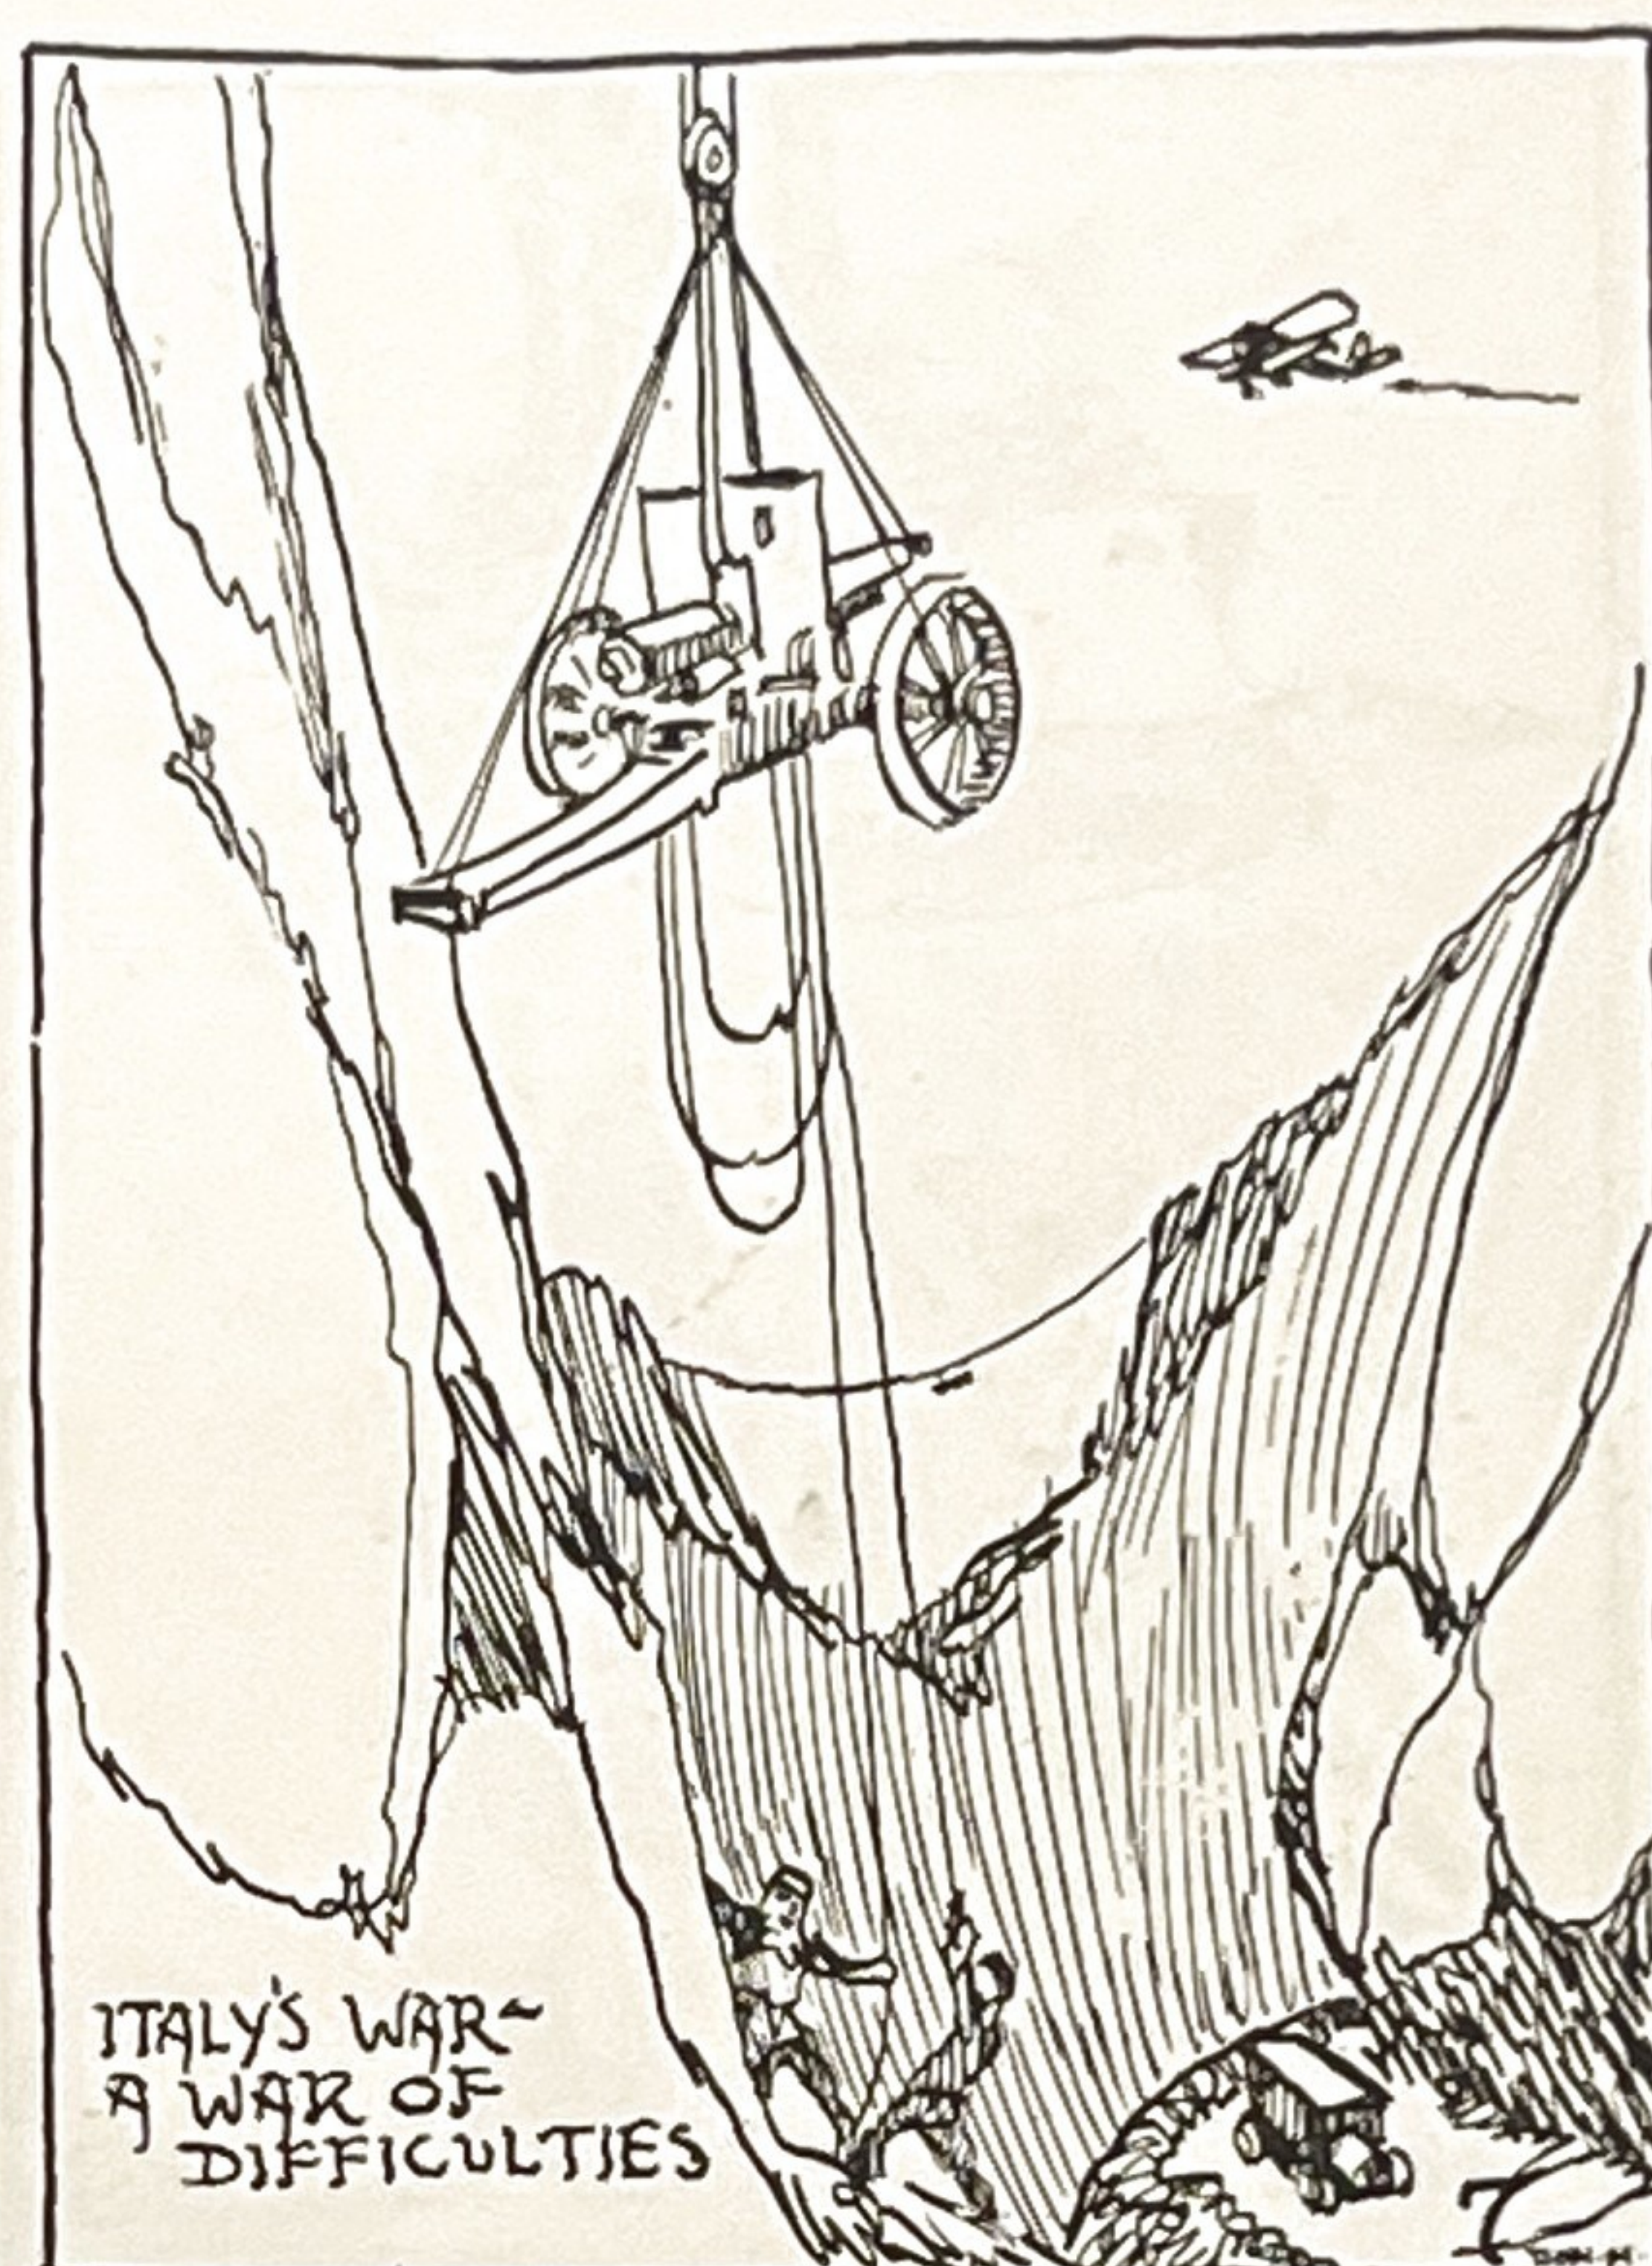

The illustration is a dense, chaotic collection of hand-drawn sketches representing elements of warfare. At the top center, a skull is depicted with mechanical gears and pipes emerging from its base. Below it, there are several tanks, some with tracks and others more compact. Various types of firearms, including rifles, machine guns, and pistols, are scattered throughout. Explosive devices like bombs and grenades are shown, some with lit fuses. A large, multi-barreled gun or mortar is prominent on the right side. In the lower left, there's a depiction of a soldier or figure lying down, possibly injured or dead. The entire scene is framed by a decorative border consisting of swirling lines and small circular motifs at the corners.

The illustration includes tanks, airplanes, soldiers, guns, bombs, and other military equipment, all rendered in a stylized, hand-drawn manner. The scene is framed by a decorative border that resembles a torn piece of paper or a banner. The overall composition is dense and chaotic, reflecting the theme of war.

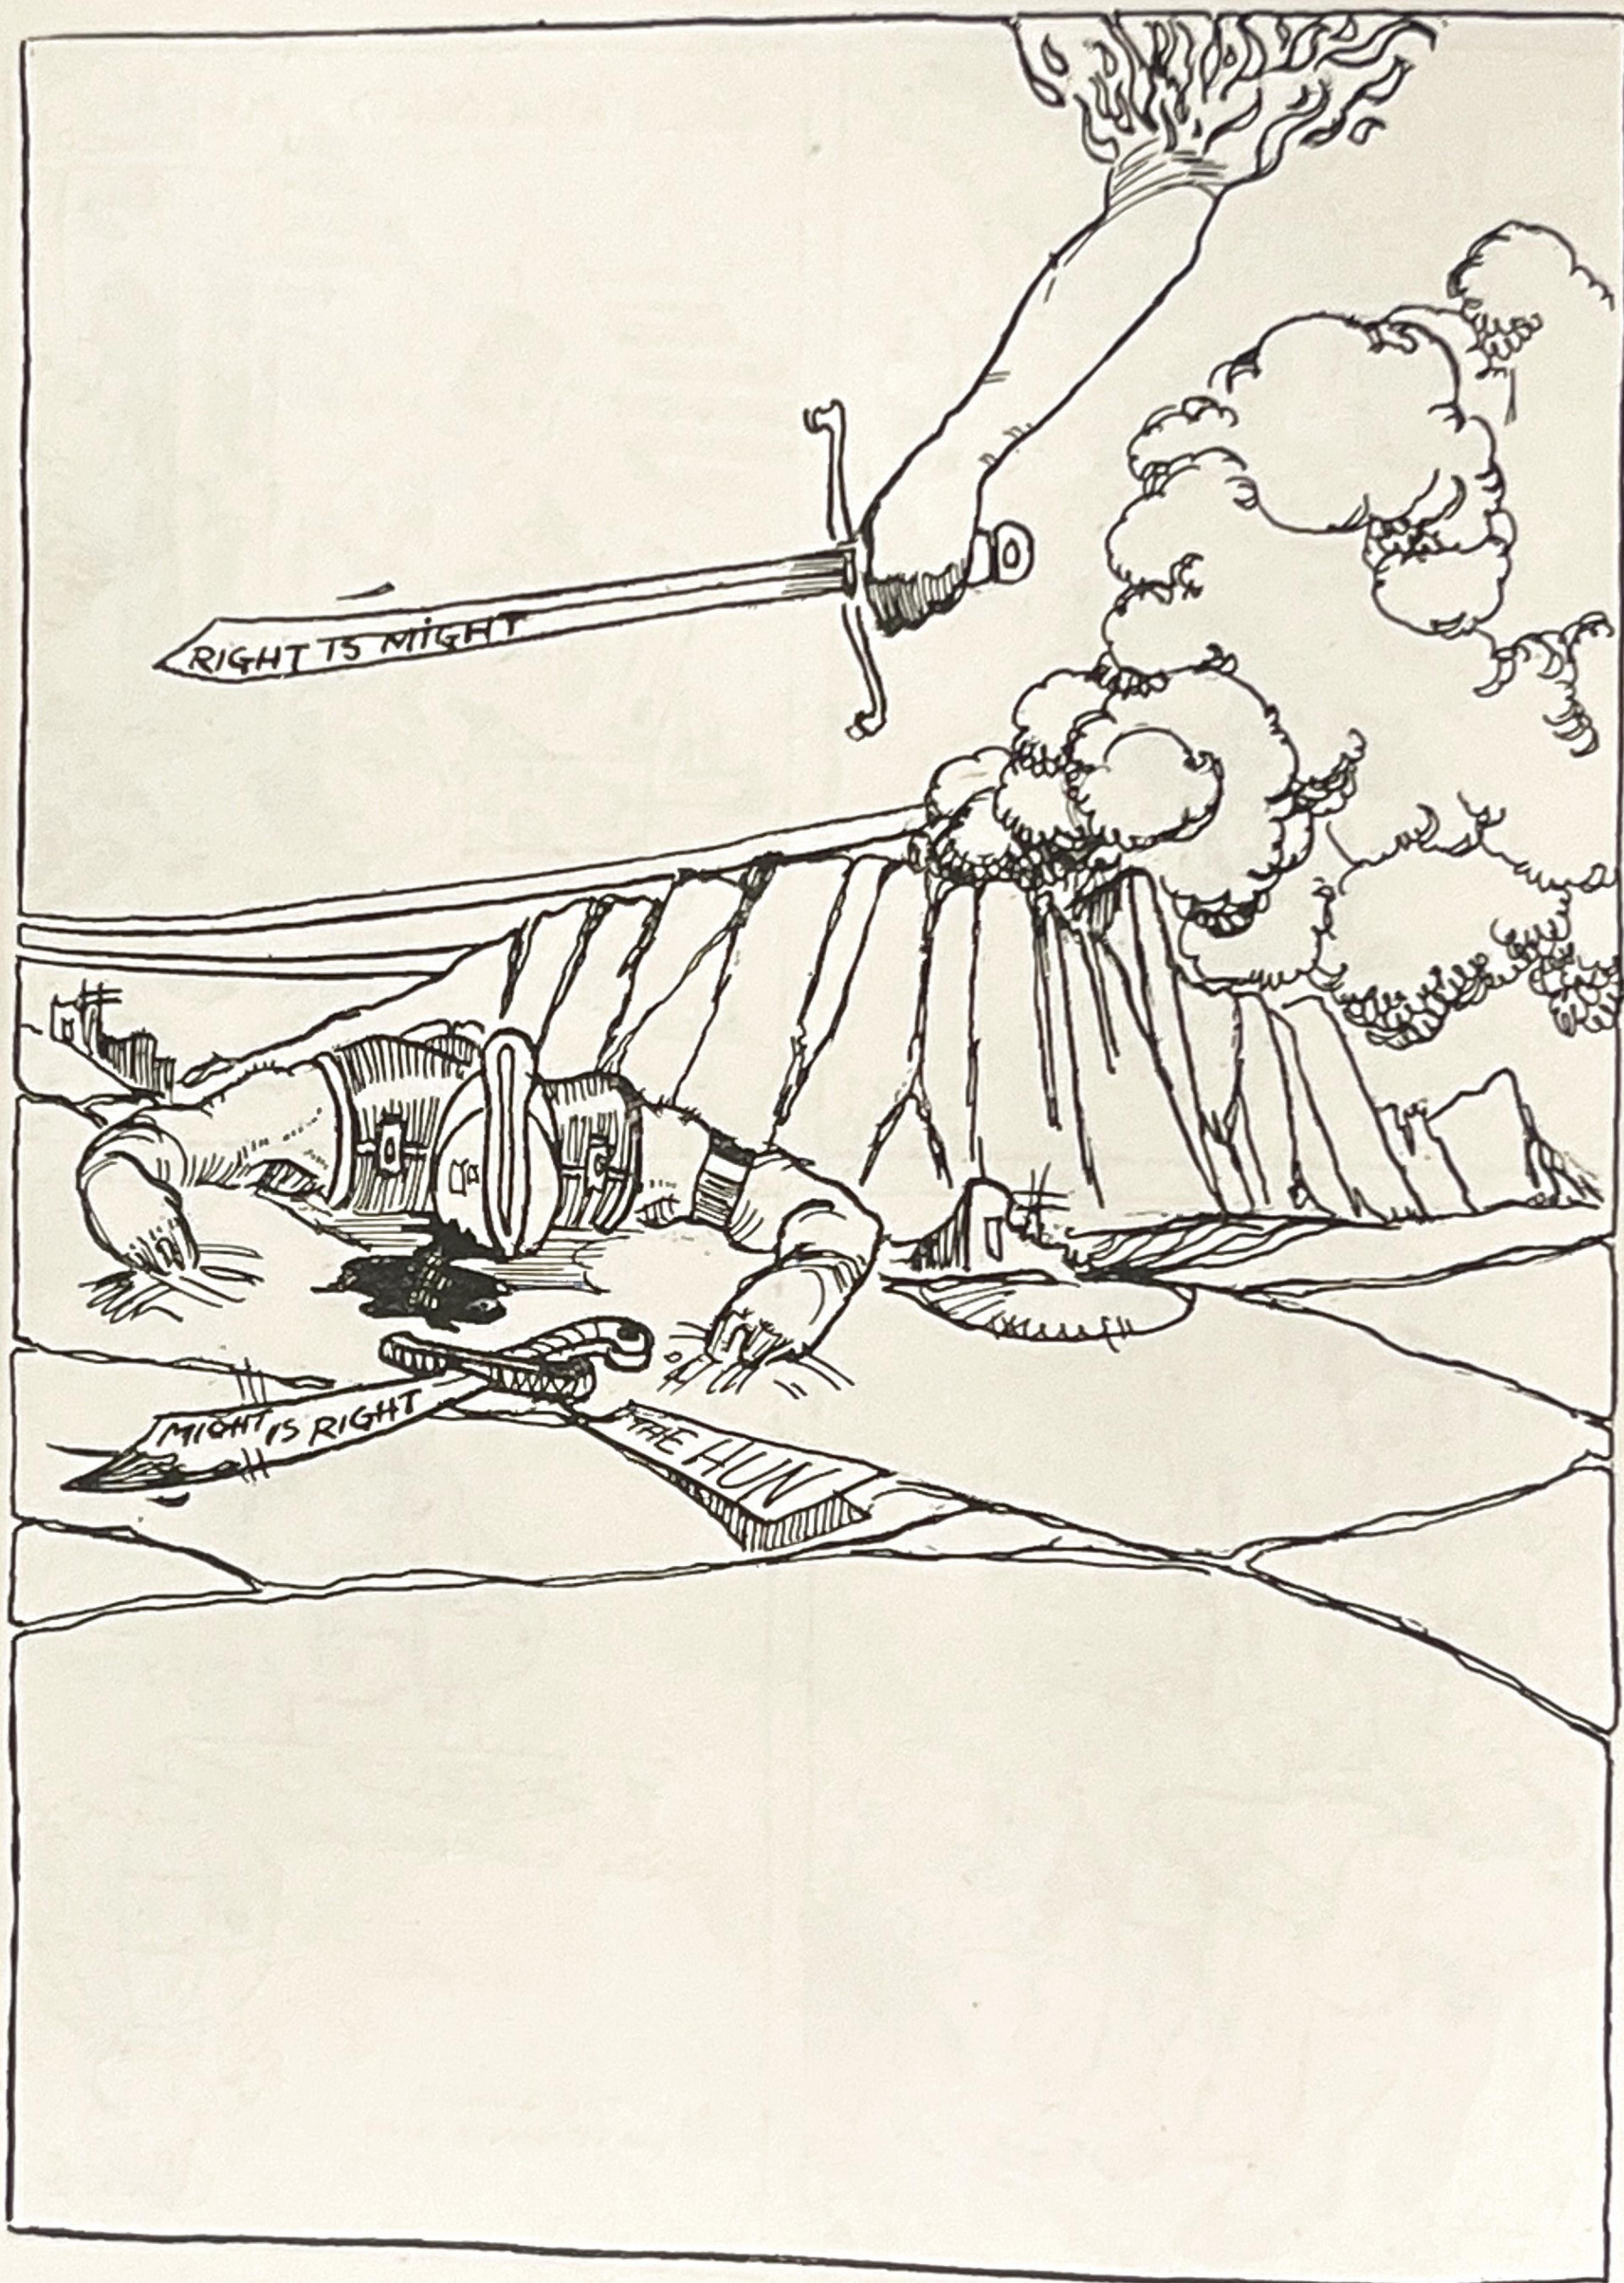

A Review of School Interests 1918-1919

No nation can be great unless its sons and daughters have in them the quality to rise level to the deeds of heroic days. Yet this heroic quality is but the apex of a pyramid of which the broad foundations must solidly rest on the performance of duties so ordinary that to impatient minds they seem commonplace.

Theodore Roosevelt

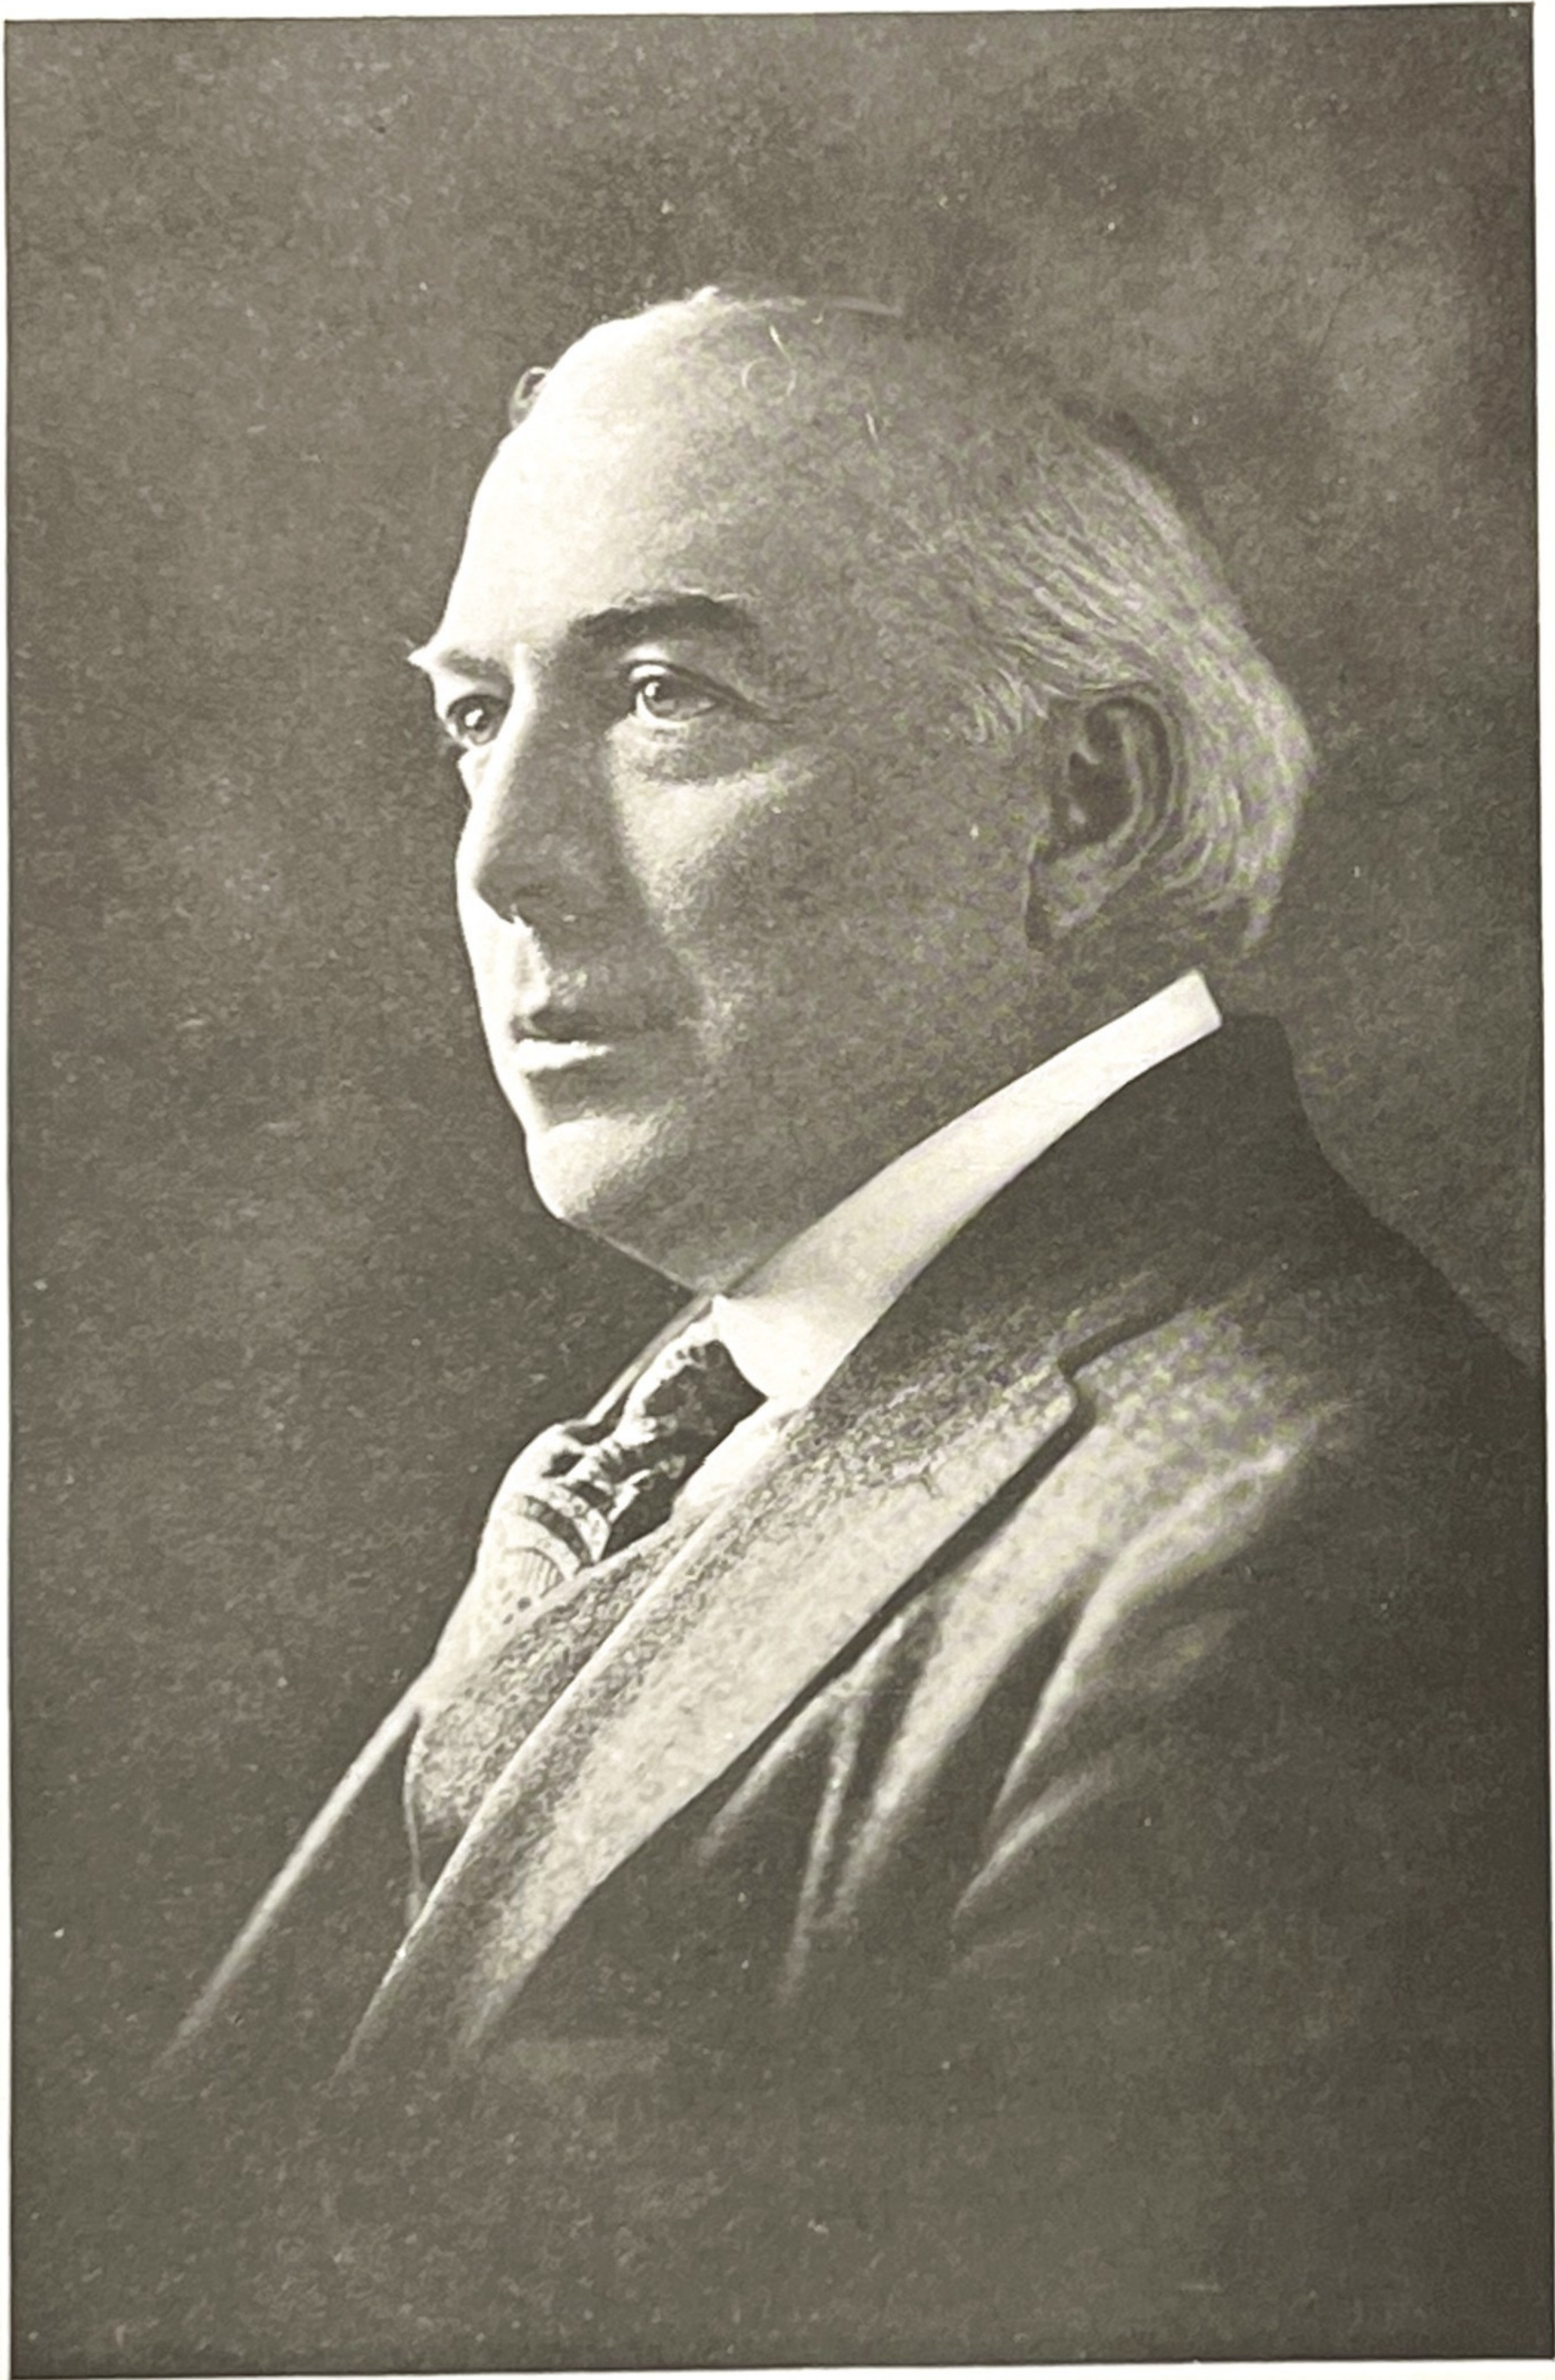

Foreword

Probably no period in the world's history has equalled the past four years in glorifying service for others. Had not millions of men and women held no sacrifice too great that others might be free, it seems likely that much that the experience and labor of centuries have wrought would have been lost. The world is better, the lives of all of us are richer, and our ideals loftier because there was a Princess Pat regiment, an Albert of Belgium, and a Chateau-Thierry.

But throughout these years of self-sacrifice the world has learned a great practical lesson—that the noblest efforts are likely to be wasted if men are not prepared for the work at hand.

The pages which follow are devoted to the school "interests." I wish I had the time and the opportunity to tell you again how important I believe these can be made in teaching some of the most valuable lessons we learn here at Central. I envy the boys and girls who carry on this work for the school. Theirs is the thrill that comes from service for others—theirs the opportunity for greater efficiency in handling the bigger things of the future.

The Brecky

BECAUSE the war has been so important a factor in determining our preparation for future citizenship, a review of the most prominent events of the World War has been made the special feature of the 1919 Year Book. This idea is mainly carried out in the pages of cartoons and in the prose review. These cartoons, drawn by one of the school artists, are an entirely new feature and are the first realization of a long-felt want for something of the kind. The prose review should be of historical value in addition to its excellent literary quality.

The school section of the BRECKY is again introduced by Mr. Wilson's Foreword. Mr. Wilson's enforced absence, owing to a serious illness, has been keenly felt by all, and, that we may in some measure show our appreciation of all that he has done for us, we have dedicated the 1919 BRECKY to our much-loved Principal.

The difficulties attending the publication of this year's BRECKY have been many and various. Because of the greatly increased price of paper and labor, it was for a time deemed inadvisable to publish a Year Book of any kind whatsoever. One of the most serious obstacles was the hundred-percent increase in the cost of the photographs.

The Senior classes, however, desirous of preserving intact the long line of Central publications, and of taking with them this record of their high-school life, pledged their financial support to a BRECKY costing not more than four dollars a copy. But even at the advanced cost some reduction in the number of pages in the first sections of the book was necessary in order to provide space for the greater number of biographies in this year's classes, without increasing the total number of pages. This was done, not by cutting out any important feature, but by condensing, by reducing the size of some of the half-tones, and by substituting photographs of senior company officers in place of company pictures, which are never very satisfactory owing to the limited space that can be allowed for them.

This is the second time in the history of the school that the BRECKY has been printed in our Print Shop. For the 1917 BRECKY, however, only the type was set, the completed issue being made by a photographic process. Hence the 1919 BRECKY is the first Year Book that is really the output of our own establishment. We ought to be very proud of the fact that our shop is able to handle a book of this character.

With this brief explanation of some of the conditions surrounding the publication of the 1919 BRECKY, the staff submits the result of its labors, confident that the book will hold its own among the Central High School Year Books, and that the classes will feel that its new features and the quality of the workmanship more than counterbalance the changes made for economic reasons.

Review and Bulletin Staffs

The Review

THE twenty-third volume of the Review will be finished this June. It is with rather mixed feelings that we of the staff regard the completion of our work. We are glad that our task has been brought to a successful close; yet we leave the familiar and enjoyable work with a certain reluctance.

It is true that a large amount of labor is connected with the publication of the Review; but there is also the pleasure of creating. The staff has done its share well and ably, and the editor wishes to thank them here for the support he has received from them. The business and publishing end of the Review is rarely mentioned. The Print Shop, under the leadership of Mr. Lawrence, has certainly labored hard and faithfully to get the magazine out. The business staff, under the direction of Mr. Miller as adviser, and William Hipkins as Business Manager, has done very able work indeed, first in procuring the advertisements, and then in managing the commercial end of the enterprise in such a way as to make the Review a financial success.

The Review staff, also, takes this opportunity to express its appreciation of Miss Murray's leadership, and to thank the whole school, and particularly the Senior class, for the backing which the Review has received from the students.

The year has drawn to a close. Next autumn a new staff will occupy the Review office, and a new staff will be taking up the work which we are just laying down. To them we give our best wishes for success.

JAMES ALFRED LEROY.

The Central Bulletin

UNDER the able and helpful direction of Miss Murray, and with the earnest support of the whole school, The Central Bulletin has come successfully through its second year of existence.

On account of the delay due to the influenza, the first issue of the Bulletin did not appear until December 13, 1918. It was decided to dedicate the issue of February 12, 1919, to the February graduates, and, in order to do them greater honor, the size of the paper was just doubled. After that issue, the former size then looked so very insignificant, that it was decided to continue with the large size.

The increase in size meant an increase in the work, which has been faithfully and loyally shared by Ruth Kotinsky and Ruth Baker, the Associate Editors. "Don't You Love It?" is Miss Kotinsky's own, and with Frank Sartwell she originated and has edited the "See and Say" columns. Miss Baker has fearlessly steered the Hall of Fame along its tortuous way of modest objections. Roscoe Conklin has always been on the job with his breezy sport news, and when Jimmie Berryman gets to be a great cartoonist, like his daddy, we can say, "We started him!" The reporters, whose number has been steadily increasing, have proved themselves invaluable, even if some of them do have diabolical handwriting. Mr. Miller, with William Hipkins and Earl Hillman, and their assistants, have ably superintended the business and circulation end of the paper.

We have written and typed and reported and edited and proofread and rushed and hurried and worried far into the night and early in the morning, but how we have enjoyed it! The experience has been a happy one, but there are no regrets as we leave the little paper in the hands of its next editor, to whom we extend the heartiest good wishes.

LOUISE ESPEY.

Dramatics

THE Dramatic Association, one of the most cherished of Central's institutions, is closing a year of accomplishment. We have studied to portray life and to portray it not merely for theatrical effect. An old Centralite, when speaking to us this winter, said that he had discovered in army life that the drama is the meeting ground of two great impulses which actuate human life: the impulse of work and the impulse of play.

We have all experienced this year the fun of working at a play. So much enthusiastic work has been done on scenes that our honor-roll this year bears the name of nearly every member.

Sorrow, as well as joy, has come to us for one of our dearest associates, David Hanway, died in the autumn. He played the role of "Percy" in "Captain Lettablair" and was beloved as a member of our organization.

On class night in February, "The Importance of Being Earnest" was presented by members of the Dramatic Association for the Senior class. Madeline O'Brien and Hugh Montgomery won great praise by their skillful portrayal of the leading roles, and they were excellently supported by the other members of the cast.

In March a short program was given in chapel. "The Courtship of Henry V and Katherine" was presented by Marion Trabue, Mary Vaccaro and Edwin Trusheim; Hamlet's Address to the Players by Francis Thorne; and a recitation by Mary Barr.

"Quality Street," Barrie's charming comedy, has been chosen for our spring play. Marion Trabue and Hugh Montgomery will appear, supported by the faithful "players" of the Dramatic Association.

Debate

THE year 1918-19 has been one of real achievement and success for the Central Debating Society. This has been due in large measure to the enthusiasm and spirit which have been shown by every member of the society.

The Senior-Junior debate took place in January. At this time the Senior team, which was composed of Robert Howard, James LeRoy, and Mary Brown, and which argued the affirmative side of the question, Resolved: That the government should own and operate the railroads of the United States, defeated the Juniors, Messrs. Temin, Saltzman, and Thomas, thereby placing the Seniors back in the position which was won from them in 1916.

The biggest event of the year will be the debate on the League of Nations. Miss Brown and the Messrs. LeRoy, Wheeler, and Thomas have been selected for the teams. As this debate will not be held until May, it is impossible to announce the result, but both teams are working hard under the instruction of Mr. Noyes and Miss Botkin, and the debate is certain to be a success.

To Mr. Noyes, our coach, who has been our "bright star to guide us," we wish to express our profound appreciation for all that he has done and is doing to make Central's debating teams victorious.

MARY A. BROWN.

Bank Officers

The Bank

OUR school Bank started when the new school opened, and, although it is very young, success has marked all of its undertakings. We have sold Liberty Bonds of the first, second, third, fourth, and fifth issues, but because of the influenza epidemic, school was closed during the fourth Liberty Loan campaign and prevented us from making our usual drive. This, however, did not deter some of our patrons, who sent their subscriptions to the bank through the mail, thus enabling us to sell about $8,000 worth of this issue.

The Bank has sold about $11,000 worth of War Savings Stamps and during the United War Work Campaign was the medium through which the pupils and the members of the faculty made their subscriptions.

In normal times our bank force intends to extend its efforts in getting more subscribers.

The Bank now handles the money of the various activities of the school, such as the Lunch Room and the Athletic Association. It has also been able to accommodate the teachers by cashing their checks and making drafts for them.

Notwithstanding the fact that at the beginning of the year, because of the constant changes, due to the abnormal times, the force labored under difficulties, they stuck to their task and showed the spirit of true Centralites by doing their duty well.

WITH fine material and the coaching of Mr. Metzler, the football team was rounded into shape, after being interrupted by the influenza epidemic. Although the team was generally young, they had plenty of the necessary pep and vigor to make another championship team for Central. Under the leadership of our captain and mainstay, Carl Cullen, the above team started their three-game schedule with the Baltimore City College. Although this was our first game, the team proved its worth, when the final score made us winner, 13-6. Our next game was with the rivals of the City College team—namely, the Baltimore Polytechnical Institute team, which proved very weak under the onslaught of our backfield. The game was one goal after another for our team and we won, 70-0.

After numerous requests on our part, Western High School, the only other high school that had a team in this city, decided to play us. The game was full of thrills and a great deal of school spirit and enthusiasm was shown by the rooters on both sides. It was an evenly played game, but our boys showed the effect of good training in numerous trick plays. The ball switched back and forth from one end of the field to the other, until we finally got two touchdowns to their one. Thus we won the high school championship of Washington.

Though our schedule was very short, we gained one advantage and that is the training the team got, as the majority of the players will return to school next year.

The season ended very successfully with a splendid dinner and dance, which the whole team enjoyed immensely.

ROBERT R. McLACHLAN, Manager.

The Track Team

Track

ALBERT E. CONRADIS Captain.

THE Track Team has been handicapped by the loss of several promising runners, Holden and Coville among them, and also by the scarcity of experienced ones. It began training this year with only three "C" men—namely, Montgomery, Johnston, and Conradis (captain), but Mr. Foley has developed several runners of marked ability, and they have added considerable strength to the team.

Our season opened in a very encouraging manner by the winning of the scholastic point honors in the Second Regiment Indoor Games, with a score of eleven points. Montgomery won the 880-yard run; Johnston won second place in the 100-yard dash; Conradis placed second in the 440-yard dash. S. Johnson, A. Walker, W. Kern and Edwards did exceptionally well in their events. This victory was very gratifying to Mr. Foley and very encouraging to the team.

It has been decided not to send a relay team to the University of Pennsylvania Relay Carnival this year. With Holden and Coville here to complete the relay there would have been a very fine chance of winning the High School Relay Championship of America and four gold watches this year. Several men will probably take part in the seventeen-year-old championships in Philadelphia on the 3rd of May. On the 10th of May comes our own big meet.

Probably the announcement that this school has made arrangements to hold a track meet of its very own has done more to revive the somewhat waning interest in track athletics than any other measure could have done. To hold a big annual meet in our stadium has been the hope of Mr. Wilson ever since the new school was built.

Mr. Maurer, Mr. Thomas and Mr. Kimble have worked hard to make this meet a success and deserve great credit for their efforts. Parker, Bridget & Company have very generously donated a fifteen-inch silver loving cup, which is to be given to the school that scores the highest number of points. The school that wins this cup three times obtains permanent possession of it. It is hardly necessary to remark that the team is going after that cup, and going after it hard! We realize that we are honored by being the first Central High team to participate in its own meet, and we hope to do justice to ourselves, to the school, and to the teams that have gone before us.

Great credit is due Mr. Foley for so ably developing this team. Whatever success the team has achieved is mostly due to his capable guidance. Manager Edward Murphy and Assistant Manager Charles Jones have done their share faithfully and well. In addition the whole team is to be congratulated on the splendid spirit it has shown. It has trained hard and has given its best efforts to Mr. Foley and to the school.

ALBERT E. CONRADIS, Captain.

Boys' Basketball

ROSCOE CONKLIN Manager.
 FRANK FOSTER Captain.

DESPITE the fact that Central's 1918-19 basketball team started the season with but two letter men, the team that finished the season was one of the strongest in the history of the school. It is true that the team did not win any championships, but this was due mainly to the late start of basketball at Central. The other high schools, with the single exception of Western, had a month's start on Central, and when our team was in the rude stages of a beginning the others had reached a highly perfected stage.

The fellows realized the handicap under which they were working and set to work with a vim. Soon Coach Metzler had a fairly well rounded-out team, and victories began to come our way.

Business won the high school championship, and Central was tied with Tech for second place. Eastern and Western finished in the order named. Included in the list of victories are games with Tome, Baltimore Poly, Baltimore City, Shenandoah Valley, and numerous other strong high and preparatory schools.

A review of the basketball season would not be complete without saying a word about the support given the team by the school and the loyalty of the members of the team. The season was full of ups and downs, but not once did the school fall down in its support of the team, and in return for this support the team gave all they had in the way of good, clean fighting.

The following men were awarded the "C": Captain Foster, Manager Conklin, Dasher, Mills, Williams, Lemon, Wood, Newby, Montgomery and Cullen. Newby and Mills are tied for captain, and Terrell was elected manager for next year.

ROSCOE CONKLIN, Manager.

 ELIZABETH RUPPERT Captain.

BEGINNING our basketball career in our Freshman year with fine success, we have so continued until now as Seniors we are the champions.

In those Freshman days, four long years ago, in spite of the fact that the armory in the old school, then used as a gymnasium, was of a grotesque character, about eighty-five girls came out. They were very enthusiastic and did fine work.

The new school with the splendidly equipped gymnasium gave us great opportunities to develop in our Sophomore year. In 1917, we won the championship, having defeated both the Seniors and Juniors.

The Junior year began with fifty basketball athletes. Teams were formed and many interesting games took place. That we were not successful in obtaining victories, was due mostly to the loss of three of our best players, who were out because of scholastic standing. This handicapped us greatly, but we had many close and exciting games.

In our fourth and last year, after having Miss Sanders as our efficient coach from the Freshman year, we were greatly disappointed when we found that she was not to return. It was not long, however, before we became acquainted with our new coach, Miss Stockett, who deserves great credit for making our Senior year the most successful of all. Four Senior teams came out this year from which nine girls have won the "C." Through hard competition we won the championship again this year with the following Senior team:

Elizabeth Ruppert (Captain)	Forward
Eleanor Call	Forward
Marguerite Joyce	Center
Bernice Veley	Side Center
Dorothy Dodson	Guard
Frances DeGrange	Guard

Substitutes: Marjorie Wooden, Frances Axtell, Marion Barker.

Boys' Tennis

CHARLES COOK Manager.
 B. FRANCIS PRICE Captain.

ALTHOUGH the tennis season has not yet begun, judging from the known material at hand the team this year will perform as creditably, if not more so, than those of previous years. We have Paul Conklin, District boys' single and doubles champion in 1917; Hal Fowler, District boys' champion in 1918; A. Knapp, runner-up in the District boys' singles and doubles tournament in 1917; Ed Beale, a member of the Takoma Tennis Club team; Ralph Aten, a member of the Central team for the last two years; Bob Newby, a Euclid Tennis Club player; Williams, of the Argyle Tennis Club, and Price, District junior doubles champion, 1917 and 1918, and interscholastic champion in singles and doubles in 1918. Other players who will probably show up well are Dudley, Dick Newby, Dodge and Whaley.

The Spring Tournament has not yet begun, but fifty boys have entered and as a cup will be presented to the winner, the interest is keen.

The team is fortunate in procuring as coach Cecil Dowd, captain of the Racquet Club team. It was through the efforts of Mr. Dowd that the Racquet Club courts were obtained for the Spring Tournament.

Charles Cook, the very capable manager of the team, is trying to obtain matches with Tome, Friends, Baltimore City College, Baltimore Poly and Philadelphia Central High. In addition to these will be played the usual Washington high school matches.

The tennis teams of previous years never once met defeat, and the team this year hopes and expects to equal their record.

B. FRANCIS PRICE, Captain.

Girls' Tennis

DURING our four years at Central, the girls' tennis interest has grown apace. The lack of equipment at the old school was, of course, a serious handicap, but since we have been in proud possession of our beautiful school on the hill, more and more interest has been evinced in this out-door sport, and this, the last year of our high school life, has been a crowning triumph.

It has been our custom for some time to hold two tournaments during the year—singles in the fall, and doubles in the spring. We were unfortunate this year in that an unforeseen holiday prevented our first one; but we more than made up for the omission in the spring.

Early in the season, those who wanted to play were enrolled, and the list of names was so long that we were allowed the use of the Wardman Courts four days of the week in addition to our own. This arrangement enabled us to use the outside courts exclusively for tournament matches, leaving ours for practice and teaching. Many eager beginners were given a start in the game on their own especial day by experienced players who volunteered their services. The four other days in the week were assigned respectively to the four classes.

Our stars found an outlet for their ability in the two tournaments and on the year teams. These last were instituted this year, but were such a successful experiment that we hope the precedent will be followed in the future.

We who are leaving, do so, happy in the memory of a successful year and confident that those we leave behind us will continue to pile up achievement on achievement in the old, true Central way.

Boys' Swimming

JOHN C. SPURR Captain.
 GUMERCINDO GAMA Manager.

THE swimming team has had excellent support this year, and great energy and school spirit have been shown by the squad. For various reasons, among them the lack of sufficient funds, the team has been unable to participate in a large number of meets, making only one important trip, namely, to Baltimore. The lack of outside competition, however, was amply made up by a series of enthusiastic inter-class meets. The "C" men were not allowed to compete in these meets, thereby encouraging the average swimmer to take part in them. The Juniors won, and new material for next year's team was found in such boys as Flynn, Franks, Pils, and Lutz.

On the twenty-ninth of March, the swimming team went to the Interscholastic Championship Meet held under the auspices of the Baltimore Athletic Club. They practically swept everything before them, and brought home the cup and eleven medals. The points made were as follows: Jack Spurr, 10; Dick Newby, 10; Dickey, 9; Buhrer, 5; Mangan, McKenney, and Morrell, one point each. The first four on the list won the relay, just missing the record by one second.

Meets have been regularly scheduled with McKinley M. T. S., but they have been called off by McKinley for one reason or another. A meet is scheduled now, and one with the Y. M. C. A. and other teams. So there is a good chance of the team becoming well and favorably known in this section of the country.

Captain Spurr has tried to make swimming a popular sport this year, and events have shown that there has been a marked improvement in the size of the squad and in the interest taken by the student body. His hope is that it will become one of the most popular sports in school.

JOHN C. SPURR, Captain.

Girls' Swimming

 ELIZABETH CONE Captain.

THIS year of 1918-19 has been very successful in fulfilling the purpose of the swimming equipment—to teach the pupils to swim. The leaders have worked hard, and the girls have had confidence in their instructors, which has enabled the work of teaching to progress rapidly. Miss Moody has organized the Leaders' Corps of 1918-19, and their efficient work has been, in a large measure, due to her excellent supervision, instruction and advice.

In an interclass meet, held in March for the leaders, Elizabeth Cone, the captain of the team; Jacqueline French, Adelaide Conard, Dorothy Conard, Charlotte Conard, Marjorie Colcord and Marguerite Heath won their "Cs."

A series of interclass meets was held, and although "Cs" are not awarded to girls who have not attained leadership, the girls showed fine spirit in participating.

We hope that in future years there will be as much accomplished by each successive class as has been done this year.

Baseball

J. HILTON DONNELLY Manager.
 CARL E. SCHAFER Captain.

THE season of 1919 has started with the same outlook it has had in the past three years, of a championship that will never be forgotten in the history of the other schools. We have six "C" men left from last year. They are a record-breaking bunch—Schafer, pitcher; Russell, catcher; Dasher, shortstop; McKimmie, third base; Wood, left field, and Ballinger, right field.

We have won six games without a loss. Georgetown Prep came our way with the score 13 to 1; also Maryland State Freshman, with the scores 4 to 2 and 6 to 5. Central and Briarly Hall gave an exhibition at Bruce diamond that could hardly be called good professional ball for the opponents. The Central lads outplayed the military lads by 27 to 0. McKimmie, Ballinger, Russell, Schafer, Cummings, Lemon and Wood did good work at bat, each getting long hits. Schafer, the captain, has pitched the real article of ball. He has been and always will be backed by these record-breaking men. The players have played good, snappy ball since the beginning of the season and have worked together.

With the aid of a coach like Coach C. A. Metzler, they go in with the spirit of the old school, which is to win, and let the result be what it may, we can all look back with pride at our 1919 team. It is plugging along with that peppy spirit for which Central has ever been noted, and it is improving wonderfully with each game. Central, with this crowd of record-breakers, should put the championship in the highest point of the history of the school.

suddenly burst with a loud report. Revolutionists seized the navy, and there were sputters of revolt over the whole country. The kaiser abdicated, and, in November, the armistice was signed.

It was then that gaily-dressed Alsatians lined their streets with flag, as the victorious armies passed through; the Belgians knelt and kissed the soil of their reconquered country; Paris was noisy with salvos from cannon, and with shout, and songs; everyone embraced everyone else. Poilus, Yanks, and Tommies banded together, and rushed the theaters one after the other. Clemenceau tried to mingle quietly with the crowd, but he had to seek shelter; Pershing drove through the streets and was widely applauded. The War was over, and the world was once again a decent place to live in.

HAROLD RHAME Manager.
ERIC MCGEE NEWCOMB Captain.

IN THE year 1918, the Central team took second place in the National Gallery Championship Matches, and, with a single exception, won all the D. C. high school matches and honors. At this writing half of the National Gallery Matches of 1919 have been shot, and the Central team is far in the lead for the High School Championship. If our scores continue as in the past, we will have made a record high score for the high school match.

This year there will be only four team matches in the D. C. high schools—school and company matches—both indoor and outdoor. Indoors we may look forward to a hard match at best, while it is still too early to say anything about our hopes outdoors.

Next fall we expect a number of Centralites to attend the National match at Caldwell, New Jersey. As was the case last year, we will shoot as part of the D. C. team, but we may predict that, as previously, our men will stand out for individual honors.

The team: Robert Morris, Thomas Blanton, Armand Morgan, Eric Newcomb, Frank Chestnut, Marcellus Stow, Hugh Everett, Woodruff Youngs, William Fay, John Blanton, Elmer Baxter.

WITH the end of the school year comes also the expiration of the cadet year. By the time this article is published, the results of the year's work will be seen on the Competitive Drill Field. The apparent result, however, does not necessarily give the status of the year's training in comparison with the results of other years. Success is measured as well by the standard of deservedness as by the result on the field, decisive though that be. The Central regiment has been one of which we may well be proud. Although handicapped by the loss of a month during the "flu" epidemic the regiment is up to Central standards and traditions. This handicap has been largely overcome by the hard work of the men. The other cadets in town have been working at the same speed, so whether we win or lose, we have had opponents worthy of our steel.

Western has been grouped with us this year in the First Regiment. It has been a pleasure to be associated with the Western cadets in this manner, and while we want Central to repeat last year's performance, we wish the Western companies all the success possible.

The Senior officers wish to thank the cadets for the splendid support given them, and to wish them success in the future. JAMES ALFRED LEROY, Lieutenant Colonel.

Company Briefs

Throughout the year Co. A has been working to keep the flag at Central, and now as the year is drawing to a close, we feel satisfied that we have done our part, and that whatever our record, it will be worthy of former companies.

F. E. FERGUSON, JR.

With the conviction that there is no such thing as luck, except to be lucky enough to know how to fight, Company B is going into action, as it has gone into action before, prepared to fight like men and win like men or swallow defeat, like men.

EDWARD B. BEALE.

Company C this year has lived up to its tradition and the traditions of the school. It has been a great joy to me to have commanded such a band of fellows as are in it. Whether we win or lose the Competitive Drill, I will always look back with satisfaction on my first command.

WILBUR C. GLOVER.

Although the result of the Competitive Drill is not yet known, Company D has been victorious—victorious because we have accomplished our aim, which was to uphold the traditions of Central. Whatever its future renown may be, its officers leave it more than satisfied with its record.

ROBERT L. FLATHER.

The end has come, and the year has gone but Company E, I hope, will be remembered by us a little longer. We have worked hard throughout the year with the one hope that we could do justice to Central and ourselves. Win or lose, don't forget us.

HARRY M. ROPER.

Company F is striving as one unit to attain excellence. The approach of the competitive drill finds us working with vigorous efforts and an ambition to hold the flag for Central. Win or lose, we shall have added our bit to Central spirit.

Company Briefs

The officers of Company I wish to say a word of thanks for the real support given them by the men. Whatever the result on the Competitive Drill Field, we are proud to have commanded a Central company.

SYLVAN DANZANSKY.

Company G is a thing of beauty and it will be a joy forever in the minds of the officers and all those who have had any connection with the company. The officers want to congratulate every man in the company for the way that they have stuck behind them through thick and thin.

H. J. RUSSELL McNITT.

"Central." With this thought uppermost in our minds, we have worked that Central might always be proud of Company K, 1919. Nothing, not even the loss of ten men during the year, has dimmed our hopes of bringing to "the" school honor and glory.

NORMAN GOLDBERG.

A company should stand for the best—steadiness, dependability, hard, earnest work. We of Company M are proud to say that to the very end we have upheld that standard, and contributed our best to the best of schools.

H. STANLEY STINE.

The Competitive Drill

ARE we down-hearted? No! Tech won the drill, but we came in second, and Business third. Company E, under the able command of Captain Roper, upheld the record it made last year. It missed first place by only six-tenths of one percent. Company E drilled well, and we are proud of it, but the other Central companies made creditable showings also.

On Monday morning, May 19, the school turned out in full force to watch the exhibition drill of six of Central's ten companies, F, D, M, K, E, and I. The program was admirably executed by all the companies. Company D, under Captain Flather, did excellent work, and the blue ribbons proudly worn by the men of Company E speak for themselves. In the afternoon, companies C, G, and B made a fine showing. The cadets were well supported by the school, and all drills were worthily performed.

On Tuesday, Company A was Central's representative on the field. Captain Ferguson and his men won distinction, not only by their excellent work, but also by their soldierly bearing in an unexpected situation. They were called to the judges, not, as they naturally supposed, to receive an award, but to disperse a crowd that had gathered on the field. They bore up admirably under the shock, and acquitted themselves in a manner of which Central should be proud.

The celebration on Tuesday night was in every respect true to Central traditions. It started with the usual hearty cadet supper in the lunch room which was enthusiastically enjoyed. Later a rally was held in the auditorium. Speeches were made by Mr. Maurer, the captains, Major Worth Shoults, former Central captains, and others. Major Shoults announced that a higher standard than ever before had been set this year, evidenced by the fact that the percentage of Company E, with second place, was four points ahead of Captain Stewart's winning company of last year. Good cheer prevailed, the school-yells were uproarious, and to anyone uninitiated in the ways of Central, the occasion might have been easily mistaken for a celebration of a full-fledged victory. Only one thing marred the celebration—the absence of Mr. Wilson.

Next year the colors must be brought back to Central. But as the standard is raised each year, persistent effort and enthusiasm, during the days of hard training throughout the year, are necessary to success.

Cadets, remember Central's motto—"Tenax propositi"

DORIS WOOD.

THE CLASSES

February Class Poem

Central dear, our thoughts are drifting,
Drifting back through bygone years,
To the eager joy of meeting,
 Tinged with fears;
How we came to you in trembling
On that fearful, youthful day,
How we formed, and forming, fashioned
 Wills to stay.

Those were crude and callow years.
How your patience we have tried—
Children still, as fast the problems
 Multiplied;
Soon we knew the joy of comrades,
Friendships formed, and day by day,
Intermingled with our studies
 Songs of play.

Then there came a deepening purpose;
We would know the future's plan,
Though we yet the misty secret
 Could not scan.
For the world in conflagration,
Brought our minds to comprehend;
Ours to be the reconstruction,
 Woes to mend.

Now, dear Central, comes the parting.
Rare days in memory hold their place,
As minds and hearts in new conditions
 Problems face.
We must haste, and hastening waken
All our force for good and right,
Take the torch and pass it onward,
 Freedom's light!

THELMA BRIGGS.

February Class History

NOW that we are ready to leave Central, we stop for a moment to look back. Our first year and a half was spent in the dark, unventilated halls of Old Central. In our first semester we had three sections, and each one of them was a real classroom. In our second and third semesters, owing to the littleness of Miss Griggs's Drawing Room, where one of our sections was located, we spread into four rooms.

In the fall of 1916, we started in at New Central. Of course we were awed by the new building, especially the Lunch Room; but I'll tell you a secret—we are still longing for that dandy little bakery on O Street.

We have now been here two and a half years. Our happiness has been shadowed this year by the death of three of our dearest classmates—Marguerite Pfaff, David Hanway, and Evelyn Millard. Their absence is our one sad thought tonight.

I am afraid that we have never done anything startling for the school. It was a small minority that went out for sports, but that minority has proved itself equal to the greatest. Still we are in many ways a class to be remembered. We are the first February Class to graduate as late as February 13th. We are the first class to give a subscription dance to pay expenses. We are the first class in seventeen years to graduate without the presence of Mr. Wilson, and we are the first class to graduate under Mr. Maurer.

In the cornerstone of this great building are the names of all those who were students at Central in the spring of 1915. As we were then in our first semester, we are the last to leave the school and yet leave our names here forever. May those names act as good spirits and help all present and future students of Central to try to keep alive the spirit of Old Central that we have tried to imbue into the New.

The Youth of America are living in a wonderful age. And there are greater developments coming than any ever witnessed before. But of course opportunity will come to, or be seized by, only those fit to grasp and handle it successfully—that is, those possessing character, caliber, personality.

Albert B. Wiggins.

MARY ANDERSON

Mary has been too bashful to exhibit very many of her abilities, but we have at last discovered that she is a good cook—at least when it comes to making cakes. In the fall she is expecting to go to George Washington, and perhaps we will hear more about her later on. Her ambition is to be a lawyer.

LUCILE DRUMMOND, APPLEBY.

Lucile has been at Central only for a year, but has many friends. She expects to attend college but cannot decide which she prefers. We wish her great success wherever her lot may fall.

FRANCES MARION BEACH

Marion's cheerful and generous disposition are her chief characteristics. Her two ambitions are to go to South America, and to be a private secretary. We hope that she will not succeed in the first.

EDGAR WELLS BECKETT

Edgar has shown himself to be a first class student, a boy who likes hard work and plenty of it. He expects to go to Princeton, where he will undoubtedly reproduce his splendid record here.

WINNIFRED ALICE BOMAR

Class Historian

This jolly-looking girl is just as popular as her smile. She does love the limelight, but is one of the lucky few who can boast of never having skipped a class.

LILLIAN BOWEN

"Sweet," is the nearest thing to a word-description of Lillian, but her friends do not think it sweet of her to graduate before her time. A little girl, with beautiful curls, and such a lovable smile! To know her is to love her.

THELMA BRIGGS

Class Poet

Thelma, the golden-haired girl, is the musician of the class. She has spent a great deal of her time at the piano, when not in school. Next year she is going to North Carolina to continue her study of music.

HARRIETT LENORE BURGESS

Harriett has made a record for tardiness and for marvelous coiffures. We hope that she will succeed in her ambition to participate in a movie—just once!

CORNELIA PHILLIPS CLARKE

"Cornie's" brown eyes and red-gold hair are the delight of artists. She is more energetic than most of us, as she graduates in three and a half years. Her chief ambition is to become a writer. (Snappy Stories?)

CLAIRE CRANMER

She came to us from Western, but is now a true-blue Centralite. Her lively and sunny disposition has made her liked among her friends. But Claire does not neglect her studies for pleasure.

JAMES ALEXANDER DAVIDSON

Aleck's ambition is to be "something," and he has succeeded admirably, for he is a fine fellow and a loyal Centralite. We were glad to have him back after an extended absence in the S. A. T. C.

RUTH WINIFRED DEVOE

Winnie is the tiniest girl in the class. Everyone knows of the wonderful posters which she made for the Red Cross and other benefits. We are all wondering now what her future will be. Will she use her talents as an artist, or will she dance? Time alone will tell.

HENRY KNEFLEY DIERKOPH

Class Treasurer

His ambition is to be an electrical engineer. If we may judge the quality of Henry's future work by his high-school record, success will surely be his. Though quiet and pensive, Henry is possessed of a keen sense of humor known only to his most intimate friends.

HELEN MARGARET DONAHOE

Basketball "C," 1918

Helen is one of the jolliest girls in Central. She is faithful to her school work, and her line of E's for deportment would hang the Kaiser!

RUTH MAYRE FONES

Ruth has been with us for only two and a half years. She hopes to be an excellent typist. As she does everything well, we know that she will succeed.

of Sover

FRANK SINGER FOSTER

Captain of Basketball
Basketball "C," 1918

Frank is a boy full of fine Central spirit and energy, and a great basketball player. He is one who is always ready to help, by doing more than his share. We predict a brilliant future for him.

PAULINE CURRY FRED

Peggy has gone singing and dancing her way through Central, and gathering many friends along the way. Her interpretation of the role of Cecily Cardew, in the class play, was a brilliant success.

MARIAN HELEN GIUSTA

After many years of effort (?) Marian has decided to graduate. This will-o'-the-wisp is loved by everyone, and a certain person in particular, as the fifth-hour civics class will testify. Marian adores—not "Him," but dancing.

HELEN HARDY

Class Secretary

Helen's strong character and generous disposition have won the admiration and love of all. She will enter Normal School with her twin sister. As to matrimony, she will have a hard time deciding between them!

MARGARET HARDY

Even being a twin has not kept Margaret from developing her own sweet personality. She expects to go to Normal School next year, but it has been rumored that she will give up teaching for the domestic life.

EDWIN SAMUEL HARPER

Scholarship

Valedictorian

Quiet, and always willing to help a fellow do a hard problem in Math.—that's Edwin. What a bunch of E's he has to his credit! We are all proud of our valedictorian and wish him as great success in life as he has had while a student at Central.

DOROTHY PATTON HELMICK

Dot is lively and good-natured. She has won the admiration of all who know her. As for her pet ambition—ask Lennie.

MARGARET LOUISE HOOVER

Louise is a quiet, retiring girl, but fun-loving and simply splendid when one penetrates her outer crust. Her greatest ambition is to become another Leginska, or to stand up on ice-skates. "She is herself of best things the collection."

RUTH ALDEN HOWELL

Although Shakespeare advises us not to borrow, we cannot resist the temptation, when the lender is as willing as Ruth. When we forget our carfare or lunch-money, we always go to Pat and find that she will come to our rescue.

AGATHA LEONI HUGHES

"Who is that quiet, studious-looking girl?" you ask. But do not judge by appearances, for when you really know her, you find that she is anything but quiet and very seldom studious!

ROBERT DAVIS JACKSON

Football "C," 1918

Bob is an industrious young fellow, full of good Central spirit. It is hard to say which holds the greater interest for Robert, steam cars or Cicero! Unless he stops grape-vining, we fear for his college career.

MILDRED ESTELLE JONES

Actress! Mathematician! Business woman! Which will she choose? As her motto is, "Never start anything that you can't finish," we know that she is sure to succeed in whatever walk of life she undertakes. Mil herself has proved this.

ELSIE WILHELMINA KAISER

"No relation to William!" Elsie appears to be the personification of meekness, but when you know her, really know her, she is just as lively and keen as the rest of us. She is very studious and aims for high marks.

HARRY KAPLAN

"Small—but oh, my!" We have only known Harry for about a year, but sincerely wish that our acquaintance with him had begun long ago. He is a shark for creating innocent amusement and a mighty good fellow. Good luck to you, Harry!

IRENE GRACE KUEBLER

Irene has gone quietly through Central, bothering little about lessons but devoting most of her time to doing pleasant things for others. In this way she has won many friends and, oh, won't they miss her!

ANNA JANNETTE LACEY

Anna is an ardent admirer of the Irish. "Real" rosy cheeks and a constant smile accompany her. Central will be sorry to lose such a fine girl as Anna.

BLANCHE LUDLOW

If you don't know Blanche, you have really missed something. She is very studious, and can usually be found at the head of her classes. But her studies do not keep her from having a good time.

MARJORIE LUDLOW

For four long-short years, we have studied, and worked, and laughed with Marjorie. Now as we part, with adieus, not good-byes, here's wishing the best of luck to her!

NORA FRANCES MADIGAN

Nora, our fair representative from the Emerald Isle, is always brimming over with fun. In her junior year, Nora discovered that "all work and no play makes Nora a dull girl." However, she does not let her play prevent her from securing a string of E's.

RICHMOND CARSON MORFORD

Born Good Friday, April 13, 1900. This, together with the natural bent in that direction shown in the class play, might seem to indicate a future as a clergyman. But he is interested in machinery and intends to take a course in engineering at George Washington University.

EFFIE SOPHRONIA MORGAN

Effie came to Central from Tech at the beginning of the fourth semester. She says that she has had a very uneventful career. Nevertheless, she has won many admirers, and goes from us a bride-to-be.

LUCILE VIRGINIA MURRAY

Lucile is as chic and dainty as her name implies. Nothing ever ruffles her calm countenance except a red-headed boy, and Latin. The ambition of this little lady is to become an austere Congresswoman!

AARON NIMETZ

This member of our class came to Central from New York, in September of our Senior year. He believed that in order to obtain good results in any undertaking, you must work for them. He therefore worked hard to complete his high school course in less than the prescribed time. His success augurs well for his future.

MADELINE FRANCES O'BRIEN

Class Vice President
Vice President of Athletic Assn.
Captain of Basketball, '17
Basketball "C," 1917-18

Her ambition is to be an actress. She hopes to go to Trinity in the autumn and then—Watch Broadway for her name.

ESSIE LEE PEARSON

It has been shown that brains are not all that Essie Lee has. She has good looks and scores of friends also. But in spite of these, her heart cannot be lured away from the Navy.

ALBERT OGDEN PIERRO

As Ogden has a happy disposition, is very talkative, and is some dancer, he has won the admiration of the fair sex. His ambition is to become a lawyer. If he keeps up his good work in his studies, he is sure to succeed in his chosen profession.

GEORGE LAUDERDALE PLANT
Class President

Hail to the highest! Our class president is a mighty good one. Being a conscientious worker, he is ready to help a classmate in trouble, and is a very congenial and popular fellow. His sincerity is a quality that will bring success in whatever he undertakes.

DOROTHY LIVINGSTON RELF

Dot, who is the best of pals, is always ready for fun or a good time. We cannot understand her ambition to have a "Select Orphan Asylum." Moreover, we are not sure whether her favorite name is Lawrence or Ed!

JAMES SHENOS

Football "C," 1918

Jimmy as a football player has no equal, and when in a studious mood, he is a great scholar! Add to this a spirit unexcelled, and a personality unsurpassed, and you have a combination bound to win success. Here's good luck, Jimmy!

CORINNE FAY SIMPSON

Corinne, so dainty and sweet!
To know her is really a treat!
Her lovely big eyes
Are blue as the skies,
And she always is charming to meet.

EVA DUNNINGTON SMITH

Her tongue has made her famous. She makes us laugh until we cry. Whether she hails from Washington or Bowling Green, Virginia, her ambition is to have an everlasting house-party at the latter place.

ALIX ROBERTS SNOWDEN

"Hurry, Alix, let's catch that car!" But no one has ever seen her run—except once, when she was late for a game. However, she is never slow to laugh or join in any sort of fun.

EDNA MAE STACKHOUSE

Edna is, first of all, a musician. She has spent most of her "extra" time while at Central trying to attain a goal of thrilling an audience when she plays the pipe-organ. That she will easily achieve her ambition was evidenced by her delightful performance on class night.

HELEN HARRIET WILLIAMS

If you don't know Helen, you have missed a mighty good friend. She is as sweet as a—but don't say too much! She blushes very easily. She is graduating in three and a half years. Her main ambition is to be an artist.

In Memoriam

MARGUERITE PFAFF

DAVID HANWAY

EVELYN MILLARD

HERBERT CRANFORD THOMPSON

Herb Thompson has been at Central for the four years of his high school course. Although kept out of athletics part of the time by outside interests, he has been on the tennis team for two years, and track one year, and has spent two and a half years in the cadets. He expects to specialize in science.

February Valedictory

THE February Class of 1919 graduates at a most opportune time, and under the most unusual conditions. The struggle between the nations is ended, and we once more enjoy peace. Now, the nations are summoning all their forces to the work of reconstruction. This gigantic task will require new energy and new aid to carry it to successful completion. Countless opportunities are therefore open to the younger men and women of America. Our country demands, as never before, the best that is in us; our most loyal and self-sacrificing service.

We are upon the threshold of an entirely new phase of life. Up to this time we have been receiving; now we must give. It has been truly said that we will get out of life only what we put into it. And what we put into life depends greatly upon what we do with our present opportunity. May we all heed the call to a larger service, and do our best to measure up to the ideal of American manhood and womanhood. Our teachers at Central have, by their example, taught us the meaning of true service. And we have only to look upon their untiring service to realize the beauty and inspiration of a life lived for the benefit of others.

We want to thank each member of the Faculty for what each has done for us. In future years, we shall realize that our days at Central were made more pleasant and surely more profitable because you each had a part in helping us over difficult places. Thanks to you, we always found a way out. And surely we can appreciate our diplomas a trifle more since they were sometimes a bit hard to attain.

There is one whom we miss greatly on this occasion: whose absence casts a shadow over each of us. As we gather tonight, we cannot but think of Mr. Wilson, who, by his untiring efforts, has made smooth our stay here. No graduation exercise seems complete without him. We cannot leave the school without gratefully acknowledging his help and patient labor in our behalf. We sincerely trust that he may soon return to Central to take up his accustomed duties. Everyone at Central has felt the absence of our friend and Principal, but we have had an efficient substitute in Mr. Maurer.

Mr. Maurer, we wish to express our appreciation of your leadership this last year. You have devoted yourself to the great work of supervising the entire machinery of this institution, a big job, but you have carried the work on without a break, difficult as it must have been. We take this opportunity of expressing our sincere thanks for your unfailing efforts in our behalf.

And undergraduates, as we go out from Central, we are leaving you in the best of hands. May each one appreciate the privilege of working under such leadership. I ran across a quotation the other day that I think would be well for both graduates and undergraduates to remember: "Get your happiness out of your work, or you will never know what happiness is."

Tonight, we are eager to be out in the big world where men are doing things; but there is also in each heart a feeling of regret that our days at Central are over—a feeling of reluctance to leave these dear halls, and say good-bye to our friends and teachers. But, as we go let us remember that, just as our teachers have influenced us, so it is in our power to exert an influence upon others. Let us strive to make good use of this power, that we may be a credit to our teachers, to our school, and to our country.

EDWIN SAMUEL HARPER.

June Class Poem

Central, as we say farewell,
We think of all the happy days with you.
The sweet remembrances that dwell
Within our hearts, we cannot tell
In futile words that would be all too few.

Central, you ever have been
A faithful friend who led us day by day,
Who guided us with brow serene,
And serious, though kindly mien,
Along the paths of knowledge on our way.

Central, you have held a light
Aglow with high ideals to lead us on.
It shone on high, inspiring, bright,
Its gleam was clear and starry white;
May it be ever so when we are gone!

Central, you have been the nest
Where we were taught to trust our feeble wings;
To venture forth, and make the test,
Though oft dismayed, to do our best.
Now, confident, we fly towards higher things.

Central, you have led us far
Along the road whose end we cannot see.
You were our friend, our home, our star
To guide us, and where'er we are,
Your name shall live within our memory.

—Martha Hart Bliss.

June Class History

AT LAST, the sad, fateful day has arrived. For the first time in four happy and successful years, Central is without its class of June '19. We are about to leave forever the fair portals of Central. Aye, weep, ye Faculty! Implore, ye Juniors! Beseech, ye Sophs! and howl, ye Fresh! for we are leaving. Yet go we must.

Far back in September, 1915, when we were still young and innocent, we first entered the corridors where so much wisdom abides. Our first year was spent in the dark, dismal but beloved halls of Old Central. Nothing happened very exciting that year, for we were anticipating our entrance into the New School on the hill, but we have always cherished loving remembrances of the Old School. One distinct thought comes into our mind, for every time we would go to a class and some needed article was missing, our esteemed teacher would say, "Never mind, all this will be remedied in the new school."

Then, the ever-looked-for day arrived in October, 1916, when we entered the illustrious school which was to hold so many precious memories. We missed that year Mrs. Hoegelsberger, the assistant principal, but Miss Coolidge, her successor, has been a great help and inspiration. Football first claimed our interest and consequently won the championship. In the early part of the year, the Dedication exercises of New Central took place. It was while we were yet Sophs that war was declared and we then entered upon a period of service for our country.

As Juniors, we obtained the title of upper classmen, and thus we became more a part of the school. Everything was started off with a bang. Just let me name our athletic achievements: Football, basketball, baseball championships. Now comes the crowning event of the year, the Competitive Drill. Much to the surprise of everybody, for no one ever thought it could be done, the Central companies captured four out of three places, to the chagrin of our worthy competitors.

Our fourth year, the crowning year of our high school life, was suddenly interrupted by the influenza epidemic, thus giving us a three weeks' holiday and three weeks of hard work to make up on our return. On entering our fourth year the only tinge of sadness we felt was due to the absence of our beloved principal, Mr. Wilson, but we certainly give a most hearty welcome to Mr. Maurer, who has so ably filled his place. In the latter part of this year, a Girls' Club was organized, the Senior girls taking a definite part in its organization. We wish this club all success possible. We must not forget the championship in Girls' Basketball that our Senior team brought to its class. The school is very proud of its Honor Flag, containing 700 blue stars and 11 gold stars.

Our class is proud that it is a successor to the many fine classes that have gone before. But now we are leaving, nevermore to come back, but we feel we have tried to keep the motto of Central, "Tenax propositi," "Steadfast of Purpose."

ELIZABETH ANNE ALBERS

"Yet graceful ease, and sweetness void of pride
Might hide her faults, if belles had faults to hide."

Beth has specialized in Major
Music, and, although her hobby is dancing, she has an ambition to teach piano.

RALPH PRESSLEY ATEN

Tennis "C," '16

Photographic Manager for the
1919 BRECKY

Ralph is an all-around good fellow, well met. He has a host of friends wherever he goes. Though deeply interested in school activities, he stars in English, as well as tennis.
Here's success to you, Ralph, old boy!

FRANCES AXTELL

Brecky

We know Frances for a good pal, a keen athlete, and a fair-to-middling student. Her one great fault is a consuming desire to get back to Washington State, or "God's country."

DONALD ELWOOD BAER .

After three years of hard work Donald was rewarded by being first sergeant of the winning company. He is rather quiet except when there is a substitute teacher in section. We don't know his present ambition, but we think that it is something worth while.

JEANNETTE LEONORA BAER

Jeannette is well liked by all who know her, but seems quite shy to those who do not know her intimately. She always gets along splendidly in her classes. We wish her the best of luck in her future undertakings. Her ambition is to stop blushing!

BARBARA BAKER

Scholarship

"The scholarly maiden, so sober and serious,
Is the usual cause of that gligle mysterious."

She raced through Central in three years, leaving a trail of E's behind her. When last seen, she was headed in the direction of the University of Michigan. Her greatest ambition is to develop one, and her hobbies are motorcycles and tanks.

RUTH AVERY BAKER

Bulletin Staff

As associate editor of the Bulletin she works like a trooper. She thinks that doing math, and writing short stories are fascinating occupations. But in spite of it all, she has one weakness—dancing! Her ambition is to be a feminine O. Henry.

ALICE BALDWIN

Alice has many friends at Central. She is full of fun and always ready for a joke, but her record shows that she has not wasted her time. We feel safe in saying that she will make a successful librarian.

MARIAN BARKER

Marian comes from Missouri, the state of mules, and Pershing! She is mad about sports, and it is her ambition to win a "C." She has many friends who hope that she will succeed.

WILLIAM HUBBARD BARKSDALE

Second Lieutenant of Co. K

Billy must be graduating on his looks, for he seldom opens a book. After he settles the Russian question, he will probably open a shop to sell the crêpe-de-chine handkerchiefs he has collected in the last four years.

RUTH GERALDINE BARLOW

Gerry came to us after we had entered upon our Junior year, and began her Central career in E5. We feel that it is our loss that she did not come to us sooner. She is bright, full of fun, and much loved by her classmates. Her ambition is to study philosophy, and we are ready to wager that she will make a dandy little philosopher.

KATHLEEN PAULINE BARRY

If you are looking for someone who is sensible, capable, and independent, here she is. But don't think this is all, for Pauline is in for a good time, like the rest of us.

ELMER JAMES BAXTER

Rifle "C," 1918

A sure shot! Prefers a gun to a book! Elmer is a genial young man, of a forgiving nature, whom everyone likes; and he has never been known to worry. We expect great things of him. His ambition is to be an engineer.

EDWARD BELNAP BEALE

Scholarship

Captain of Company B, 1919

Review Staff

Tennis "C," 1918

Class President

Although elected to the editorship of the BRECKY, Ed resigned because he thought that it would hurt his chances to win the competitive drill. His ambition is to go to Boston Tech.

MARY CELIA BENFER

To know her is to love her! To look at Mary no one would think her old enough to be a member of our class; but she is, and a valued one. For looks she is hard to beat. For fun she is the one you want. And study? Oh, boy!—Her ambition is to be a teacher or a librarian.

HARRY LOHR BENNER

Having heard "Central wins" so consistently since entering here, Harry decided to keep up the school reputation and join Uncle Sam's forces, to help win another big event. The job well done, he reappeared among us in his navy blues, to finish the year.

FLORENCE MAYBELLE BENNETT.

Maybelle is a sweet, pretty girl and a conscientious worker. Uncle Sam's Fuel Administration claimed her last summer and kept her until February 1, but Central called, and she came back to finish in three and a half years, with her class.

ELEANOR BENNS

Manager Girls' Swimming

"You do and say
The nicest things in the nicest way."

Eleanor has specialized in her hobby—swimming, and she is manager this year. She hopes to enter Vassar next fall, and her ambition is to join the mandolin club there.

GRETCHEN BERGNER

Pretty, quiet Gret is loved by many for her sweet and generous disposition. She is quite a mathematician, but her ambition is to become a famous pianist, and we know that she will succeed, just as she did when she decided to graduate in three and one-half years.

MARGRETTE EVELYN BERKELEY

Evelyn Berkeley has pursued her way through high school without any commotion. She loves the movies more than her Latin, but we do not censure her for that. And sh! We must only whisper it! She is bound for the "Great White Way," where we hope she will become one of the brightest stars there.

LISTON PARR BETHEA

First Lieutenant of Co. C., 1919

Lit is one of the best fellows that ever went to Central. He is quiet, full of fun, and a good friend to everybody. We wish there were more like him.

THOMAS BLANTON, JR.

He is a true son of Texas who is proud of it. He regrets that it was only last year that he became a Centralite, but we all say that he's just as loyal to the old school as any one of us. His ambition is to own a Hereford ranch.

MARTHA HART BLISS
Swimming "C," 1918
Class Poet

Martha has had a poem and story published in the Review, and won a "C" in swimming, all in her Junior year. Some day she will, in all probability, be a poet of note. Her ambition is to be a writer of "un-free" verse.

JOSEPHINE THEODORA BLOODGOOD

Jo is a little girl with a big smile. She can dance, play tennis, play the piano, cook and she is "some housekeeper." She is an awfully good person to know all the time and especially when you haven't done your translation. Her ambition is to become an expert housekeeper.

ELIZABETH MCDANIEL BOOTH

Elizabeth hails from the South, and all who know her are glad that she came as far north as Washington. She is always cheerful and good-natured, and it is whispered that she is a suffragette. Just watch! She may be President some day. Her ambition is to enter politics.

ELIZABETH BOURN
Bulletin Staff, 1919

Her ambition is to do reconstruction work in France and marry a minister. All theological students beware! Elizabeth's friends see her shining in her chosen subject, Sociology. She wants a Ph.B.

ALAN ROCKWELL BOYD
First Lieutenant of Co. E
Circulation Manager of the
BRECKY
Bulletin Staff

"Sinbad" is an enthusiastic little dancer, and his hobbies are—Well, you should see the cider and ice cream vanish when he is around. If you don't believe it, ask him why he goes to Falls Church so often!

MARTHA ELLENEEN BOYLE

Martha, with her sweet, sympathetic nature, is a great favorite among the male sex (v.p.i) because of her quiet, dignified, sportsmanlike ways. Her friendship will always be cherished by her many girl chums. Her ambition is "to really finish school."

MAUD LEDANE BRANDT

There are some whose popularity proves their worth, and Maudie is one of these. Her "smile that won't come off" is one of the things we want to remember after we leave school. Her ambition is to travel.

HELEN EVELYN BREHM
Scholarship (All E's)
Literary Editor of the Review
BRECKY Staff

One of the inner circle of Central "High-Brows!" "E"-generator, satirist, realistic-idealist, temporary pot-boiler writer, Browning devotee, cinema sinner, contra-gymnastica, Chevy Chase strap-hanger, rabid Ibsenite, future Atlantic Monthly contributor!

EMILY BRIGGS

Emily is mild in appearance, but further acquaintance proves her to be jolly and a good sport. A very fascinating soldier lives in Philadelphia, we hear. We wonder why Emily's future preparation for the realm of professional fiction will be made in the Quaker City.

ANNA BRODSKY

Review Staff 1918-1919

Anna deserted Tech and came here in her Sophomore year. She has been bubbling over ever since. Her ambition? Well, she has a different one every day. She wants to be a lawyer, a poet, a mathematician, a singer, a scientist, and a discoverer!

MARY AGNES BROWN

President of Debating Society,
1918-1919

Class Secretary

"Murry" has been with us since we were all "freshies" together at Old Central, and it was in her first year that she made us "take notice" by her brilliant debating. Now she is one of the most competent and popular presidents the Debating Society has ever known. Her ambition is to be a lawyer.

EMILY WILMARTH BROWNE

Congratulations, Emily! You certainly deserve credit for completing a four years' course in three. Besides being a student, however, Emily is always ready to join in any pursuit of pleasure.

ELLA CAWTHORN BROWNING

Ella is one of the most popular girls in the class. At present she is studying law, but what we predict is a cozy home, somewhere in Brazil. If you don't believe it, ask "Him."

PAUL MERLE BUHRER

An easy-going optimist who believes in "packing up his troubles," etc. He is a cheerful fellow who never hurts anybody's feelings but old man Gloom's. We all know Buhrer's grin, and sincerely hope that he will never have the gout. His ambition is to lead a life of ease.

MARGARET M. BURK

Margaret, otherwise known as "Peggy," does not like her middle name, so we shall not tell you what it is. Is she bashful? Oh, no! How could she be with those eyes? She has been a faithful student at Central for four years.

RHEES EVANS BURKET

Auditor of Bank, 1919

Rhees may look serious but he claims that he always "feels like a fairy." In dashing about the country in his Ford, the only traffic regulation he ever observed was a certain "Stop, Look and Listen" sign somewhere in Chevy Chase.

ALDEN AYLWORTH CALL

We call your attention to this talented young man, who is an efficient member of the orchestra. He is also a member of the Glee Club, and as a singer he has been a howling success. We predict that some day he will be the leader of a symphony orchestra.

ELEANOR CALL

Eleanor, a live wire at Central, is a leader in everything she undertakes. Some day when your children come home telling about the physical training teacher, Miss Call, you will understand that her ambition is realized.

KENNETH BALDWIN CHAPPELL

"Dream" entered the old building from the "sticks" four years ago. Since then he has followed various pursuits, his latest aspirations being to become an opera singer, or a speed demon on a motorcycle; anything to make a noise!

FRANK THEODORE CHESNUT

Frank Chesnut, known to a few choice members of the Rifle Team as "Chesty," is now the smallest member of Central's team of expert riflemen. His foremost ambition at the present time is to fire more Springfield cartridges in a day than any other team member.

DAVID CARTWRIGHT CLARK

Quartermaster Sergeant Clark, Company A, was the best service man in the same company last year. His immediate ambition is to win the drill, and next, but not least, to be the best automobile manufacturer in the market.

LILLIAN GENEVIEVE CLARK

Lillian is one of the most amiable, friendly and ambitious girls. Her favorite study now is Spanish. Ask Lillian why! Her great ambition is to be a successful business woman.

KATHERINE CLEARY

"Katz" has been with us four years, during which time she has won pretty fair marks and made a host of friends. She has captured all of our hearts and will be long remembered for her perpetual smile and ready wit. Her ambition is to be a surgeon.

MARION ELEANOR CLEVELAND
None know her but to love her;
None see her but to praise.
Loyal to her school; appreciative of her teachers; excellent in her work; at all times helpful, optimistic, and self-reliant.

LAURENCE LEE COCKERILLE
Laurence has two ambitions in life. One, the less important, is to be an M.D. The other, is to shoot a bull moose and an elephant.

MARY FRANK COFFIN
Mary, a sweet little Virginia lass, came to Central in her third year. Although she is quiet, she has made many friends who will find it hard to part with her. Wherever Mary goes, our best wishes for her happiness go with her. Her greatest ambition is to go to college.

HARRY LEONARD COHEN
Harry has a very mild temperament and a great desire to read many books. With such an ambition, he ought to be very successful in future years. Great and good in mind and body, he has but one weakness, "LADIES." Good luck to "Hezzy!"

ADELAIDE ZIMMERMAN CONARD
Swimming "C," '18
Tennis "C," '18
Adelaide Conard arrived last year, but she has all the marks of an old Central girl. She is enthusiastic over everything and wants to be an author some day.

ELIZABETH SELDEN CONE
Swimming "C," '18
Captain of Swimming, 1918-1919
Class Prophet
Elizabeth, familiarly known as "Bess-the-ever-ready," is one of those unusually clever girls that we seldom find. Everything that she does is done admirably and bears the stamp of originality. She hopes to go to Vassar next year.

ROSCOE LINZY CONKLIN
Football "C," '18
Manager of Football, '18
Manager of Basketball, '19
 Sports Editor of Bulletin
 Roscoe entered Central in time to get a half year in the old building, where he was imbued with the true Central spirit. He declined the scholarship to Harvard and Oxford and will probably go to Cornell.

ALTHEA BERENICE CONOVER
 Berenice wears her coat to keep her hands warm, and always leaves her hat at home. She has lovely curls, you know! She is very fond of music and athletics, and makes the best of friends. Try her. Her ambition is to be a vaudeville star.

ALBERT EARL CONRADIS
Track "C," '17, '18, Captain, '19
 Al is one of those fellows who say little, but "mon Dieu," how he can run! If he displays the same facility at the Bar as on the cinder path, he will be some lawyer!

CHARLES MORRIS COOK
Manager of Tennis, 1919
 Charles has modestly kept in the background of Central activities, until this year, when he blossomed out as manager of Boys' Tennis. Cook's chief ambition is to get through life without working, and he is doing it, too!

VIRGINIA COTTER
 She is named after her native state, the "Mother of Presidents," and like the lady for whom the state is named, she is still unattached. But we wonder for how long! Her highest ambition is to be a chemist.

MARGARET ELIZABETH CRATON
 We are all looking forward to Margaret as the leader of the "Woman's Land Army" in the near future. She has taken an active part recently as a "farmerette," and no one can deny that she is an interested worker. Her ambition is to be an architect.

CATHERINE WATSON CRIPPEN

Cathie came to us at the beginning of the Senior year, from Indiana. Her ever cheerful smiles have won her many friends. Her pet hobby is horse-back riding, but she also loves a good book. Her ambition is to fly from Washington to Poughkeepsie in an airplane.

CARL EDWARD CULLEN

Football "C," '17, '18, Captain '19
Basketball "C," '18, '19

Here we have the real athletic "shining star" of Central. Carl has been a star in the above listed sports, and as a result his studies have suffered slightly (?). His ambition is to enter the U. S. N. A. May we all see the day when he and Dasher oppose each other in an Army-Navy football game!

DAVID JAY CULVER

Jay came to us from the "Buckeye State." Despite the fact that he has been with us only one short year, he has easily come up to Central requirements. May he be as fine a fellow out in the world as he has been at Central!

SYLVAN DANZANSKY

Scholarship
Captain of Co. I, 1919

Syl may not be an ace, but he is some captain, student and pal. He wants to be a chemist, and if he is as good a chemist as a captain, Lavoisier, look to your laurels!

PATIENCE DAGGETT

Pattie came to us in our last year, and has been busy making friends ever since. Her smile is famous throughout the school. She speaks of specializing in teaching. For how long? Well, here's luck to her, anyway!

CHARLES LANIER DASHER

Baseball "C," '18
Basketball "C," '18-'19
Football "C," '18

In this young Southern gentleman, we have a luscious combination of Hercules, by his above-listed honors; Socrates, by his scholarship; and Cupid, by his regular attendance at the school bank; all equally represented. His ambition is to go to the U. S. M. A.

HERBERT DAVIDSON

Herbert Davidson, one of Central's most ambitious boys, and one of the Senior Math. sharks, wishes to attain the great honor of being a West Point cadet. Here's the best luck to Davidson in his military career.

HAZEL DAVIS

Hazel Davis, being very ambitious, has obtained enough points to be in the eighth semester a half year ahead of her class. As her chief characteristic is modesty, she never boasts, but her friends love her all the better for that.

ALLAN DUVALL DAWSON

This young man is a native Washingtonian who traveled extensively in both hemispheres until he entered Central. While here he has had a successful, though somewhat erratic record. We predict a diplomatic or political career for him.

ALICE PAULINE DEATHERAGE
Pauline came to us two years ago from Tennessee. During the time spent with us, she has by her charming personality, and lovable disposition, gained many friends at Central. We all wish her success in her future undertakings. Her greatest ambition is to be large.

FRANCES EVELYN DEGRANGE
Review Staff

Frances, of the dimples and deep-blue eyes, can be seen very often in the office, lending a helping hand, and being right-hand man to Miss Coolidge. She has always taken great interest in athletics, starring in basketball, and has been Editor of Girls' Athletics for the Review this year. She is "some jazz," but she wears spats. It is feared that she wants to do something in the art line.

PHILIP DIATZ
He came to us from the big town of New York in September, but during his short stay among us, we have discovered that he likes to discuss ways and means to better the condition of the country and of the workingman. He intends to study medicine at George Washington University.

ALICE MARY DODD
"Silence sweeter is than speech."

Here is Alice Dodd, so quiet and shy. But of course she is new at Central, and that's the reason why. When she does talk, however, you find her worth while. She is generous, and oh, so faultless! Of her loyalty to Central you may be sure. It is only a pity that she did not join us before.

SAMUEL MAYER DODEK
Brecky
Second Lieutenant, Co. I

Permit us—Sammy of the Sunny Smile! In spite of his love for Central, he has gayly gamboled his way through the tune of three and one-half years, the sooner to wrestle with the M.D. degree he intends to affix to his name. Good luck to you, Doc.

DOROTHY LOUISE DODSON
Mischievous and fun-loving, crowned with a flash of brilliancy! Though tall and the possessor of a succession of E's, she is one of the infants of the class. Dot's ambition is to go to Wellesley.

HORACE JAMES DONNELLY, JR.
First Lieutenant of Co. D

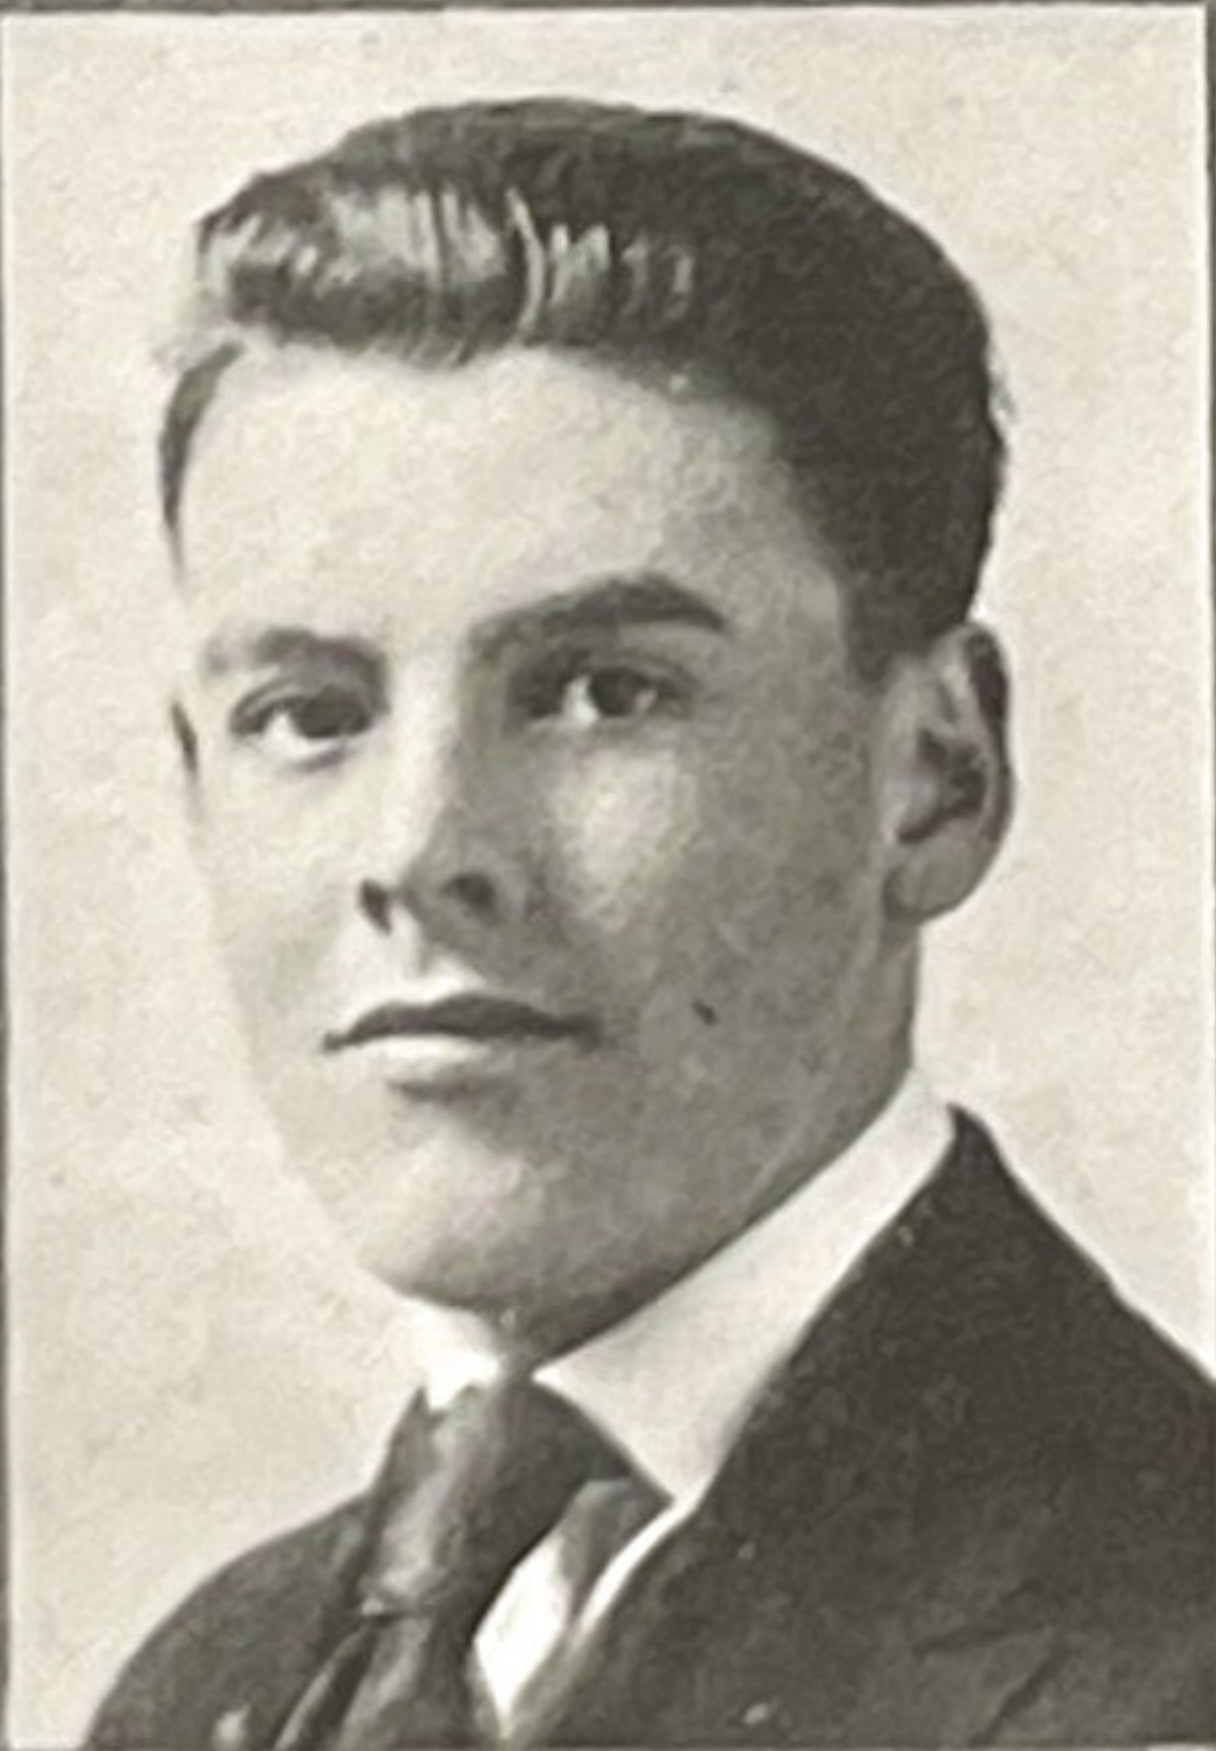

"Don" is known around Central as a jolly good fellow. He has a smile for everyone, especially the ladies. He is generally a good student, always a good friend, and an excellent cheer leader. West Point is his goal.

JOHN HILTON DONNELLY
Manager of Baseball, '19

"Hezzy" is known throughout the school for his easy-going, generous nature. He is open and frank, and a very likable chap. Because of his fondness for Math. and science, he has decided to build either another Brooklyn bridge or a tunnel through the Rockies.

MARION JANE EDWARDS

Marion says that her heart is in France, but it seems to be always with her. After Johns Hopkins, she will surely make an excellent nurse, with such a sweet smile and dimple.

JANET ELIZABETH ELLIOTT
Scholarship

Joan and Peter inspired Janet with a desire to study all about education. She also wants to live in Paris and learn French "as she is spoke." Meanwhile she reads, goes to the movies, and tries to survive Cicero and Browning.

EDWIN BOYD ELLIOTT

When he was a little fellow, "George" was sure that the only job for him was that of a motorman on the WRECO, but now he has his eye on the office of the Director General of Railways.

AMALIA MARIE ERBACH

If you want some one to shine, get "Molly." Her smile brightens anything, from a dance to a last-hour music class. She is good at lessons, but, when it comes to social matters, she just goes "Over the top."

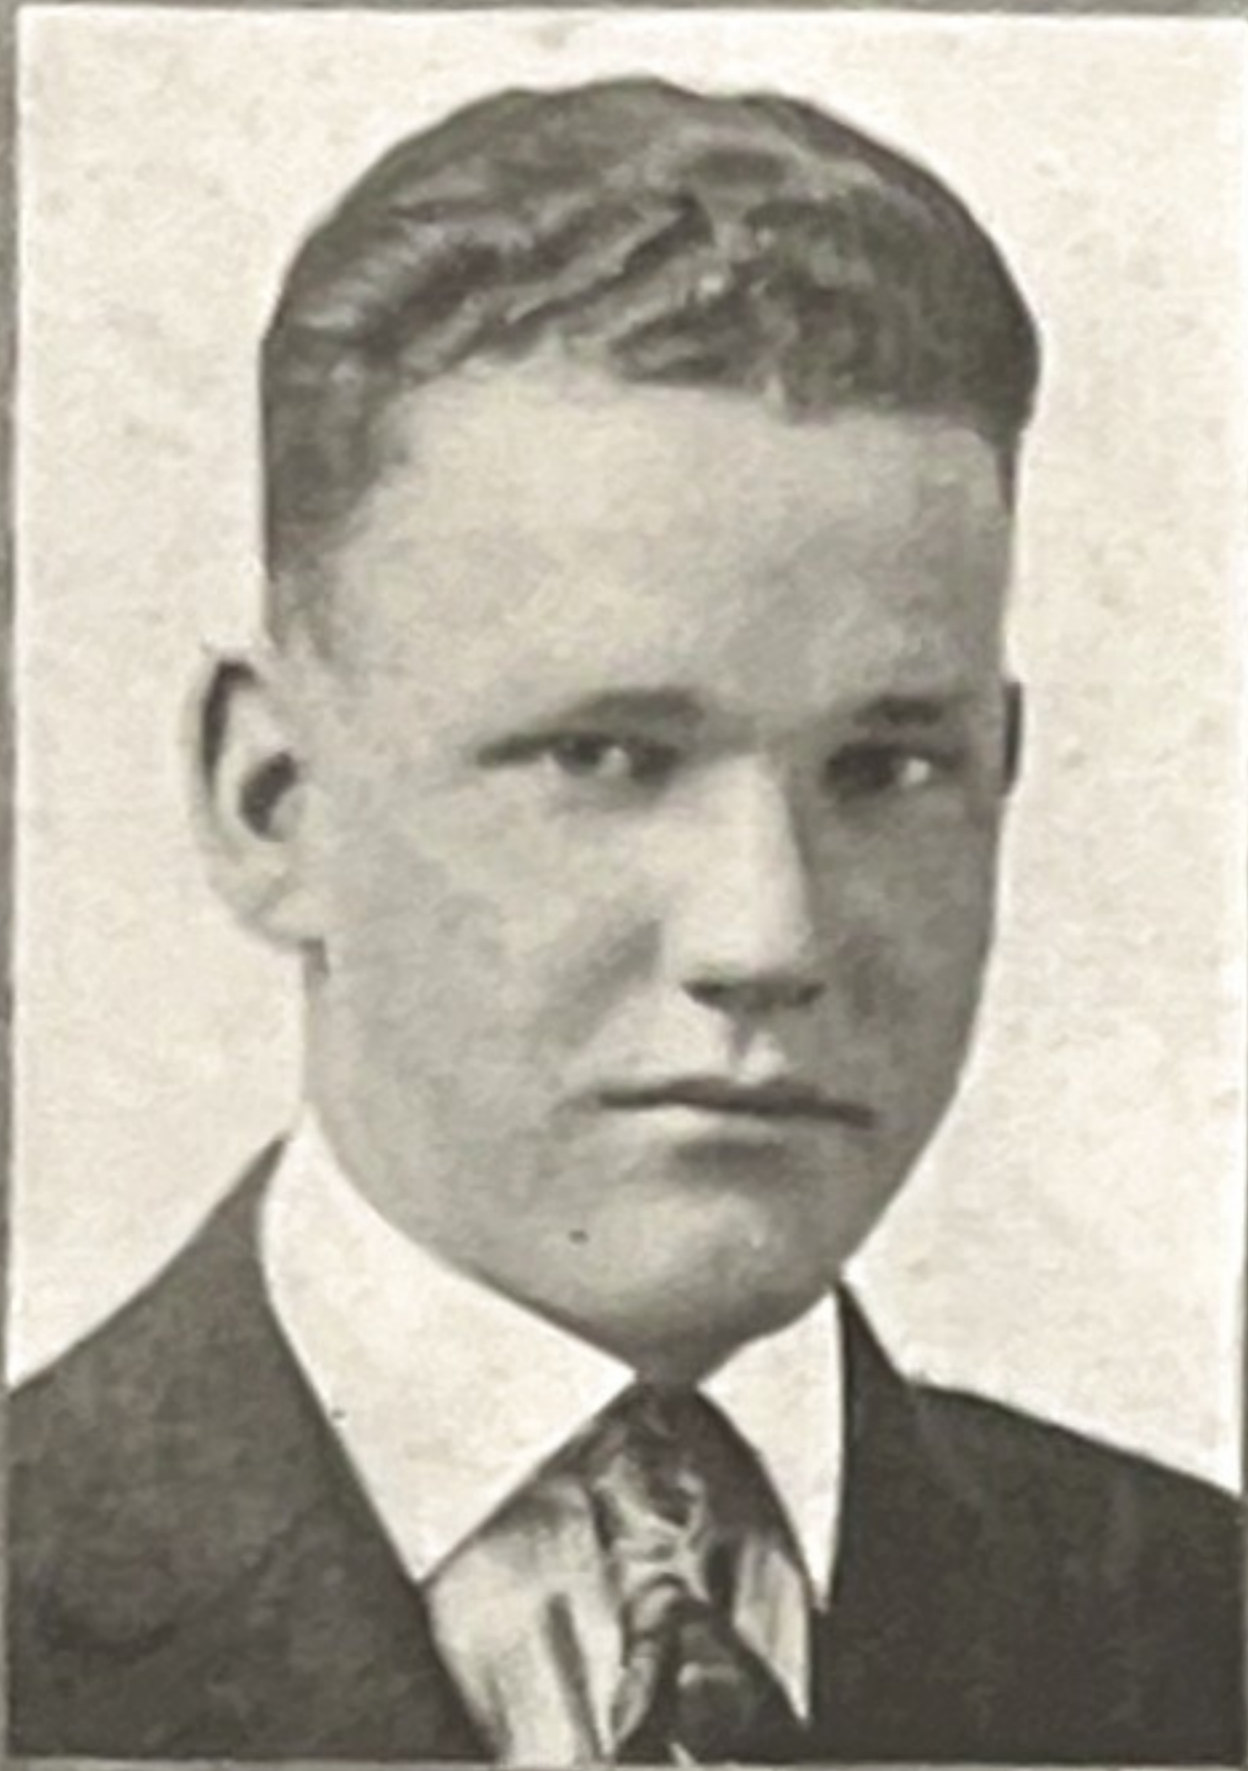

ANNA LOUISE ESPEY
Scholarship
Editor-in-Chief of the Bulletin
BRECKY Staff
Class Vice-President

Even with the above achievements confronting her, Louise claims that she has no ambition worth printing. Well, let her take a rest. She deserves it after her strenuous labors on the Bulletin this past year.

CLARENCE MAYNARD EXLEY
Exley's pet ambition is to be a chemist. If size has anything to do with it, Ex will be right there! He is such a brilliant Math. star (?) that he will simplify the study to a great extent.

ALBERT ROUNTREE FARMER
"Al," we call him. He is a fair-faced Apollo, with a smile for everyone. He has been in the Cadets three years. His ambition is Annapolis. He is sure to get there.

FRANK ELLIOTT FERGUSON, JR.
Scholarship
Captain of Company A, '19
Review Staff
BRECKY Staff

Frank is a fine captain and you can bet that he has a fine company and one that will get there in June! His wavy hair has a curl far different from the front rank of his company. His ambition is to go to West Point.

RUTH MARTINDELL FISHER

She is just the shy little girl that her name implies. She is very quiet, but just let her get loose once; then watch out. Her only desire is to be able to play the piano, so here's hoping, Peggy!

MARION SARAH FISK

"Mary Ann" hails from Kensington, and her ambition is to get to school on time. Second to that, she hopes some day to astonish the world as a rival of Paderewski, and we have great faith in her success.

ROBERT LIVINGSTON FLATHER
Captain of Company D

Rob, better known as "Liv-vey," is another of our Captains Courageous, wisely limiting his interests in the school to one, the Cadets. After combining hard work with a pleasing personality for three years, he found, as some wiseacres had predicted, that he was chosen to command a company. Luck to you, "D"termination! His ambition is to go to the University of Pennsylvania.

PHEBE BOGGIS FLEMING

Phebe is going to Smith and after that—well, just look at the initials on the gold football she wears. Phebe's friends love her for her charming personality and her "pep"—shown especially at the Tome games.

MARGARET HOPE FOCHT.

Hope's chief ambition in life is to become a well-known singer. We have heard that she sings like a nightingale and, judging by the sweetness of her disposition, it must be true.

HELEN GOULD FOREMAN

A very sweet and interesting girl came into our big school last year. Although not very widely known through the school, she is loved by those who know her. She came to us from Texas and expects to go back there and enter the University of Texas when she finishes here.

HELEN MAURINE FRANKLIN

Helen Maurine Franklin is new to us, and we wish that she would pay more attention to us and less to the Marine Corps. Does she "shake a toe" and play tennis like a champion? She does. Her ambition is to be a champion tennis player. We know that success will be hers.

ALEXANDER FREEDMAN

"Axle" Freedman, as he is called by his numerous friends, although he has not been pre-eminent in scholastic activities, has made a vivid impression upon the minds of all those who have come in contact with him.

HARRY FRIEDENBERG

"Happy," as he is best known among his classmates, is a very ardent student, and will, undoubtedly, in time become a physician, which is his ambition.

DOROTHY MAY FRIEND

Dorothy has won a warm place in our midst. Quiet and unassuming, but with a friendly smile and greeting for all, she is a friend well worth while. Some day she is going to be a trained nurse. Don't you hope that you will get sick.

LAURA KNEIPP GASKINS

"Laura K," our all-around out-of-door girl, has made many friends in her high school career. She is going to Vassar, but promises to return to Central as an English teacher. A Central welcome awaits you, Laura.

ULRIC STUYVESANT GENSLINGER

U. S. was born somewhere sometime and will die the same—unimportant facts now. Posterity will chronicle them. He has gumption. The success of Company E last year is thus explained. We need more like him in the U. S.

KATHARINE GERRY

Katharine, called "Peter" because she wanted to be a boy, wishes to have her name in a future Halleck. She will probably live in, and write about the Latin Quarter of Paris, which she has loved ever since reading Victor Hugo and Du-Maurier.

MARJORIE SPOFFORD GERRY
Tennis "C," '18

Manager of Tennis, '18-19

Marjorie is finishing in three and a half years. Her smiling face, her loyal heart, her ideals, and her sense of humor have endeared her to us. The Senior class can boast no better member.

WILLARD INGELS GIDEON

"His words are few but full of wisdom." He is a hard-working chap, of a modest, retiring nature, who believes that Chemistry is easy. He is a great (?) Red Cross worker. We wish him success in everything he undertakes. His ambition is to win a medal.

RICHARD COCHRAN GILL

Dick, a huge, healthy, good-looking (so the girls say), nature-loving boy, has ambitions to become a millionaire ranchman. His favorite haunt is the woods, where he "totes" a dangerous-looking gun and shoots many harmless animals.

WILLIAM WALDO GIRDNER

Brecky

Sometimes called Hercules! Somebody in the class had to be smallest, so in stepped Hercules. He talks about politics in Missouri. It is rumored wildly that he is writing fiction, but the report is as yet unconfirmed. His ambition is to learn a little bit of everything.

MAXINE LUCILE GIRTS
Class Historian

A popular girl, universally known through the school as "Maxine," whose greatest ambition in life is to grow tall and stout! Though quiet and sedate, she is always ready for fun. Next fall Maxine expects to enter college, where she will surely win many honors.

WILBUR BARRON GLOVER
Captain of Co. C, '19

Captain Bill is tall, dignified and liked by everybody. He hopes some day to hang out a shingle with M.D. after his name, and we all know that with his determination he will succeed.

NORMAN GOLDBERG
*Scholarship
First Lieutenant of Co. K
Brecky Staff
Review Staff*

Here is a boy who came to Central a semester later than most of us, but who is leaving with us, and with more credits than any of us. His one ambition is to be an expert accountant, and get a C. P. A. degree.

ANNA GOLDMAN
Scholarship

Central caught its first glimpse of Anna in February, 1916. If she had been just the ordinary sort of pupil, she would not be with us now. But here she is, and we are proud of her. Her ambition? Her greatest one is to be a lawyer.

ISIDOR GORDON
Brecky

This is Isidor's first year here, but he started right by joining the Debating Society. He is going to Columbia University. During his brief career at Central he has been a member of the Van Casteel-Dickey-Gordon trio in a sixth-hour daily talk-feast.

FLORENCE ISABEL GREGORY

Flo is like many of us in never having done anything extraordinary but—giggle! Of all chronic gigglers she is the worst. Although never seen worrying about lessons, she has managed to graduate in three and a half years.

SAMUEL STARKE GROGAN

Sam is a bashful young man who writes in secret and hopes to write for the Saturday Evening Post in the near future. He is a hustler, but works too much for his health. He is Miss Clark's handy man. His ambition is to be America's greatest M.D.

RUTH PHYLLIS GROSNER

"Argee" is a very accomplished young lady. She is a fine pianist and has a sweet soprano voice. Ruth has managed to pass all her subjects with very little study and a great many social activities.

REVERE GURLEY

First Lieutenant of Co. G, '19

Revere, although bashful, is nevertheless a good classmate. He expects to go to the Yale Sheffield Scientific School, and we wish him the best o' luck. His ambition is to be a scientist.

EUNICE BARNARD HADEN

E is for earnestness, in her art,
U for her understanding great;
N for the neatness dear to her heart;
I for ideas, genius' mate;
C for the charm which makes her dear;
E for everything not mentioned here.
Her ambition is to be an artist.

GEORGE LYMAN HALL

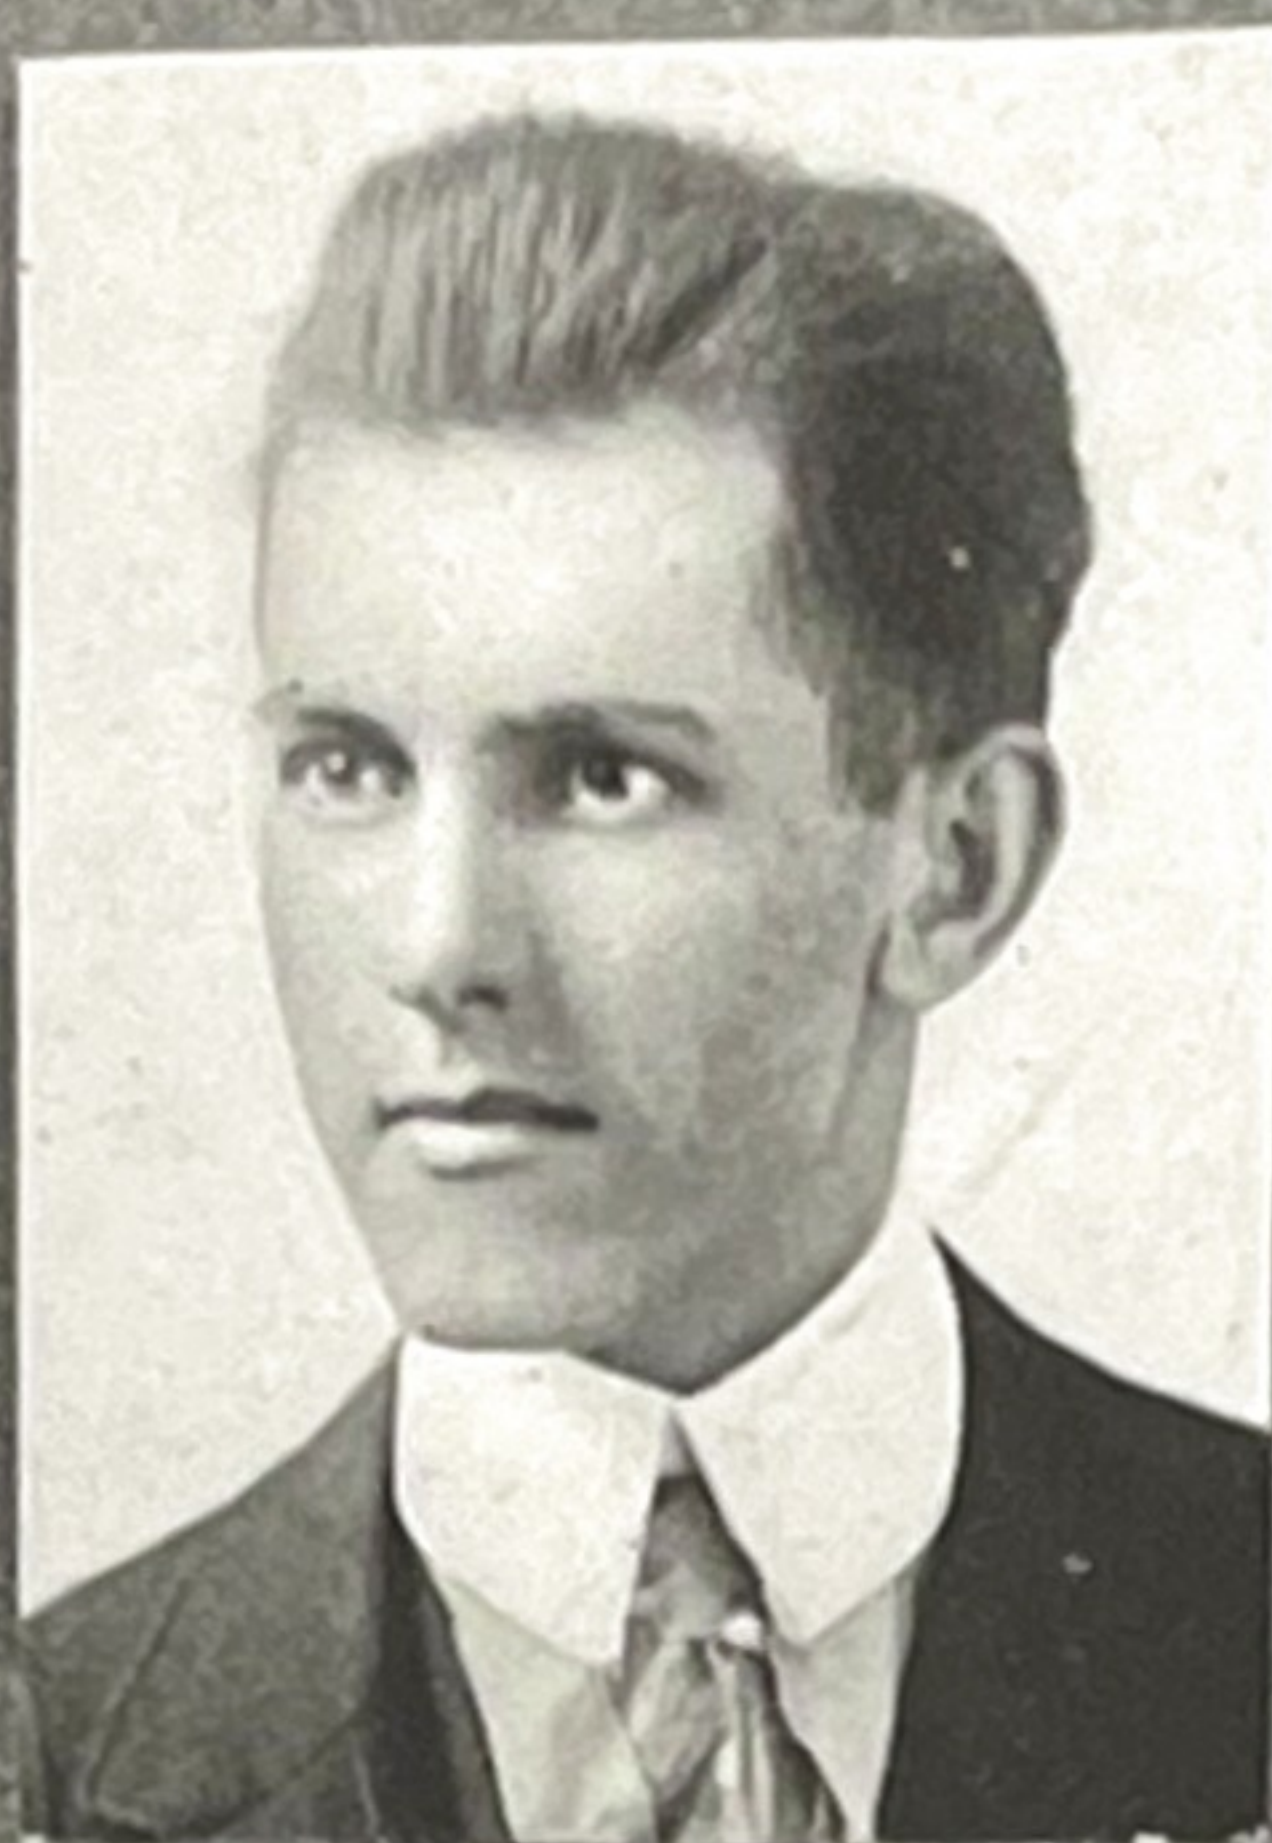

*Major of the Second Battalion
Circulation Manager of the Review*

Lyman is well known to us all—especially the young ladies. His "cute" appearance has not prevented his being a most efficient circulation manager of the Review. His ambition is "to wear spats all the time."

MINA HENRIETTA HALL

Little? Well, we should say so! "Minnow" would suit her better than Mina. But never mind; the best packages are usually small. She expects to take up Domestic Science at college and— It sounds "kind of" suspicious, doesn't it?

HENRY CLAY HARDING

Aspiring to reach the heights which his Virginian forefathers had attained, Harry came to Central after spending one year in a Virginia high school. He is an orator, an ex-cadet, and a good fellow.

ELIZABETH HARR

BRECKY Art Committee, '18-'19

Betty's extreme modesty makes it hard for the biographer, but it is known that she is liked by everybody. Her ambition? Sh—! It is to graduate and then to lure some hero into the sacred bonds of matrimony.

LUCILLE FREEDABELLE HARRIS

Lucile is finishing the course in less than the prescribed time. We hope that she will do as well when she gets to college. We are told that Ceil has a good voice. Perhaps she will let us hear it some day. Her ambition is to be a doctor or a lawyer.

HELEN DOROTHY HEALY

Tennis "C," 1918

Bright, cheery, happy, with many dear friends; that's Helen. She does everything well, but excels in athletics. She intends to be an opera singer, and if you have heard her sing, you will agree that her ambition will be realized.

LELAND MERRILL HEDGCOCK

First Lieutenant of Co. M

Just because he is a member of the "War Babies," do not think that he is small—or handsome (?). No,—He is not perfect; but we are willing to take him as he is. His ambition is to be a Civil Engineer.

VIRGINIA BYRD HEREFORD

Virginia is the shining light of the class. With her witty remarks and fascinating ways, she has become one of the most popular girls in school. We feel sure that she will succeed in her ambition to be an interior decorator, for her personality lends charm to any atmosphere.

WILLIAM KENNETH HEROLD
Art Editor of the Review

Kenneth's talents extend to several artistic accomplishments. He intends to become an advertisement illustrator and a cartoonist for magazines. He also plays the piano with great proficiency. At first he attended Tech, but for obvious reasons soon changed to Central.

AUDREY MABEL HERRON

What would we do without this original sunbeam to lighten our gloomy moments? When she leaves, our corridors and classrooms will be much sadder—and quieter! To have known Audrey is to have learned the real meaning of a giggle. Her ambition is to go to France.

NELS ALFRED HILL

Alfred Hill was born on a farm in Iowa. He has been a member of the cadets since he came here from Iowa last year. He hopes to take an agricultural course at Cornell. Swimming and shooting are his school interests.

DOROTHY FILIPINA HOBBS

"Tall and stately as a lily." Quiet, sweet, studious, pretty, we could keep on indefinitely with pleasant adjectives to describe Dorothy, who is so quiet and studious that most of us know her only as the girl who gets the marks. Dorothy expects to go to college, but she has not decided what she will do afterwards.

ROBERT MARTIN HOLBROOK

Bob's stately figure and cheerful face were seen at Central in 1917. He is going to become a lawyer and, perhaps, some day he may see you at the bar, provided the country don't go dry.

ISABELLE AGNES HOPKINS

A pleasant, interesting girl known as "Aggie" by her intimate friends, is a favorite among them. She is full of fun and always has a pleasant word for everyone. She has no special ambition, except to finish school, and have a good time, in which she will no doubt succeed.

JOHN BATTLE HORTON
First Lieutenant of Co. F

Here we have the original scholar, officer and gentleman. This worthy cadet has made a record of which anyone might well be proud. Last reports indicate that John has not yet decided what his career will be. We can, however, confidently predict his success whether it be in politics, law, medicine, or plumbing.

MAY JOSEPHINE HOUSTON

A demure little daughter of the South who joined us in our Senior year. Josephine possesses a clear, musical voice and is also talented in dramatic art. She has made many friends at Central. Her ambition is to be a second Galli-Curci.

ROBERT DARIUS HOWARD
First Lieutenant of Co. A, '19

"Bob" has graduated in three and one-half years with nineteen full credits and nearly all of his marks "F." He certainly is the youthful prodigy of this class. His age is— We think that we'd better not tell for fear that you might not believe us. His ambition is to be a great lawyer.

HELEN GLADYS HUGHES

High school has not held any terrors for Gladys, for she has sailed right through in three years. She is a wonderful dancer, plays basketball, and is enthusiastically interested in everything. Her ambition? That's a deep, dark secret.

SYLVIA COSTIN HUTT

Sylvia, during her three years' sojourn here, has made many friends because of her sunny disposition. She is not decided as to her future course, but whatever her choice may be, she will surely make a success of it.

KATHRYN LEONE IHRIE

Ever since Kathryn breezed in from the West, her friends and admirers have been numerous. She is loved by everyone. Her aspirations are very high—in fact, at present they are soaring in the clouds. Why not?

MARY BETH JACKSON

Although "Jackie" was late in joining us, we are mighty glad to have her as a classmate. It is understood that the W. B. & A. occupies her week-ends. We cannot imagine what can be the attraction. Her ambition is to go on the concert stage.

EVA RUTH JACOBS

Eva, our little "black-eyed Susan," is bright, jolly, and full of fun. She graduates in three and a half years. Her ambition is to break the type-writing speed record of the world, and to be proclaimed a little champion.

LOUISE JACOBS

Stop! Look! Listen! This is Louise Jacobs from the "Old Keystone State." She is a graceful little blonde. "Jake" likes books, music, and a good time. She is going to Randolph Macon College, and from there to travel in foreign lands. Her ambition is to get through college.

MORRIS JAFFE

Brecky

Morris has had a strange feeling from the graded schools up, that the more you study the less you know, so he has abstained from that pleasure entirely. To show that this method of acquiring knowledge has succeeded, Morris can do anything from dancing to solving geometry originals. With his ready smile and his love of fun he has made many friends at Central. Here's luck to you, Morris!

MARY LOUISE JAQUETTE

There is a certain shade of hair which denotes an impulsive, quick-witted, bright, lovable girl. That describes Louise Jaquette. But don't look for the fiery temper that is supposed to be another characteristic; it is not there. Her latest ambition is to be a radio operator.

KATHRYN BIRD JENKINS

"She smiles and smiles, and never sighs." This is the way "Kay" has gone on her way through school. Her ambition is to go to college, and then—oh, well, guess! All wish her success.

MARGARET LIVINGSTON JOHNSON
Bulletin Staff

This golden-haired girl has devoted herself to the many activities at Central. She is also a Girl Scout and expects to receive the Golden Eaglet in June, an honor which only a few have attained. Her greatest ambition is to be a physician.

MARGARET LOUISE JOHNSON

"A friend in need is a friend indeed." Peggy has been a friend indeed to many of us. Her ambition changes weekly; to have an orphan asylum, to be an opera singer, to teach English. We cannot say what it will be next.

MARGUERITE MARY JOYCE
Basketball

Brecky

Marguerite's ambition is to be a model printer. She is one of the best all-around girls in the class. She has done many things in her four years. One is to become a star basketball player.

ALVIN KENNETH KAR

A true Westerner who talks, writes, and raves about Idaho. He is a speed demon but hasn't killed anybody yet. One of the most accommodating boys in school. Special Note: Every year is leap year for him. His ambition is to own a motorcycle factory.

GRACE ELIZABETH KELLOGG

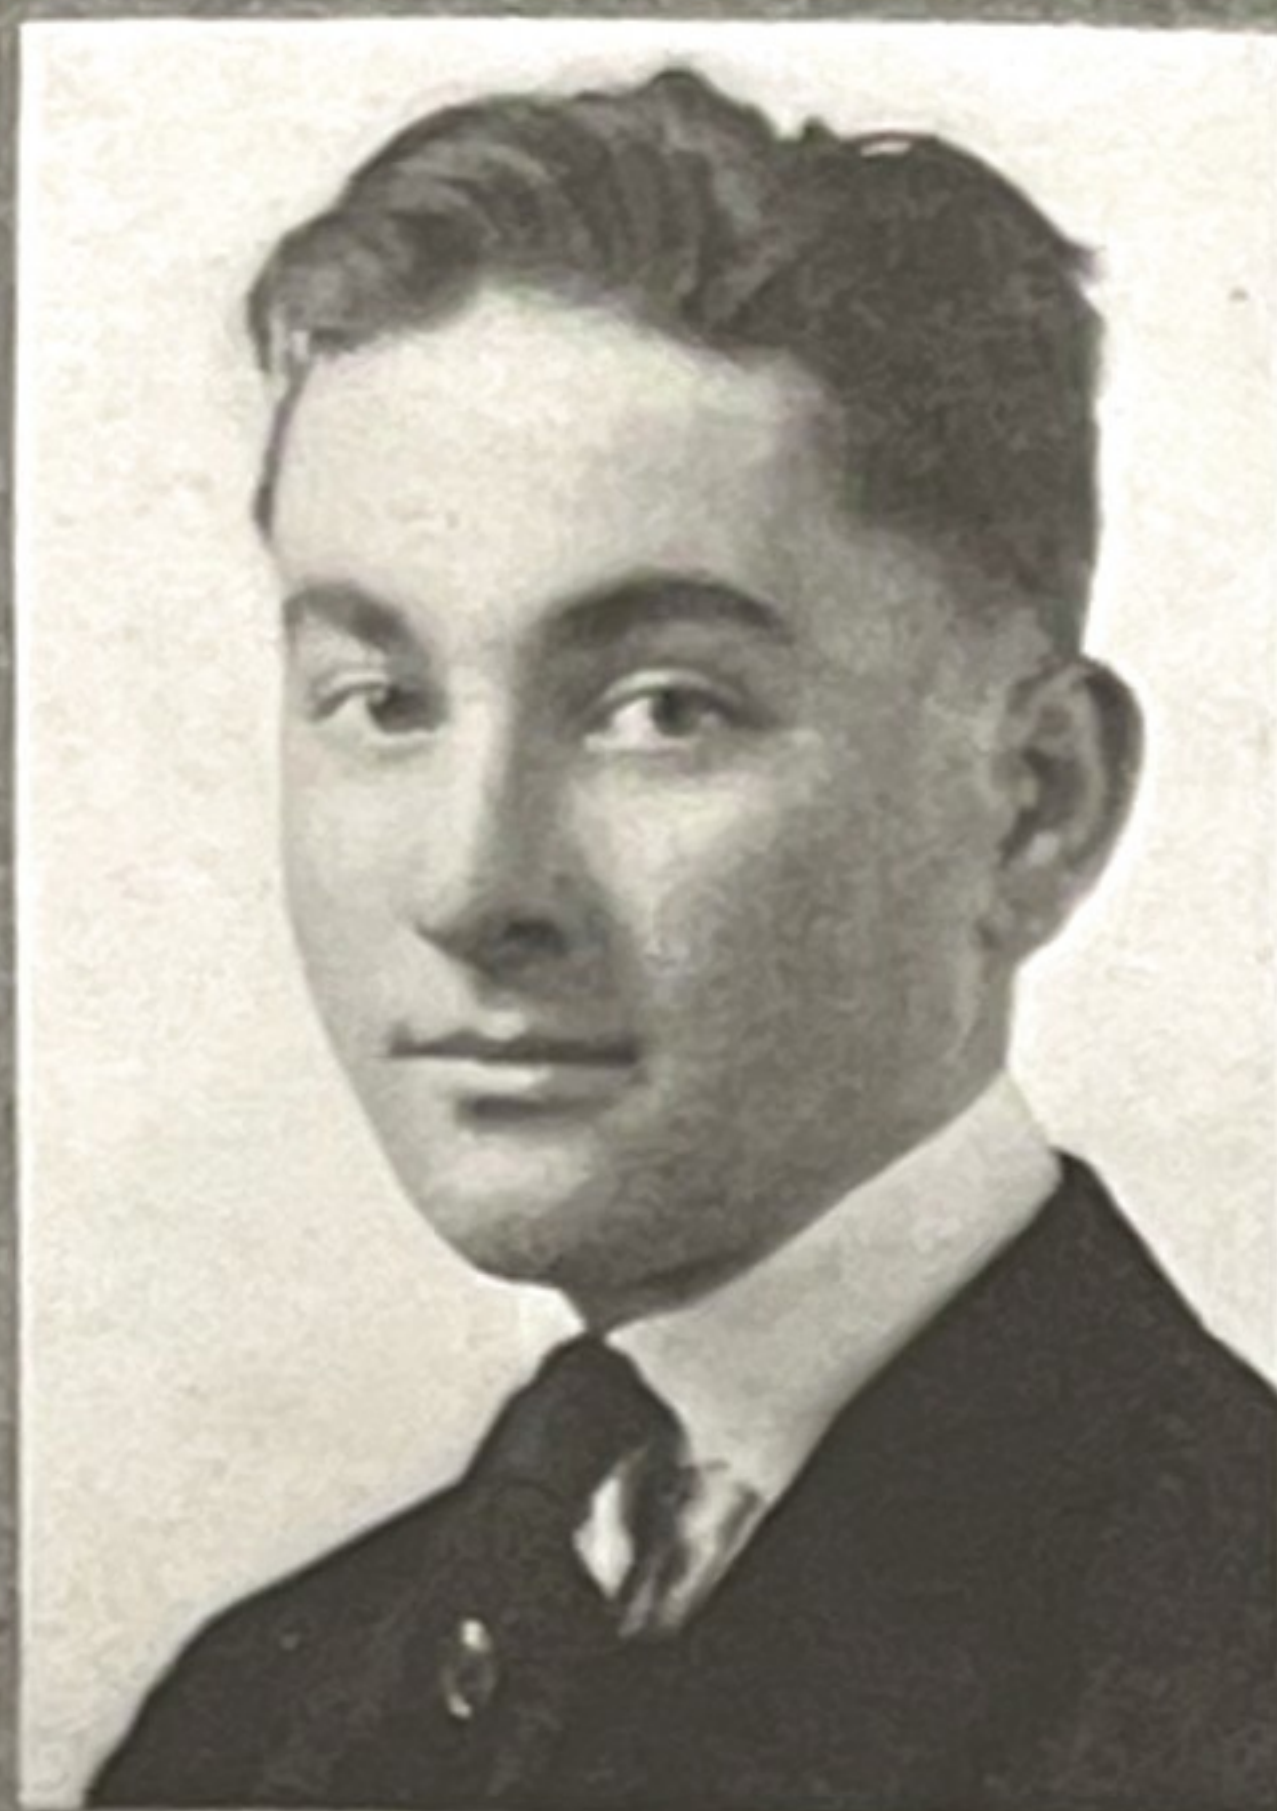

Grace is one of the sweetest girls in our class, and her gentle ways have won her a place in all our hearts. She is always tranquil and serene, managing to stand near the top in all her classes.

ELIZABETH HENRY KENDRICK

Scholarship

Betty is renowned for her perseverance, brightness, and success in whatever she starts out to do. One just can't help liking her. She is a poet, and a rival of the "University Wits." Her ambition is to instruct young Americans in the use of their mother tongue.

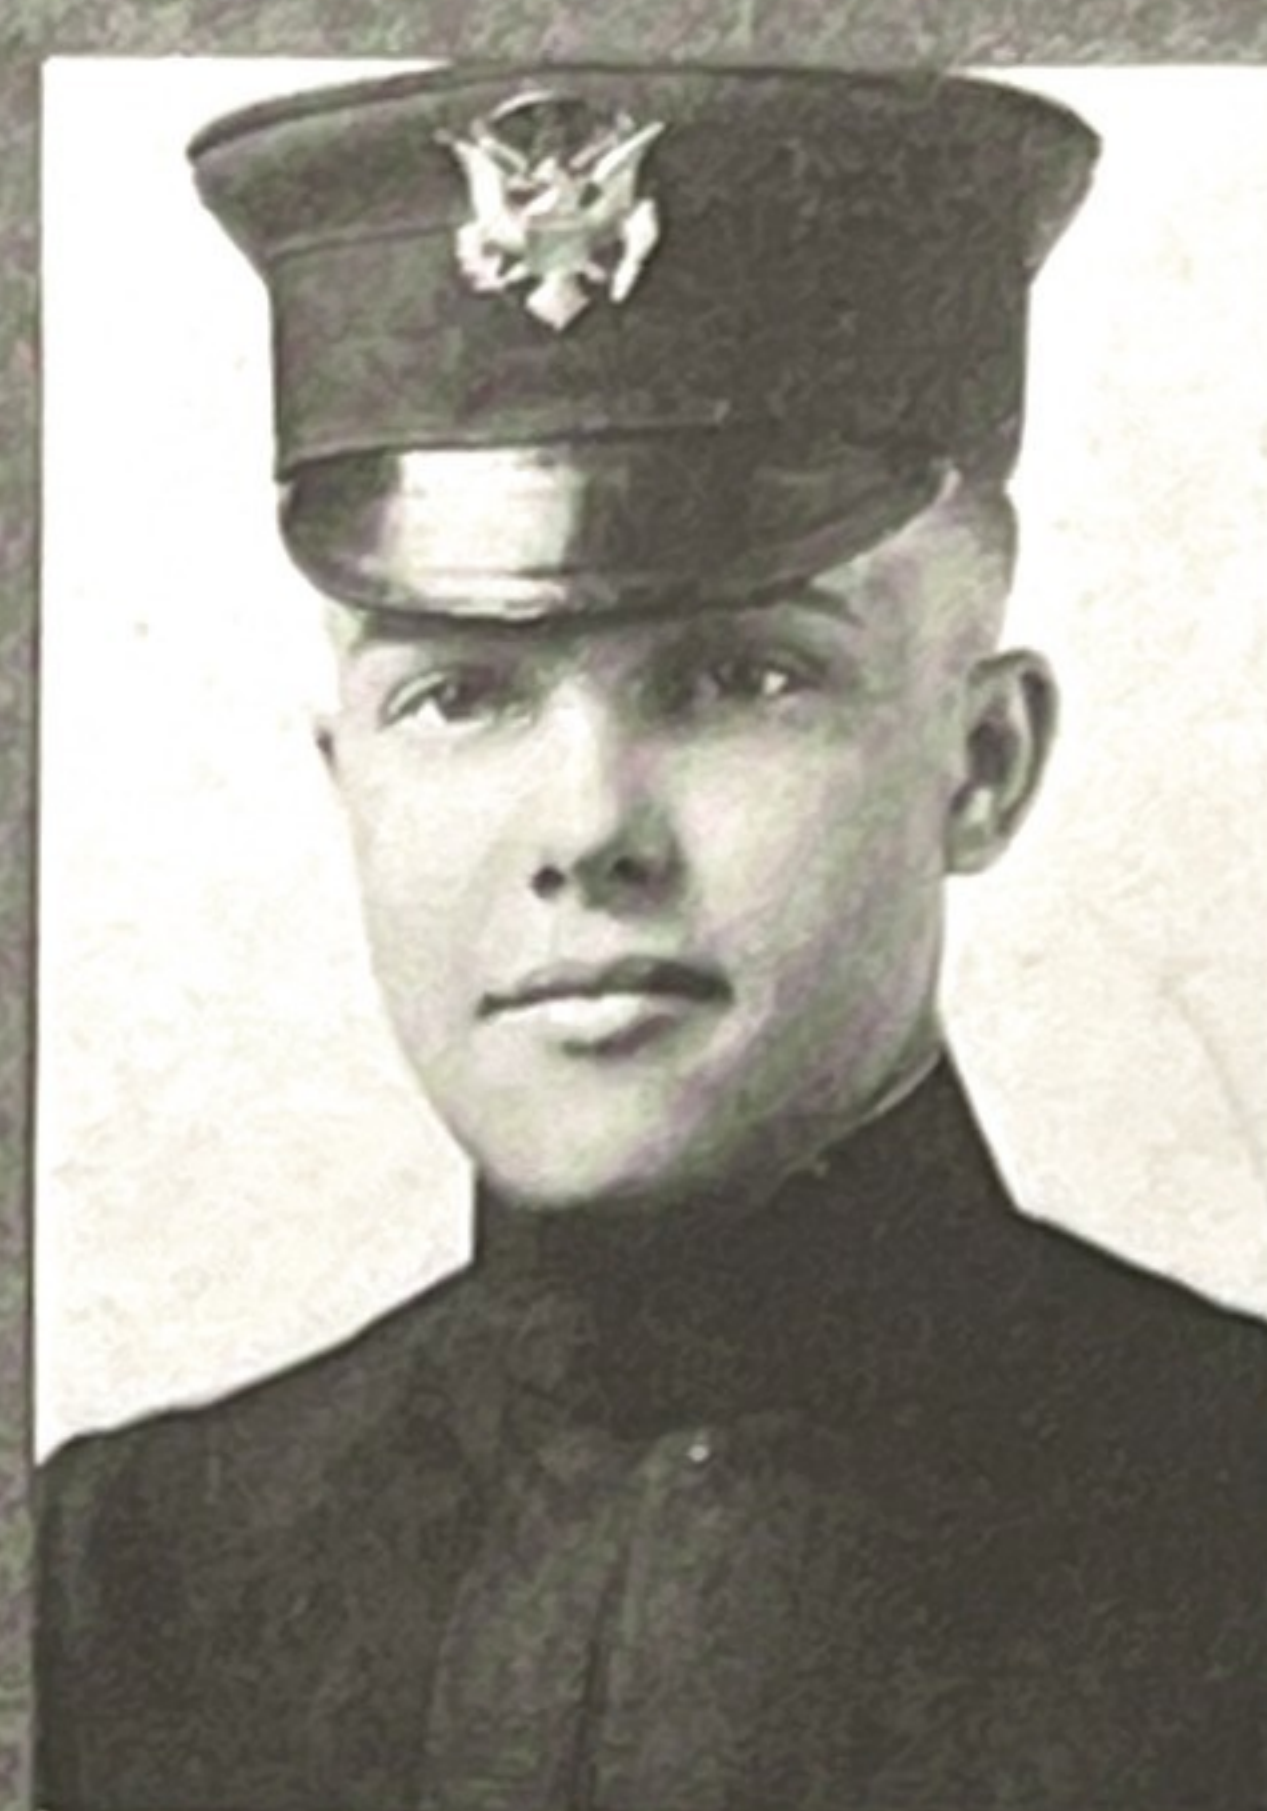

ELIOT KLAWANS

He is known as "El." Some say that he's good looking. He usually knows his lessons but is otherwise all right. His ambition? Oh, to be a lawyer!

DOROTHY MAE KNIGHT

"Dotty" at eight decided that she would go to college, but upon learning that there was something more to do than just make fudge, she has swerved to normal school, —if!

GEORGE SCHNEIDER KOCH

Scholarship

Corporal Koch, having been roasted out of Panama, and frozen out of Alaska, finally floated into Central last year. "Panama" is taking the four-year course in two short years. His ambition is to be an aeronautical engineer.

RUTH KOTINSKY

Scholarship
Bulletin Staff
BRECKY Staff

We can say only this of her: she abounds in ideas and information, is graduating in three years, is a swimming leader, and has an interesting and voluble store of conversation. Only those of us who know her well can fully appreciate her.

DOROTHY DEVERAUX LADD

This pleasant little maiden brings us breezes from New Mexico. Although she has been with us only two years, she has found a place in the hearts of many. She expects to go to college.

NADINE LANE

Scholarship

There are smiles and styles, but none quite like Nadine's, for she has such things down pat. In spite of that Russian air about her name, it has been successfully reduced to "Noddy." And she is ambitious enough to have an ambition—to write!

BETTIE CARLISLE LARIMORE
Scholarship

She hails from Alaska. She is one of the "Pillars of the library" and also one of the Annette Kellermans of the class. She is going to Swarthmore College. She refuses to disclose her ambition!

WILLIAM HENRY LAY

Here is a boy from Illinois. He is interested in two school activities especially: swimming and the rifle team. His ambition is to have a farm in the Sunny South.

JAMES ALFRED LEROY
Scholarship

Editor-in-Chief of the Review
Lieutenant-Colonel of the First Regiment
Vice President of the Debating Society
BRECKY Staff
Bulletin Staff

By the time the BRECKY is in the hands of the Seniors, "Jim" will be rid of that worried look which he always wore when getting out the Review. The year's work will be over at last and he can take a rest.

KATHERINE ISABEL LIEBERMANN
Brecky

"Just a lump of sugar," certainly describes Katherine. One of the prettiest girls in the class, she has made many friends. We know that she will not be Miss Liebermann long.

ELLEN MARIE LITTLEPAGE

Ellen M. Littlepage, of Indiana, Maryland, and Washington, D. C., wants to be a successful author. Therefore her Western literary breeziness, her Maryland sentimentality, and her national spirit make a good combination. She hopes to live that way, and write that kind of a book.

GEORGIA ANNA LONG

Georgia's so nice to us all, She's liked by the short and the tall.

Her beauty, too, Is missed by few, But she will be missed by us all. Her ambition is to make an attractive home.

WILLIAM WILSON LUPTON
Brecky

Bill was born in Virginia. He has always received good marks in his studies in his high school career, and since we have learned that he intends to enter the business world, we predict a successful future for him. Good luck to you, Bill!

JULIETTE FROST LYON
Tennis "C," 1918

Although Julie is very small, she is one of our swiftest basketball players. We also expect her to be champion tennis player some day. But we will remember her best as a good friend, always ready to lend a helping hand. Her ambition is to be an artist.

ETHEL LOUISE MCCRACKIN

Ethel is a good student and a true friend. She has a good memory and delights in mathematics and physics. She also enjoys typewriting and shorthand and may become a stenographer.

MARGARET ALICE McDONALD

Meg has quite a list of accomplishments to her credit. She studies—um—yes, really! sings, is Mr. Lawrence's right-hand "man," and still finds time for lots of dancing and a lengthy correspondence with a former Central football star.

LOUISE McDOWELL
Brecky

A recipe for a good friend. She has equal parts of worth and wit, and the kind of "smiles that make you happy." Her hobby is Mary Pickford. Her ambition is to be a great pianist. Good luck to her and her future!

GALEN MCKEEVER

"Mac," as he is known around the school, hails from the little town of Kensington, Maryland, which is rapidly becoming famous for the great men it turns out. He is a very industrious and hard-working fellow at his books, and let us hope that he will not be an exception to Kensington traditions.

ROBERT RAYBURN McLACHLEN
Manager of Football, 1918

'Tis true he is a quiet, easy-going chap, yet there is that magnetic quality about him that seems to draw one to him. Bob, besides being a good student, is endowed with the ability to handle money. He has made known his intentions of becoming a banker in later years. Our best wishes to Bob and may he some day be Secretary of the U. S. Treasury.

JAMES HUBERT McNEILL
Second Lieutenant of Co. C

Every time that "Mac" arrives in a different car, we wonder where he gets them all. His graduation may be a mystery, but we cannot deny that he has arrived, with bells on, despite innumerable dances, Chinese restaurants and automobile troubles. He says that his ambition is to wear two letters, M.D., after his name.

HARRY ARNOLD McNITT
Regimental Adjutant (Captain)

Arnold is a handsome captain, who is unusually cheerful, considering the dignity of his office. He often indulges in a bit of pleasantly for which we all forgive him, and all agree that a better chap could not be found. His ambition is to be a doctor.

HENRY JOHN RUSSELL McNITT
Captain of Co. G, '19

"A kohinoor without a flaw." Here he is! A systematic hustler who believes in doing things right. He has more friends than Solomon had wives—he likes the whole school and the whole school likes him.

LAURA ELIZABETH MADDOX

Laura Elizabeth, well known to many teachers and pupils, is one of this June's "sweet girl graduates." We are glad to have as a classmate one whose motto is "Laugh and the world laughs with you," etc. Her great ambition is to travel.

RUTH FALES MAJOR

Where Ruth is, joy reigns supreme. With her sparkling brown eyes and cheerful ways she is a sure cure for the blues. Girls may come and girls may go, but there will never come another like Ruth.

RAPHAEL MANGANARO

Hail the conquering hero of Lawrence, Massachusetts! Here he obtained the record of possessing the sole Venetian pompadour. His jokes have made him famous among his classmates. He is going to add M.D. to his name.

ANGELA MANNAKEE

Aesthetic temperament, musical taste, and artistic talent, combined with poise and personality, have made our beautiful Angela one of the most fascinating girls in our school. Her ambition is to be an artist.

OLGA ELVIRA MARSEGLIA

When she rolls those eyes, look out! Let's hope that college life will cure her. Here's to our future doctor who finished a four-year course half a year ahead of time. May she be as successful in college. Her ambition is to be useful to humanity.

MARGARET MEIKLEJOHN

After four long years of diligent practice, Margaret has become the most accomplished member in the "art of giggling" of the class of '19. She is also blessed with the gift of "gab." With the combination of these wonderful talents, we predict for her a great future as a stenographer.

EVA MENDELSON

Hail to our young lawyer who finished her course in three and a half years! To fulfill her ambition she thinks of the George Washington Law Course, where her attention will be held by law—to say nothing of the lawyers themselves. Her ambition is to be a boy in the next world.

LOUISE ELIZABETH MERCHANT

We will have to hand it to Louise for she finished in three and one-half years. She has lots of friends and is always seen smiling. She aspires to be a trained nurse.

AGNES HENDERSON MESSER

Lo and behold! There is a brilliant young, brown-eyed miss who finished high school in three and a half years. Agnes' many friends wish her great success at college. Her ambition is to become a newspaper reporter.

MARGARET EMMA MILLER

There came once upon a time a freshman of surpassing timidity. And now, pray behold this same little miss blossomed into a young lady, still somewhat quiet, yet delighting in gayeties as much as anybody. Margaret is a lover of sports. Her capacity for fun makes her a favorite with all, and her graduation leaves a space in Central that will be hard to fill.

MARY ELIZABETH MILLER

Yes, she is as sweet as her picture. Mary came to Central as a sophomore and since then has made many friends by her winning smile. Mary's ambition is to become an army nurse. "I don't want to get well."

MILTON ALEXANDER MILLS, JR.
Business Manager of the BRECKY
Baseball "C," '18

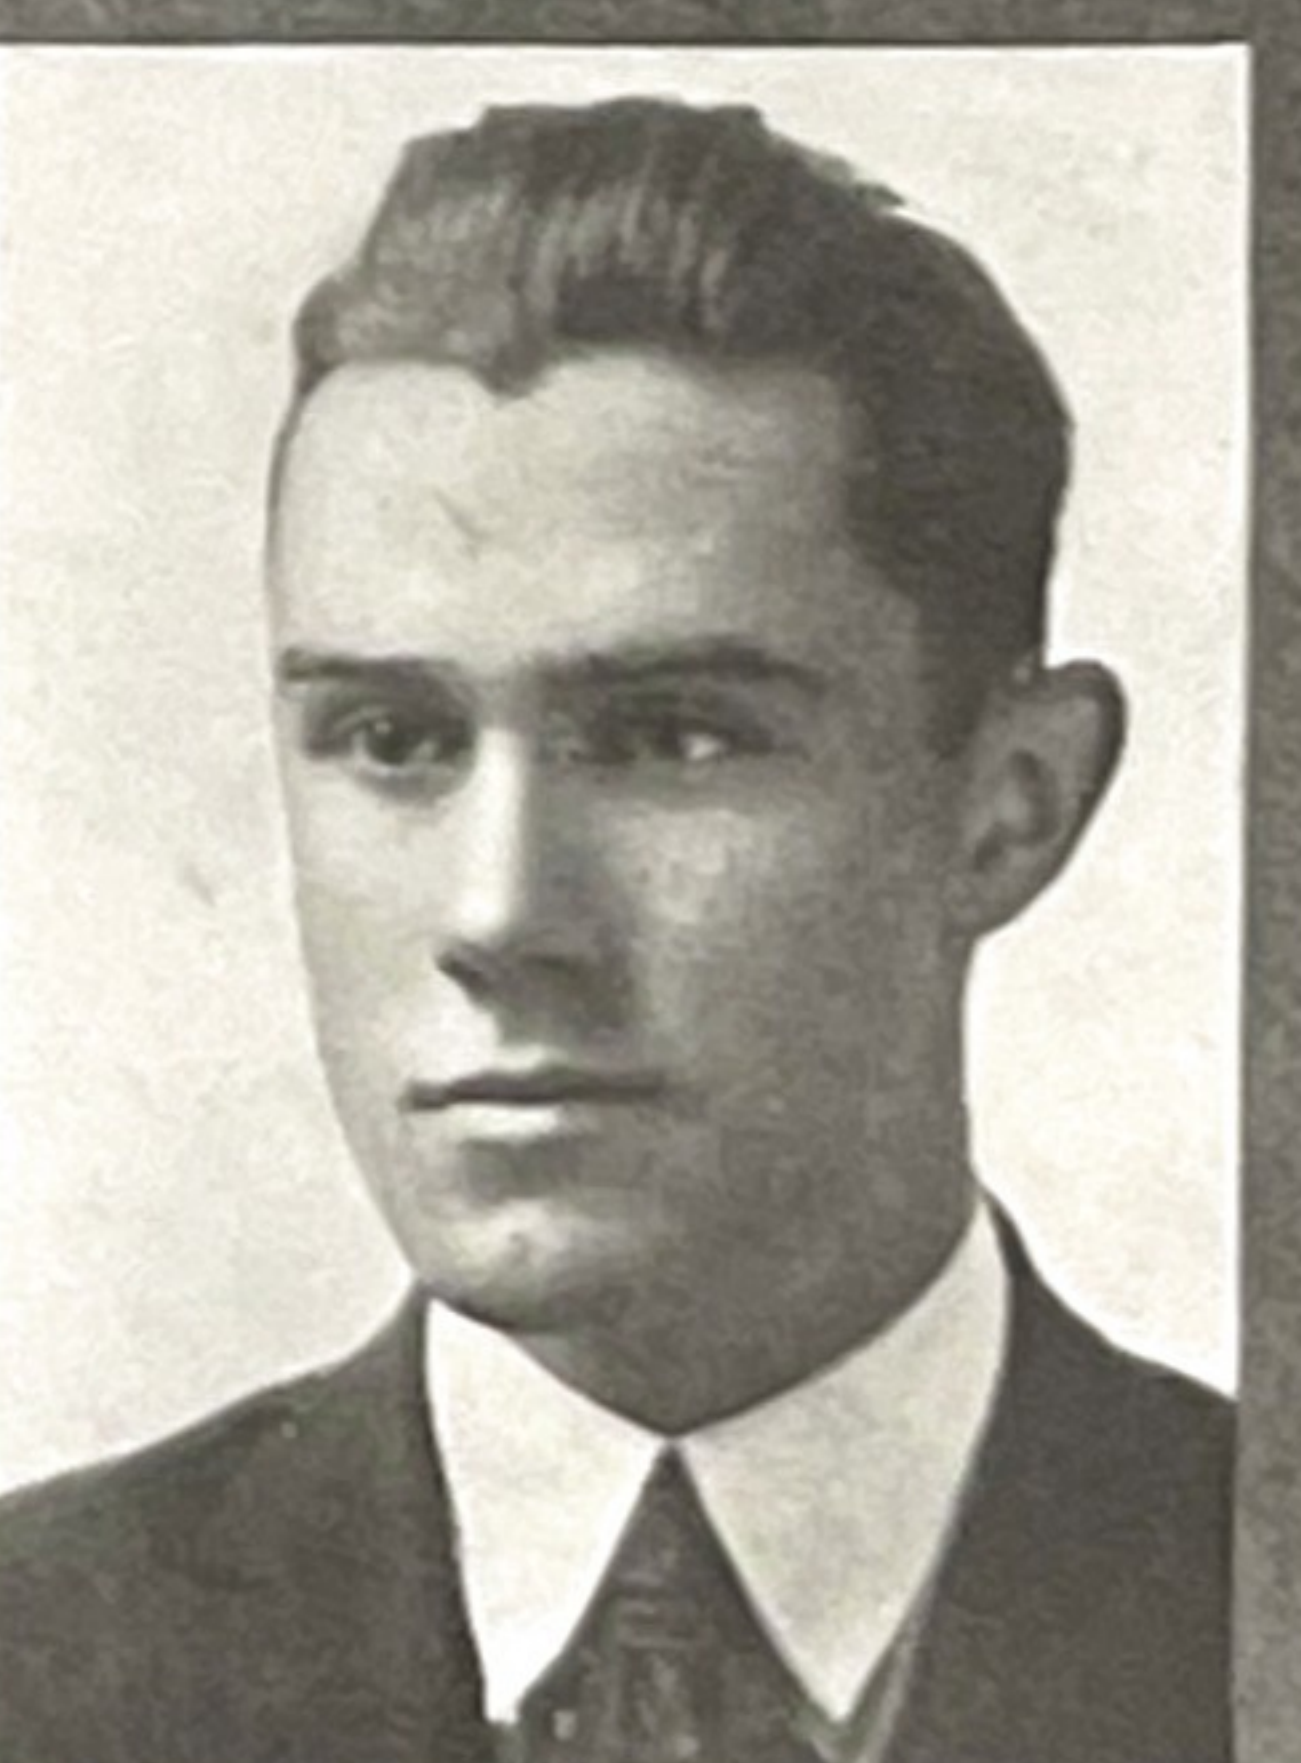

This lad has, without the shadow of a doubt, done his share to uphold the old Central standard. Couple with his athletic achievements, his position as Business Manager of the BRECKY, and you have a man whose list of achievements is surpassed only by his predecessor, Nappy Bonaparte.

RAYMOND CHRISTIAN MOFFETT
Captain Co. K, '19
Review Staff

Here is that good-looking boy that believes in shining wherever he goes. For proof, ask any of his teachers or any of the girls will tell you about his dancing. He intends to continue shining at some law school, for his ambition is to be a patent attorney.

HUGH BISHOP MONTGOMERY
Editor-in-Chief of the BRECKY
Basketball "C," '18-'19

Hugh is a finished actor on the spoken stage, but nobody sees how he does it. He is the acknowledged wit of the 1919 class, the peerless comedian of all time. His ambition is to go into the movies.

BEVERLY EOFF MOODEY
Second Lieutenant of Co. A

Bev, through hard work, will succeed in graduating in June. His greatest ambition is to become an engineer, but—he does not intend to neglect the ladies. We notice that now, as most of his time is spent with them.

ARMAND MALCOLM MORGAN
Vice President of the Rifle Club

"Get-By" came to us in February, 1916. Since then he has been getting by pretty regularly. He is making a very creditable record on the rifle team, spending most of his spare time in this interest. We suspect that he aspires to be "Admiral of the Navy" some day. Well, here's wishing him luck.

FOSTER MORRELL
Brecky

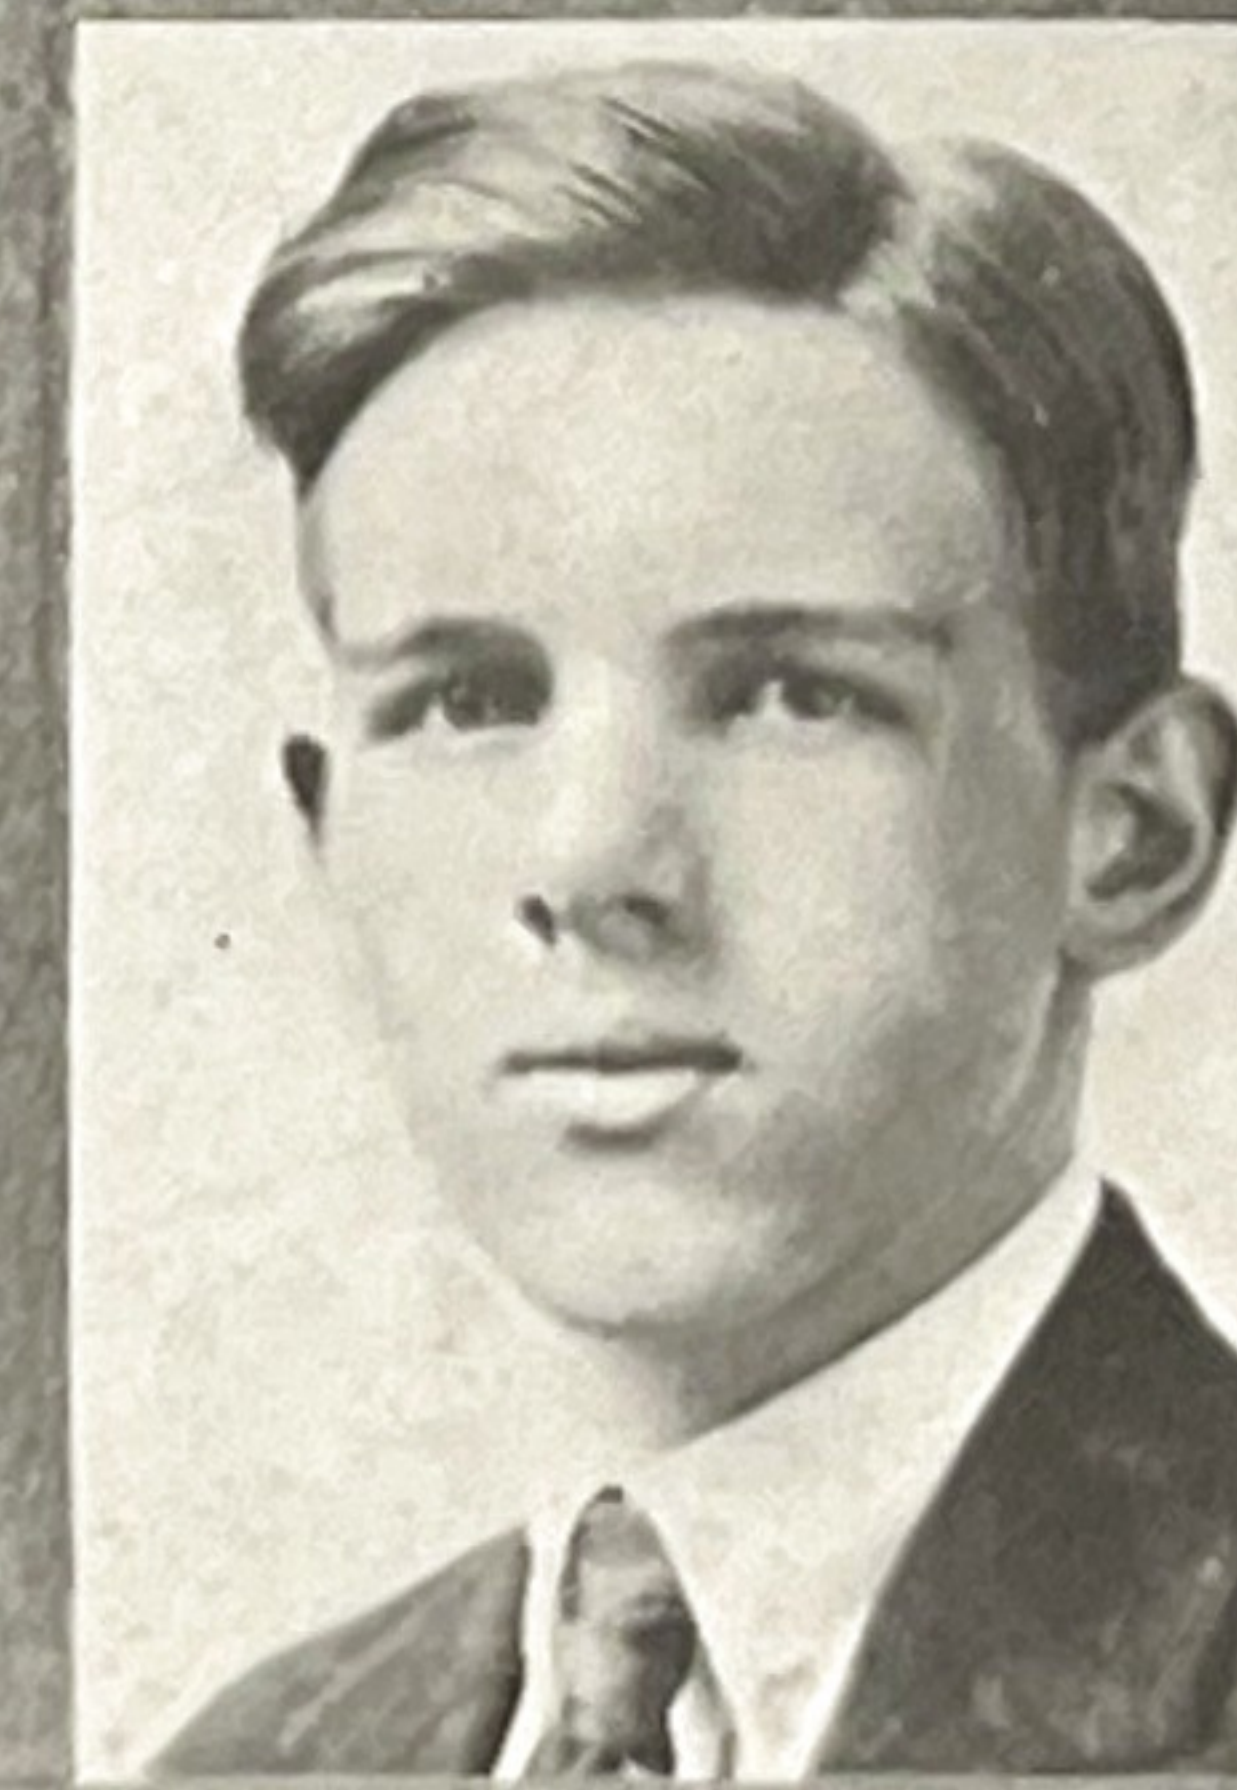

A gay young cavalier who stands ace high with the ladies, especially "The Lady of Shal-lot!" He looks dignified but doesn't play the part. He doesn't like books for their own sake, "Doncha know?" His ambition is to go to England.

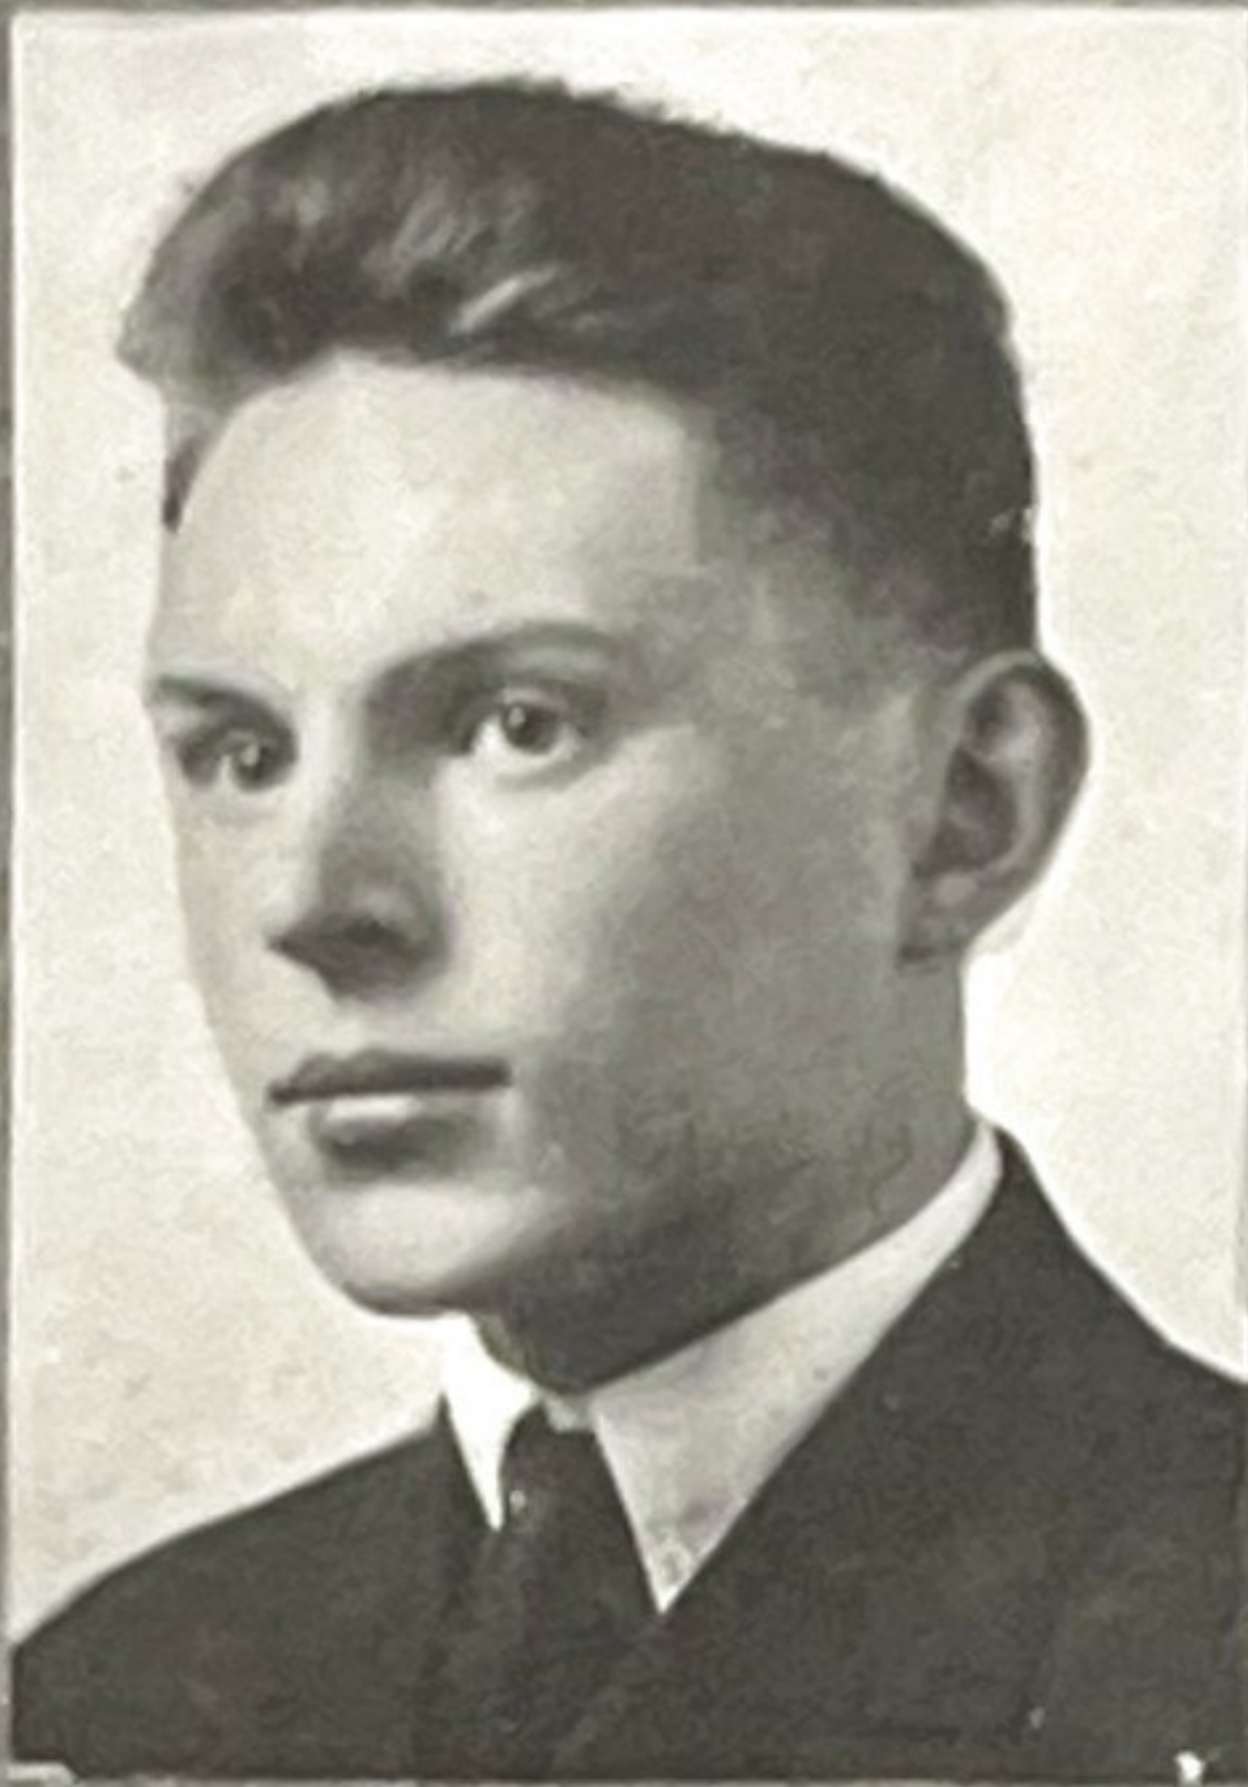

ROBERT MILLS MORRIS
*Adjutant, Second Battalion, '19
Rifle "C," '16 and '17*

Robert's ambition is to become an expert "Gunman!" Robert is a great shot. In fact, the word professional is the only thing that kept him from being the captain of the Rifle Team. He is very hospitable and always ready to help a friend.

DAISY MAE MOSER
Daisy, oh, Daisy in Central High,
You are so little and bright of eye!
Your aspirations are mighty high,
But we know you will write books by-and-by!

EDWARD DODGE MURPHY
Manager of Track, '19
"Ed" came to us late in our Junior year, having spent his first two years at Georgetown Prep. He has worked long and hard on the track to earn his "C." His ambition is to graduate.

DONALD POWELL MURRAY

"Children should be seen and not heard," is his motto. He is so modest, in fact, that never has there been brought to light an instance of his expressing voluntarily an idea or opinion of any sort in class.

PAULINE NAGEL

Here do we espy the most valuable rooter in the school! Can you imagine a game without Pauline's encouraging shriek? She is also noted for great volubility. But since she usually has something to say, we do not object to this habit, in fact, it constitutes her chief charm!

VIRGINIA NETHERLAND

Jinks has so far established herself in the good graces of our librarian that she is now Miss Mann's best assistant, and enjoys complete freedom from all work in that direction. As to her future, she wavers between librarian, stenographer, and cartoonist.

ALVA REGINA NEVILLE

We have with us—a champion typist,
A stenographer, one of the brightest.
Her ambition, however,
Is to teach—not forever—
So here's to success of the finest.

ERIC MCGEE NEWCOMB

*Captain of Rifle Team
Rifle "C"*

Gold Medal outdoor rifle champion of D. C. High Schools, '18

Introducing our Assistant Professor of Math.! He believes that variety is the spice of life, having swum in every place from the Rhine to the Pacific.

VICTORINE GARTH NICOL

She came to us in our Junior year and ever since we have been sorry that she could not have come sooner. A sweet, quiet, lovable little Virginia girl, whom Central will miss long after she is gone. Next year she expects to go to Hollins College.

DOROTHY NICHOLS

Dorothy's ambition is to be an able teacher, and for this she has worked hard during her Central life. She is a favorite among her companions, and is loved by all for her willingness to help others.

MARY LOUISE NINDE

Louise hailed from "Ole Virginia." She loves to boss, but doesn't often get a chance. She is tall, thin, and good-looking, and likes music, athletics and Latin. Louise's ambition is to teach when she finishes school.

RUTH NORMANDY

Scholarship

One of Central's finest girls comes from Takoma Park; and even the excellent (?) car service does not dampen her high spirits. She always is "right there" in her studies and pleasures, and some time Central will be very proud of Ruth.

GERTRUDE NORRIS

Gertrude is one of those people who believe in getting ahead. That's why she only carries three subjects this year. Besides studying, she can dance and smile "an' everything." Next year she is going to the University of Nebraska.

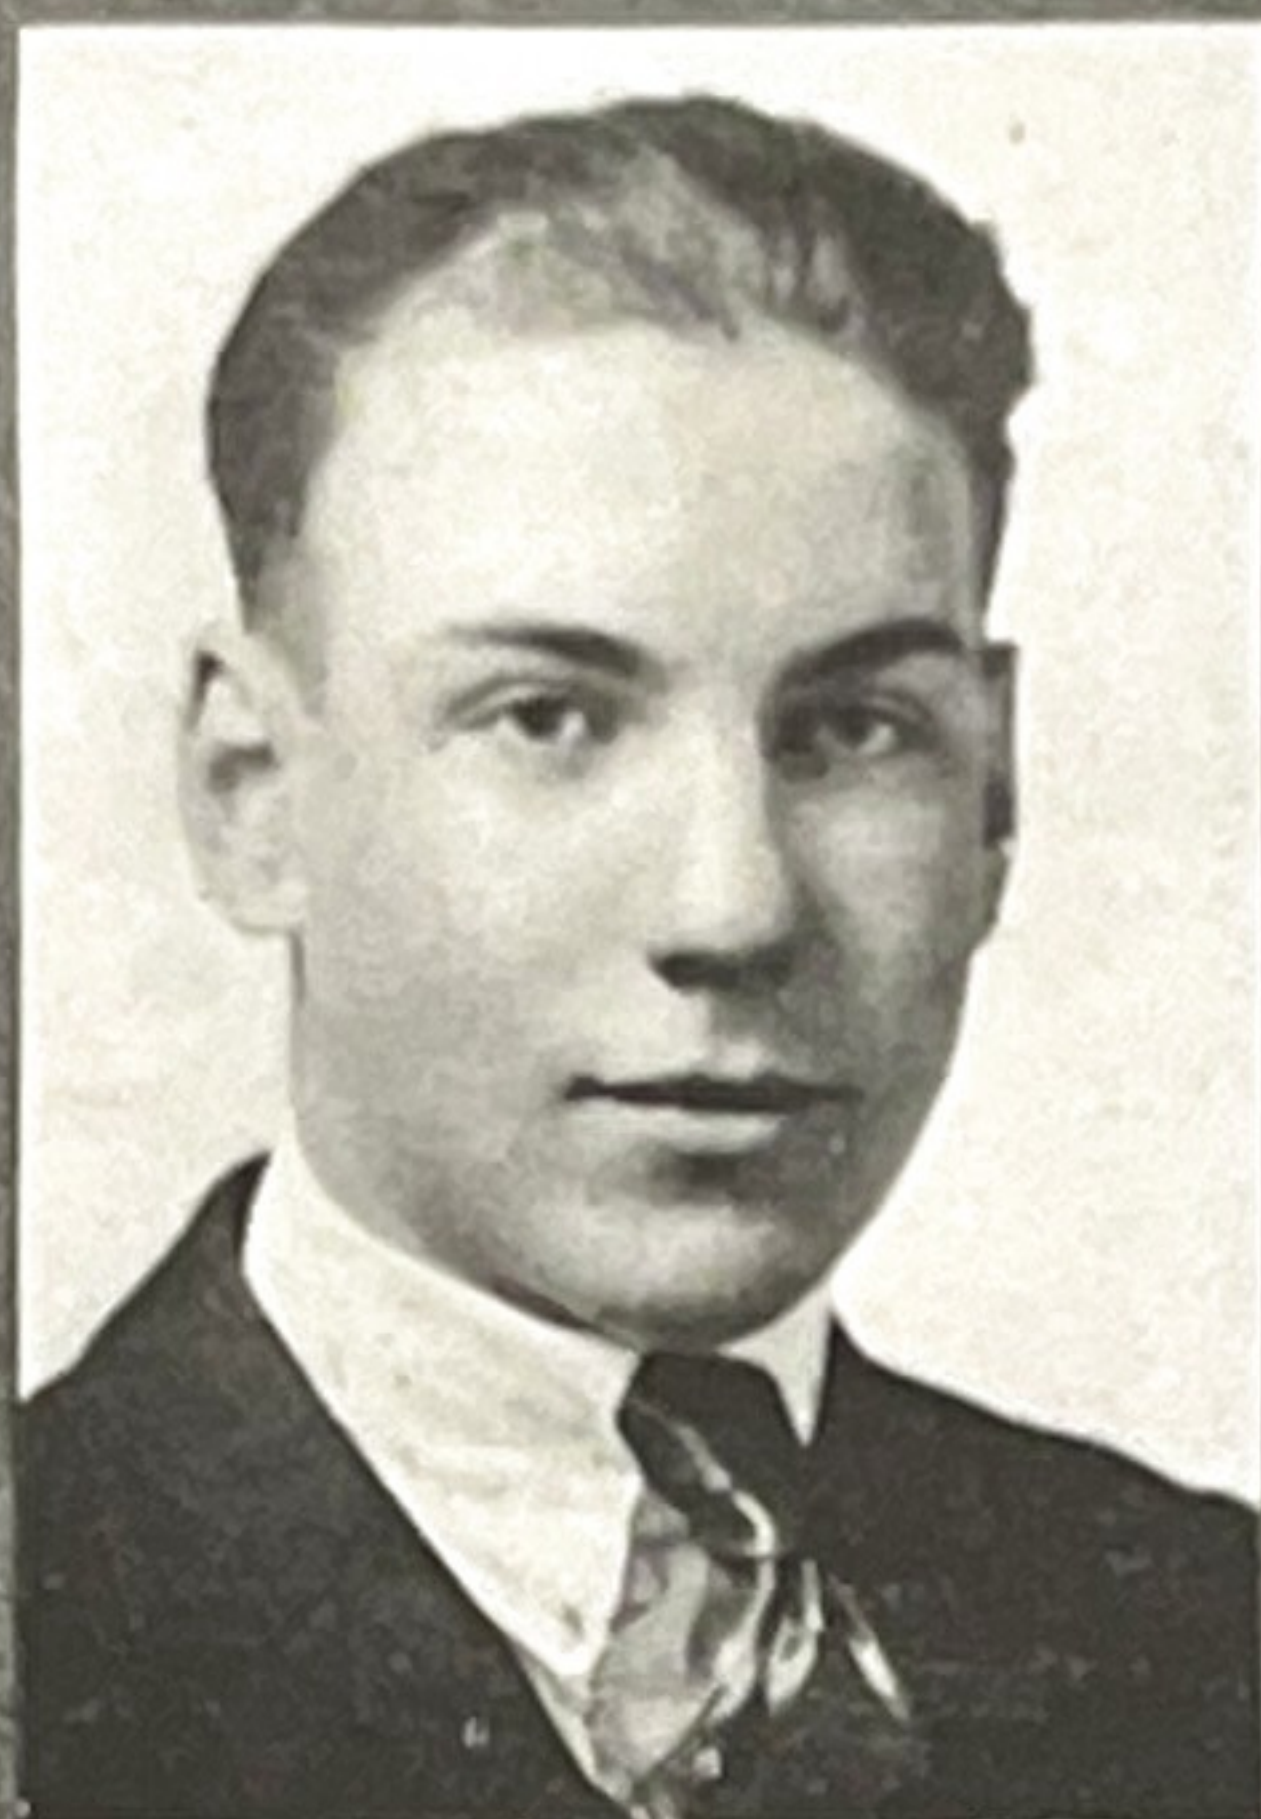

LUCY ELIZABETH NOTTER

Lucy has been a good friend to everybody in the class, but she surely does believe in working hard. She has good marks, and there is no doubt in our minds that she will be great some day. Her ambition is to be a stenographer in the French language.

ANNA DORIS O'CONNELL

Patsie is one of the reasons why everybody likes the Irish. Her sweet personality has endeared her to all her classmates. Should she follow her favorite work, there would be lots of folks who would say, "I don't want to get well."

GEORGE OPENSIAW
Second Lieutenant of Co. M

When he entered Central in February, 1916, he was very green, but he immediately recognized the exceptional worth of the 1919 class and determined to graduate with them. He took physics, and established a reputation for blowing out fuses, thus creating his ambition to study electrical engineering.

MARJORIE PALMER

"Marj," as she is best known to us, has made many friends at Central. Her care-free spirit and lovable disposition have made her a favorite with all. Her ambition is to go to a college "as far from home as possible."

MARION MALLET OVERMAN

This student of the '19 class has distinguished himself in the drafting department of this school. He has decided to follow this vocation, and after a course in Boston Tech he is going to be a draftsman in Cramp's Ship Yard.

HELEN PARKE

Swimming "C," '17
Art Editor BRECKY, '19
Review, Art Committee, '18
BRECKY Art Committee, '18
We all love Helen, especially those who have heard her "Rhees-cite" her fifty-seven varieties of cuteness. When her accomplishments, swimming and dancing, fail to rope in an admirer, she falls back on her dimples, which never fail. Her ambition is to paint like Maxfield Parrish.

ELOISE PADGETT

We have all been impressed by her kindly heart, her quiet voice and polite words and manners; her hand open to help, attention to little things for the comfort of others, and above all her supreme excellence,—simplicity. Her ambition is to have a good position as a stenographer.

NATALIE LEO PARTON

Scholarship
Her policy is to dig deep into the mines of learning, since she came from Scranton, Pennsylvania, a mining town. A four-year course at Central is going to be followed by Normal and College. After all this, she hopes some day to be a writer—a poet, perhaps.

DONALD GILLIS PATTERSON

He decided to forsake the bleak New England coast for a sunnier clime, which explains his presence in the Central flock. Soon he expects to brave once more the rigors of the North in pursuance of a course at Dartmouth.

SYLVIA ERWINA PAYNE

Sylvia, one of our speed artists in typewriting, has been with us through four years, during which time she has made us love her by her pleasant, winning ways. This bright and studious maiden hopes to become a private secretary.

MILTON MORTON PERLMAN

Scholarship

First Lieutenant of Co. I, '19

"Tots" Perlman, the smallest graduate of '19, is a veritable Math. "shark." His ambition is to become a famous civil engineer and construct a bridge across the Atlantic. Here's wishing him success!

ALICE VIRGINIA PETAR

Alice learned the error of her ways just in time to have her senior year with us. Eastern was fortunate to have her for three years. As a social secretary she will be a joy forever. Her ambition is to be a writer.

ARLETTA HESTER PHILLIPS

Scholarship

Review Staff

Here is a true Centralite. Phil belongs to the Dramatic Association, Review staff, and Girl Scouts, and is an enthusiastic basketball "fan." Her greatest ambition is to have a "Grecian" nose and to go to Ohio State University. Art? Raphael and Bud Fisher are back numbers now.

TERESA PITTIER

Teresa, of the Spanish eyes, has such a fascinating manner of conversation that she wins for herself many friends. When she says, "My dears, it was perfectly tense," we know that she has had the time of her life. Her ambition is never to get any fatter than she is now!

ELLIS HALSTED PLATT
Major of the First Battalion, '19
 The major of the 1st Battalion is a boy who successfully finishes anything he undertakes. After leaving Central he expects to go to Lehigh and become a civil engineer. He will, undoubtedly, be a well-known engineer. Keep an eye on Major Platt.

EUGENIA MADGE PLUMB
 Eugenia Plumb comes from Michigan, the state Ford made famous. Barring this defect, she is one of the finest girls we know. Though she came only this year we love her. Next year she hopes to attend Smith College.

EVELYN CONSTANCE PRESCOTT
Brecky Staff
Vice-President of the Athletic Association
 Oh, yes, Evelyn was on time once! She thought school began at nine, but it turned out to be nine-thirty. What if she does get her dates mixed occasionally? Such a dizzy blond can get away with anything, and Evelyn is a "five-reel feature." Her ambition is to be a globe-trotter.

FAY PUTNAM
 Miss Fay is stately and fair,
 With blue eyes and pretty light hair;
 She has friends by the score,
 And she'll have many more,
 This "lass with the delicate air."

BLANCHE AILEEN RADELFINGER
 If brains and hard work spell success, Blanche is sure to succeed. They certainly have succeeded in her high school life. She knows more about history and French than inventors of the same.

JANET RANSOME
 Janet came to Central in 1915. Last year she left Central to go to the National Service School, and in the summer helped the country by farmeretting. She intends to study landscape gardening. Good luck, Janet!

VAN WYCK REED

Van Wyck Reed was born in India, where his father was dredging a river. In 1907 they returned to the United States. Before coming to Central, he attended the West Philadelphia High School. Being good-natured is a habit with him. His ambition is to be a civil engineer.

RUTH ISABELLE REPERT

Ruth, called "Rufus" by those who know her best, is jolly, good-natured and lovable. She is always ready for a good time and is, in every sense of the word, a "regular girl."

ROBERTA SUSAN REVERCOMB

Dear, sweet Bert, although one of the smallest graduates, was always filled with big ideas about making others happy. Her two hobbies are English and—smiling. Being a very ambitious little person, Bert is graduating in three and one-half years. Her ambition is to be an author.

LUCY FRANCES REYNOLDS

Yes, this is Frances. She is quiet (?) and being gifted with a natural sweetness of disposition, she is the kind of girl we call a loyal friend. "Rennie" plans to join the band of pedagogues. We have our doubts, honey!

HAROLD ELLIS RHAME

Manager of Rifle Club, '19

"Sawbones" contrives to leave us a semester sooner than the usual four years. He has made a creditable record here since January, 1916, and we are sorry that his ambition shortens his stay. His interests are in germs and fevers, so we give him up to the world of medicine and wish him luck as an M.D.

THOMAS BROWN RHODES

A professional joker who has missed his calling! He should have been an orator. He's always having a good time at somebody else's expense but a gude felawe's a gude felawe for a' that. His ambition is to write a joke book.

CLARE RICHARD

Clare may not have a fickle disposition, but—"Variety is the spice of life." Although she makes many new friends, she never loses any old ones. We think that Clare's graduation is the only thing that hasn't "embarrassed her."

MARY HUME RICHARDSON

True to her name, Mary is quite contrary at times, but more often she is jolly and full of fun. She has great ability in many lines, and we expect great things of her in the future.

RAYMOND LESTER RISSLER

He intends to become a chemical engineer in the future. During the last summer's vacation he was employed as an assistant at the Chemical Warfare Experiment Station at the American University, gaining experience for his future occupation. He will attend George Washington in further preparation.

RICHARD EDWARD ROBERTS

Roberts is sorely oppressed by eight older sisters. Is there anyone who will relieve him? He has strange visions of engineering as a future occupation.

NATHAN WOOD ROBERTSON

"Nat" is one of those fellows who says little but does much. "Bill" Foley is depending on him to do the hurdling and the pole-vaulting for us. The best of luck to you, boy! His ambition is to go to West Point.

JEANNETTE ROD

Quiet! She looks it, eh? But no—she is not as quiet and serious as she looks. Throughout her sojourn at Central, Jeannette may have been seen each Monday in one of Mr. Hoover's major music classes. From this we gather that our friend is going to become a great musician.

HORTENSE MARGARET ROOME

Did you ever hear of a minister's daughter who could flash her big, dreamy brown eyes very mischievously, and yet be true to her name? Well, that's Peggy! She is full of pep, too, and has made loads of friends during her course at Central. Her ambition is to be an interior decorator of a cozy home.

HARRY MCKENZIE ROPER

Scholarship
Captain of Company E, '19
Treasurer of Athletic Association
BRECKY Staff
Review Staff

Here is the brightest satellite of the class. He can do anything from getting all "E's" to driving an automobile sixty miles an hour. He believes in having a good time before going to West Point. His ambition is to be a Major General.

BETSY ROSS

As her name implies, Betsy Ross is intensely patriotic and is greatly attached to West Point and its gallant young cadets. She enjoys fun as much as anyone. Tell her a joke and she will laugh, but has she seen the point? Ask her. Her ambition is to be a grand opera star.

MINNETTE HONNER RUDDIMAN

A girl much admired by her friends, everywhere known as "Minnette." No one would forget her, as she is a very pretty blonde. She is always looking for something exciting, other than at school. Everybody wishes her the best of luck after graduation.

ELIZABETH MARGARET RUPPERT

Here is one of the great stars in basketball, also quite a mathematician. She expects some day to impart this latter knowledge to young hopefuls. If she teaches as well as she plays basketball, she will be a success.

EDITH MARIE RUSSELL

Marie has that rare combination, beauty and brains. She has been with us for two years and has made many lifelong friends. Her social accomplishments include a charming voice, and grace of movement in interpreting the latest dances.

ERIN SAMSON.
Scholarship (All E's)

A member of the aristocracy of interesting people at Central, literary light, E-profitier, movie connoisseur, boarding-house refugee, rabid Ibsenite, temperamental comma-omitter, future French academicienne, destined writer for the Comédie Française.

FRANKLIN SARTWELL
*Second Lieutenant of Co. F, '19
Bulletin Staff*

The end of Frank's school days are not the termination of instruction in the line of work he has cut out for himself. He is going to New York, where he is soon to become a very prominent man in the newspaper world.

CARL ERNEST SCHAFER
Baseball "C," Captain, '19

"We have with us today, ladies and gentlemen," a specimen which should interest all Centralites. As a student it is a good example to follow because, first, it studies its lessons very Ernest-ly, and second, it has been the mainstay of the baseball team for the last three years, and is its captain for the coming one. Look it over!

MILDRED JEANNETTE SCHLOSBERG

There's a devilish twinkle in her eye and so much mischief under her dusky locks that we fear for Normal School when she goes there. Although she doesn't neglect her studies, she has a mighty good time. Is it any wonder?

WILLARD SAXTON SEWARD
Review Staff

"Sax" came to Central with this Senior class. He stayed for two years, and then went away to school. He came back this year to finish at Central. Quiet and hard-working, but, oh, what a ladies' man!

MARGARET SHAEFFER

Margaret came from New York two years ago. Although she is quiet in appearance, we soon found her to be breezy. Whatever her ambitions, we feel sure that she could sail through this world on her sunny disposition.

SADYE SHAPIRO

Sadye is one of the new members of our class. Of her loyalty to Central you may be sure. Her greatest ambition is to finish a college course (one of those colleges where you have breakfast in bed), and then settle down to the gay life of a school teacher.

SYLVIA MAYE SHAPPIRIO

If you see a girl flitting through the corridors in the latest creations, it's "Syp." Her witty remarks and dare-devil tricks always keep us smiling, so if she decides to be a comedienne instead of a prima donna—good luck, Syp!

DAVID ROBERT SIMON

Second Lieutenant of Co. D

"Dave" has been with us for four years and has always upheld his end. He aspires to enter the University of Virginia and make his mark. We all admire Dave, for he's a jolly good fellow.

HUGH STEWART SMITH

Review Staff

H. Stewart Smith always "knocks 'em cold" when it comes to dancing and playing the piano, not to mention his summaries of all the latest plays. We are not certain as to his ambition, but we think it is to own a theater.

NELLIE OLIVE SMITH

There never was in all the world a girl quite like Nellie. Until one knows her, he never would guess the amount of talent stored up, waiting for the opportunity for expression. Here's hoping, Nellie, that you will soon star among the world's greatest singers.

WILLIAM LEON SMYSER

Captain of Co. F

Bill has always been one of us, and we hope that he always will be. Some day we expect to see him on the Supreme Court bench with others from Central. Good luck to you, Bill!

WILLIAM BORING SNOW
Scholarship

William Boring Snow was born in California, where he went to school before coming here. He intends to go to Leland Stanford University after graduation. He is surprisingly young for a senior, being only fifteen. His ambition is to be an electrical engineer.

HOWARD MIDDLETON SOMERVELL
Scholarship
Regimental Adjutant

Howard worked for his saber in the Cadets and gained it as Regimental Adjutant. His motto throughout life being "Success and confidence in each undertaking," his future career as a naval constructor promises to be brilliant. Keep an eye on Captain Somervell!

ANNA REGINA SPARKS

Ann is sweet, lovely and shy,
She ne'er looks a boy in the eye!
She jumps out of bed on the last stroke of eight,
And that is the reason she's always late.

GEORGE BENJAMIN SPEIDEL
First Lieutenant of Co. B
Brecky Art Committee, '19

A tall lad, nobly planned for hitting ceilings! We wish that we could show a full-length, but it would take a page. He also stars in English, in Math., and with the little girls. He is going to be a minister.

JOHN CONSTANTINE SPURR
Swimming "C," '18, Captain, '19
Football "C," '18

Although born in Turkey, Jack is a fine specimen of "Young America," a fine fellow, and a true Centralite. It is rumored that Jack's god-like, Grecian face and profile have caused many heart-breaks among the weaker sex.

MARGARET LUCILLE STANCILL
Brecky

Lucille has always been a roamer, but she started from Ohio. Her nature is as bright and sunny as her hair, but oh, what a temper! Her highest ambition is to learn to dive.

THELMA STANCILL

Brecky

Thelma is "little but nervy," having been in Central for three years she is very enthusiastic over everything—except the studies. Her chief desire is to graduate in four years.

CHRISTINE CECELIA STEINMETZ

She's one of the sweetest, brightest, most accommodating girls at Central. She will do anything for a friend. She is a real "merry Christmas" with her cheery smile. Her greatest ambition is to be an expert stenographer.

WILLIAM HUBBARD STIMPSON

Debate, '19

Class Prophet

From being an unknown little "rookie" back in 1915, "Bill" has come to be one of the recognized "characters" in our class, even to the extent of having his "affaires d'amour" related at length in the Bulletin. His ambition is to be a well-known artist.

HENRY STANLEY STINE

Captain of Co. M, '19
Review Staff

"Dutch" has at last risen from oblivion to his place in the lime-light. Climbing flagpoles, rescuing drowning people and drumming have secured for him the necessary publicity. One of the few who play the double role of a student and "ace with the ladies;" he hopes to be a second John Marshall.

ANNA CECILIA STOHLMAN

Anna came to Central in her second year, and will not graduate with us as she would rather study subjects which do not allow her to receive a diploma. Her ambition is to become a stenographer, and we all wish her the best of luck.

ROSA DORA STONE

Rosa Dora's dark Spanish eyes and winning ways captivate everyone whom she meets. Having been faithful to her studies all along, her ambition is to win her way through the business world and then make a leisurely tour of the world.

DOROTHEA FURLAM STORCK

Dorothea is bright and spirited and might be said to be possessed of the little demon of mischief. She is one of Central's hidden dramatic geniuses, and some day Central will be proud of her when she makes her formal bow.

KATHARINE VIRGINIA SWETT

Swimming "C," '17

Though small, "Jinnie" has very decided ideas. She still persists that the tanks won the war. She is likely to put "Annette" out of business when it comes to swimming, and dance? Just start a jazz and watch her! Her ambition is to have a charge account at Huyler's.

ADA SWIGART

Ada, because of her supreme ability, is finishing her course in three years. She has been a shining star in the domestic science class, and, if you want to know how to make "tapioca cream," ask Ada.

LOIS TAYLOR.

A midget among Senior giants, yet as brainy as they make them; a star in—oh, lots of things—but in English, a whole constellation of stars: that's Lois.

HENRY TEMIN

Here is Henry Temin, who argued himself into the class of June, '19. As he is always ready to take either side of a debate, it is not surprising to learn that he is ambitious to become a lawyer. Try to argue with him.

RUTH THOMAS

"Her air so modest, her aspect so meek,

Yet so sweet are her charms." Although Ruth is very shy and quiet, volumes could not express her true disposition. So how can you expect us to tell it in forty words? Her ambition is to be a successful business woman.

LESLIE MORTIMER THOMPSON.

He is a good-natured young man with many unmistakably fine qualities. Laugh at him all you want to; he doesn't care. He is not so good-natured, however, that he will not stand up for his rights. "Better late than never," is his motto. His ambition is "to be something worth while."

RUTH AGNES THOMPSON

Ruth is an extremely quiet girl but with a smile and greeting for her many friends, she has won a warm place in our hearts. We are sure that in the days to come she will make us proud of her, no matter what work she takes up.

EMILY THOUR

Here's a young lady so gay,
She surely will have her own way!
To tell the whole truth,
There's many a youth
Who would in her service grow gray.

ABRAHAM MILTON TOLKINS

Doing the unexpected is one of his characteristics, for although born in Russia, he is not a Bolshevik. In spite of the fact that he flunked continuously in grammar at grade school, he completed his English in three years; and, greatest of all, although he has a Ford, he doesn't think that it is the best car made.

MARION SOUTH TRABUE

Review Staff

Bulletin Staff

"Polly, pretty Polly, Polly with a future."

Another three-and-a-half-year girl and a swimming leader; also of the Review and Bulletin staffs. But best of all, Marion is our dramatic star. "Polly" is going to be an actress and there's not a doubt in the world that she will be a success.

JEANNETTE TROTH

Jean is a cook by divinity made, and she hopes to cook somewhere all the rest of her life. She usually manages to get by in her other studies and have a little time for amusement, too.

ELEANOR AGNES TROTTER

Smile and be merry. That's El all over. Some Latin scholar! She has tried her hand at dramatics, basketball, and tennis, and her voice in the Glee Club. She says that perhaps she will go to Trinity College. At present her sole ambition is to meet its requirements.

MARY ELGIN TRUNDLE

"Always try everything once," is Mary's motto, so next year she is going to try college, where she hopes she will not meet her old Central friends, German and Geometry!

NORMA ROSALIND UNGER

Norma is a girl who is popular and loved by everybody. She is a great athlete and "some driver" of automobiles. We can not predict her future except that she is to be a physical training teacher. We are sure that she will succeed because she has already had experience in the athletic work of Central.

MARY GERALDINE VAN CASTEEL

Mary is not exactly "contrary," but she delights in opposing her opinions to others. In spite of the fact that she is the baby of her class, being only fourteen, she is an old hand at politics and debate, and it's "Mary on the spot" with facts. Her ambition is to be a writer.

BERNICE ADELAIDE VELEY

Bernice, the able captain of A7's basketball team, is a "regular girl." All who know her like her, especially her basketball girls, who owe much to her unceasing efforts.

ELIZABETH WADSWORTH

The friends of Betty will always regret that she was only at Central for two years. She has always been very popular with both the girls and boys.

ZOE WADSWORTH

Who said, "Can Zoe draw?" You bet! And you should see her cut "figure eights" on the ice! Zoe has been with us two years, and her motto has been: "Nothing is worth doing that is not worth doing well."

PAULINE GOLDIE WALLACE
Tennis "C," '17

Pauline is "Paul" to her schoolmates and "Goldie" to her intimate friends. She is the winner of a tennis "C." Her chief claim to beauty is her auburn hair. She is strong-willed, ambitious, and very accomplished.

ROBERT HARVEY WARREN

Robert is one of the boys who adheres to the principle of good fellowship. This jolly chap has always "got important business on hand." He is a fine fellow all around and the best of friends. His ambition is to be an inventor.

STANDISH WESTON
Review Staff

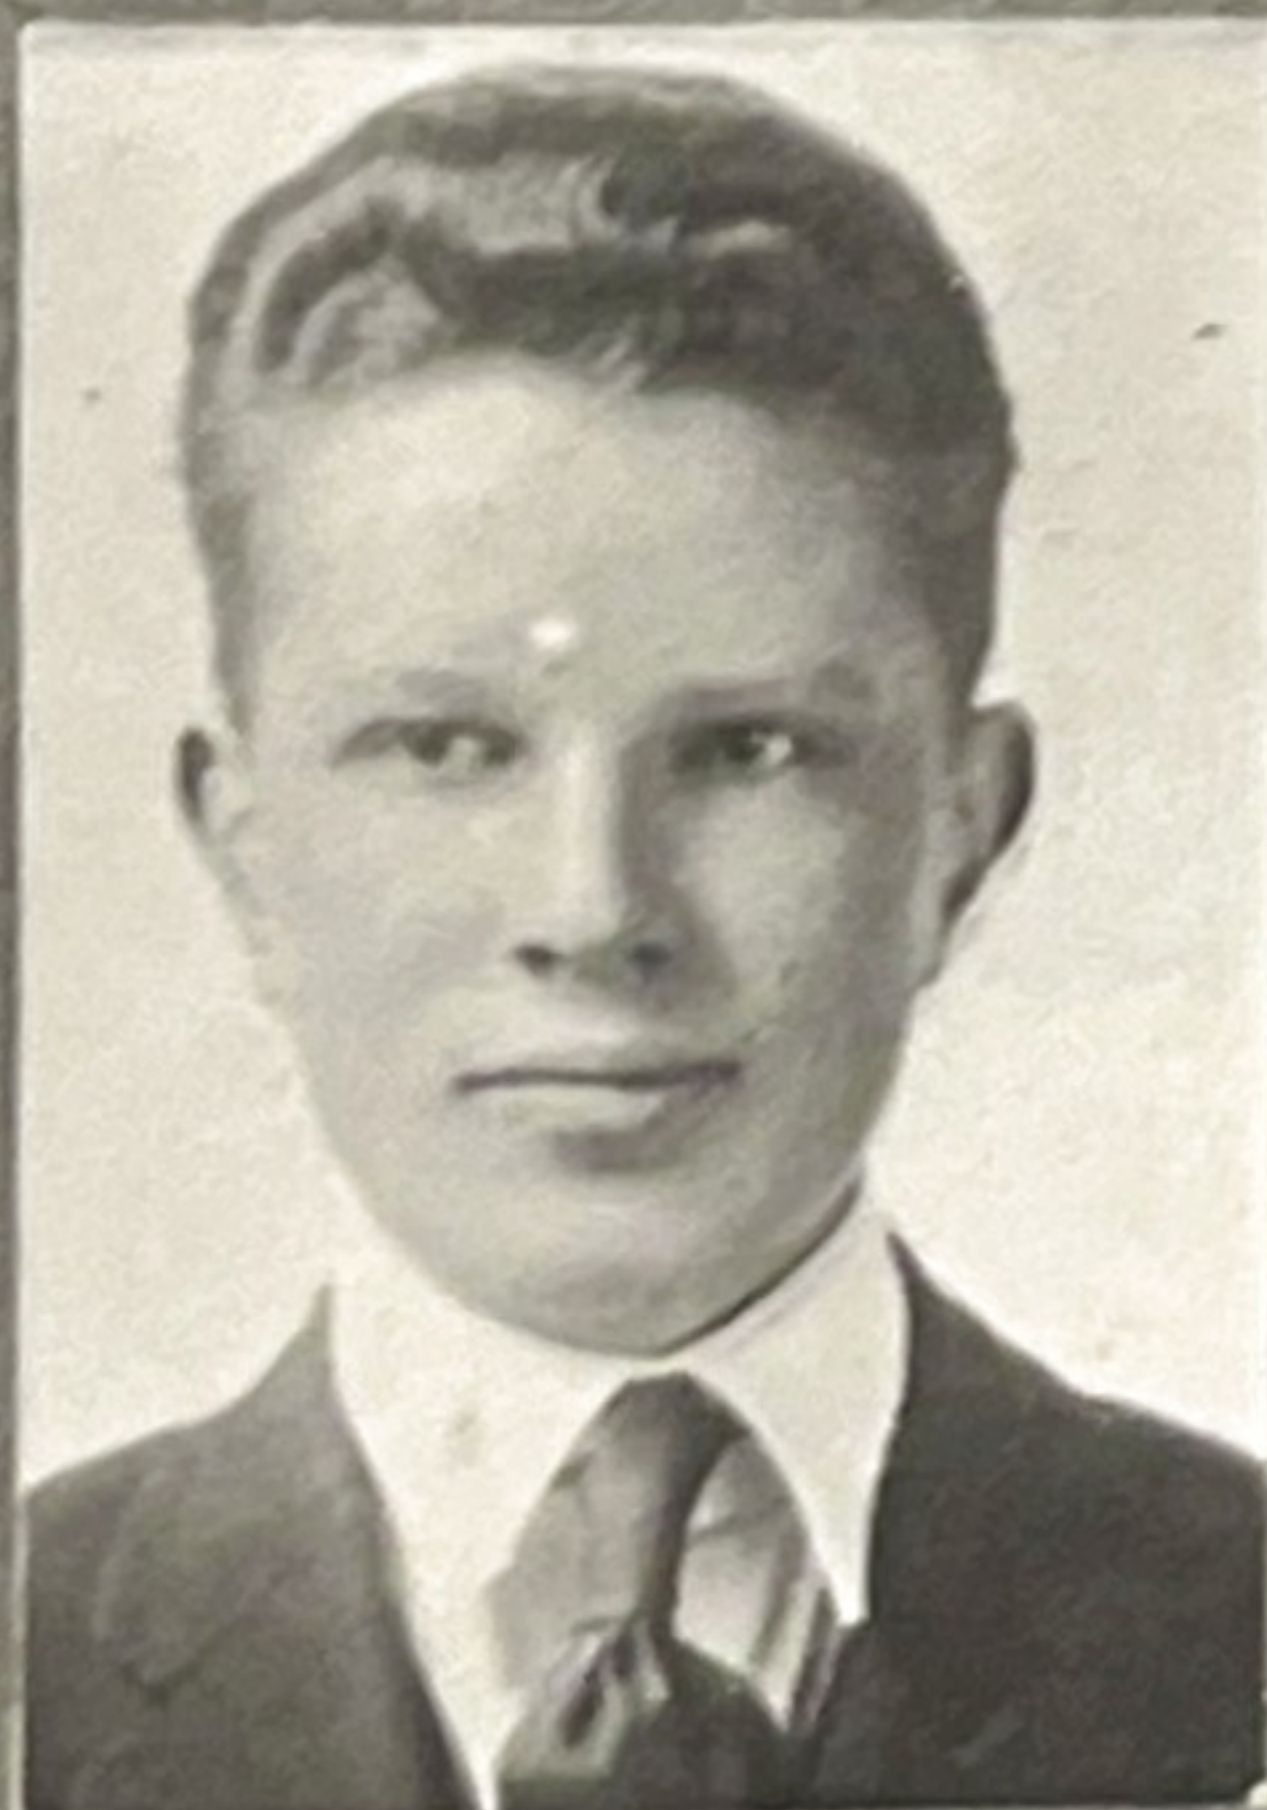

In the course of human events the above trickled into Old Central. Now he wears holes in the corridor floors of New Central, rustling Review business. His natal star predicts a course in engineering at Boston Tech.

CLARENCE BUSHROD WHALEY
Major of the Third Battalion

Step out of the way, people! Here comes "Majah" Whaley. We hardly know our old friend "Tuck," under the glittering epaulets, even though he is still the same jovial fellow. He's always the center of a buzz of conversation in Section Room. The "Majah" has been keeping something from us. He aspires to be an expert accountant.

ROBERTA MAE WHALEY
Scholarship

Roberta is one of our best. She takes six subjects in her Senior year and gets "E" in them all. "Whale," as she is known, says that her greatest ambitions are to go to college and then, — maybe — to teach school. But we think that a certain Prince will have something to say before that time.

ROBERT WAYNE WHEELER

Math. star, English star, Cadet star! This is some celestial body we have. Come around at noon and see him pour two bottles of milk into that grin of his, and you will see why Central loves him.

LOUISE ELIZABETH WILLIAMS

"A thing of beauty and a joy forever," Louise is one of the prettiest, most lovable girls in our class. She is a true and loyal friend, always thoughtful of others and forgetful of self. Her ambition is to go to college next year.

AGNES MITCHELL WILSON

Central has only seen Agnes for two years of her high school career. We who know her have never failed to notice her modesty. Her ambition is to go to Vassar, but she has no intention of becoming one of its shining lights.

RUTH WILSON

Ruth does not know what she intends to do after she leaves college, but we know what position in life a sweet girl like Ruth would best fill. We all wish her success in whatever career in life she may choose to follow. At present, her ambition is to pass the college entrance exams.

THOMAS BARNETT WILSON

"Aw! do it and don't talk so much," says "Tib." He follows his sermon to a "T" and even after he receives his degree from Johns Hopkins University and becomes a surgeon, that will be his motto.

ROSA GILLILAND WINGATE

Here comes little Rosie Looking like a posy! Rosa is always happy and fond of telling droll jokes to make people laugh. She is a versatile person, walks to school every day, plays the mandolin, and cranks a Ford. Her ambition is to go to the University of Nebraska next year.

DORIS MARGARET WOOD
Scholarship (All E's)
Winner of the Moran Scholarship Medal

This industrious member of our class graduates in three years and a half with a school record which speaks for itself. We scarcely need add that she is stamped with "sterling" from head to foot. Her ambition is to be a chemical engineer.

MARJORIE ELIZABETH WOODEN
Manager of Basketball, '19
Brecky

Marjorie's ambition is to be a director of girls' physical training. She is the most popular girl around the girls' gymnasium. It will not be long before the world hears from her.

EDITH ANN WRIGHT
For culture, talent, charm and grace,
Miss Edith takes the foremost place;
She's faithful, brilliant, thoughtful, sweet—
Just the kind of girl you'd love to meet!

RUTH CONSTANCE YEAGLE
Ruth is graduating in three and a half years, and considers high school a stepping stone to higher education. She enjoys her studies but finds time to participate in the social life of Central—especially the dances.

ELLEN SMILLIE YOUNG
Our blue-eyed Scotch lassie's chief pleasures are making friends, making fudge, and making eyes. A true-blue, steadfast, and never-failing friend, is "Smillie." Can she dance? Well, I should say so. Try her, boys, and see. Her ambition is to go to college.

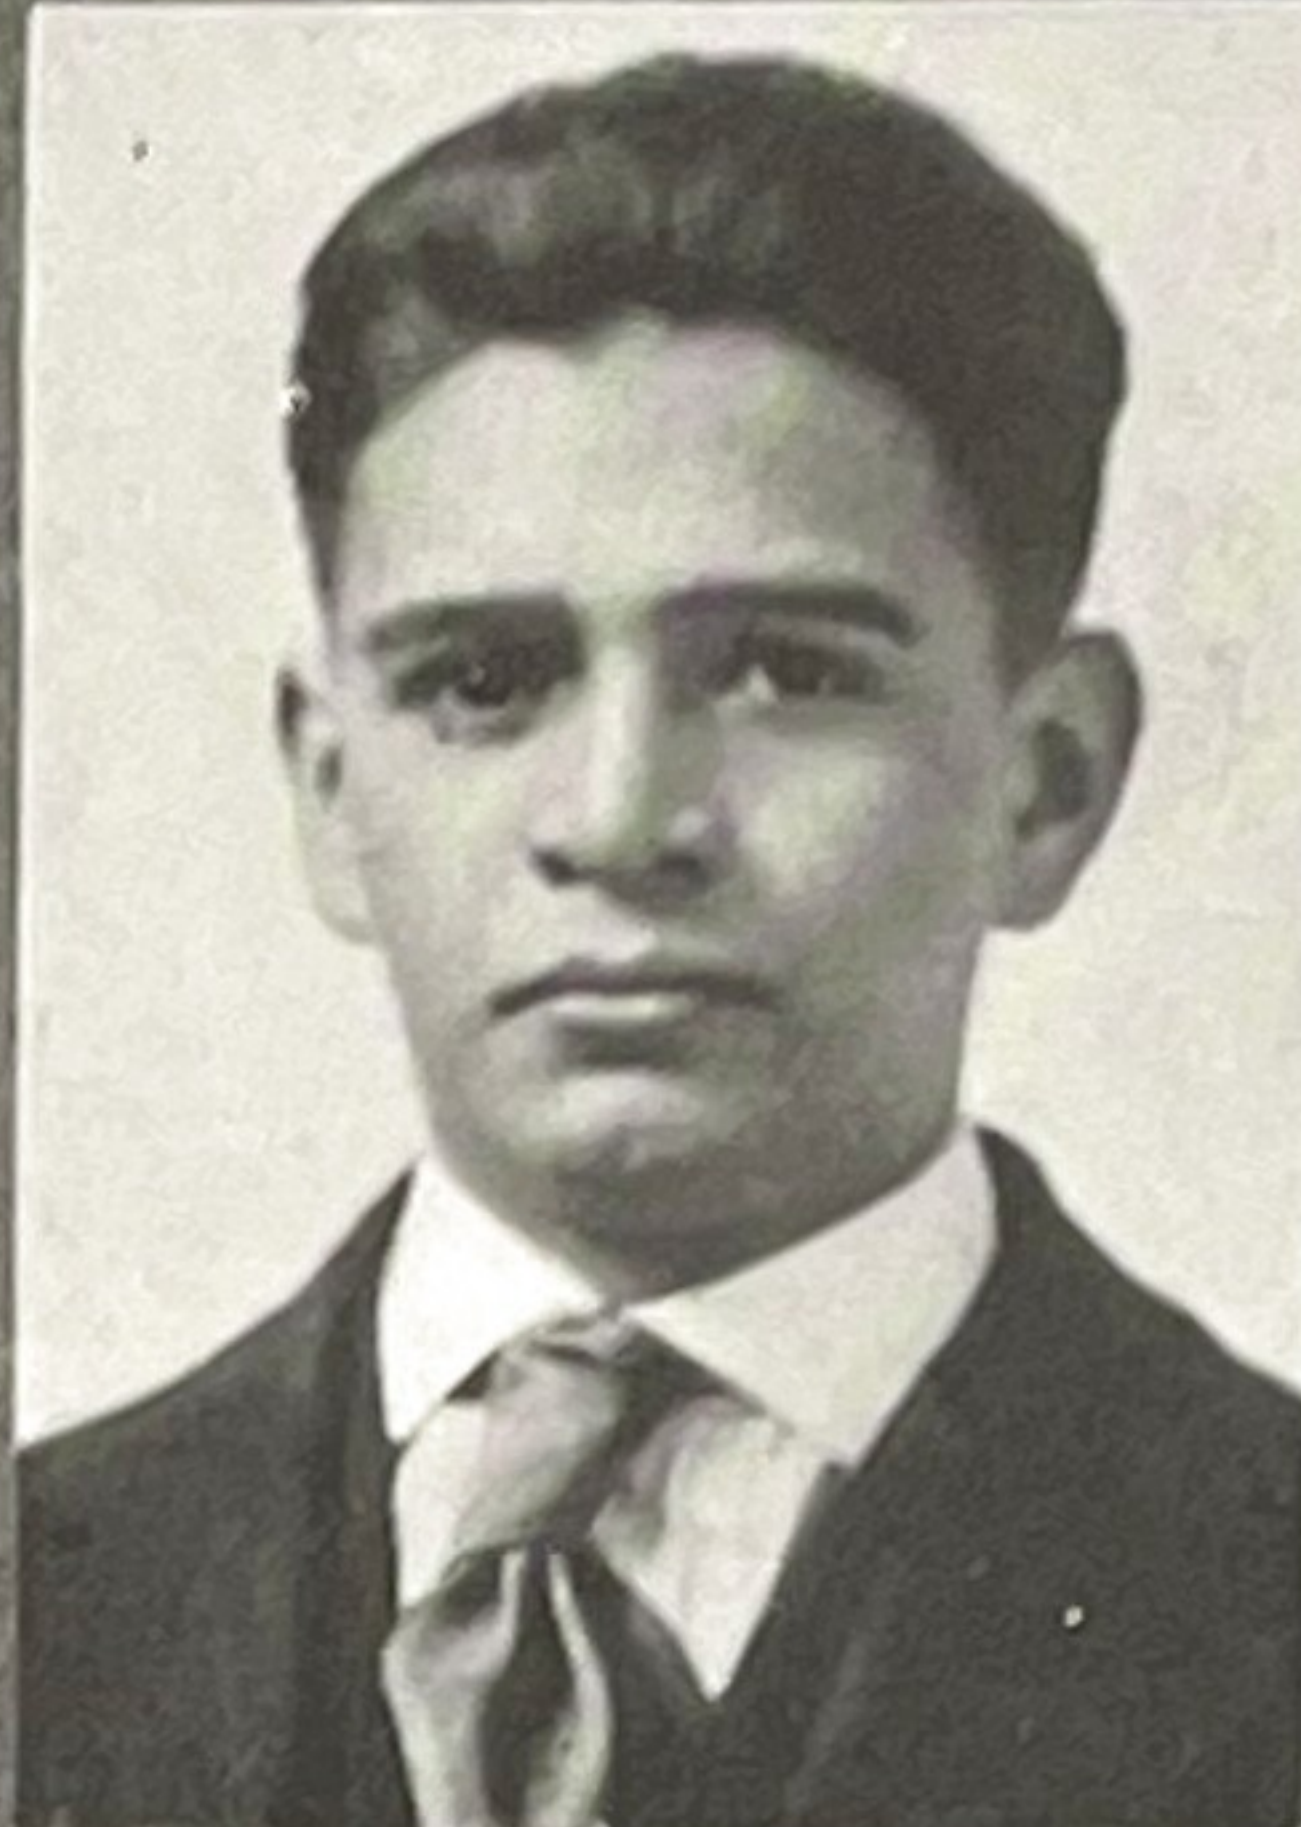

CATHERINE ANN ZACHARY
Catherine, a shy little country maiden, has been with us all the four happy years at Central. Although her first ambition was to become a school mistress, she now intends to specialize in Spanish.

WILLIS BALLINGER
Baseball "C," 1918

Bill is one of the men at Central. Studious, courteous, and, above all, sportsmanlike, he has made staunch friends among students and teachers. As an athlete, he typifies the spirit of the Old School in his consistent excellence.

GUMERCINDO GAMA
Swimming Manager

Not an Eskimo, but a son of our sister republic, Colombia. As full of fun as a dill pickle is of seeds, he meets a smile at every turn. Yes, perhaps he is a bit bashful as to the fair sex, but when it comes to swimming he is right on top. He may be little, but—! Here's to him!

DORIS WILHELMINA LANG-WORTHY

Doris wants to be an author. She is an unusually interesting talker, likes to read, and just loves to dance and have a good time. We all wish her success in her literary career.

June Valedictory

THE strict duty of a valedictorian is to bid farewell. I shall, for the last time here transgress the bounds of my strict duty. It is quite probable that those of you who have heard many valedictories before are expecting to hear of the tremendous problems which confront this graduating class. You think, perhaps, that too much importance is accorded to these questions. Yet they make all the difference between a good start, and a poor one, which, in turn, may make all the difference between success and failure later in life. It thus becomes apparent that too much attention cannot be given to the settlement of these problems. A good start will go a long way toward winning the race.

Great as have been the problems confronting previous graduates, I think that we can justly say that we are faced with harder questions to solve. The chaotic, unsettled condition of affairs at the present time has shattered all of the precedents which we might usually have as a guide. Now comes the real test for us who are to help meet these new and changed conditions. Are we able to face this state of affairs with confidence and success? In the future, as a part of a people upon whom rest great responsibilities, we shall be called upon to solve many and important questions. Of what value have the past four years been to us? Are we well equipped with the Hope, the Faith, the training so necessary to success?

Hope we would naturally possess. "Hope is the great attribute of youth," says Robert Louis Stevenson. We would not cease to hope no matter what storm-clouds hovered over the horizon.

Yet no matter how rich we may be in this possession, more than Hope is needed. Hope will prove of great assistance to us in our work—but Hope will not of itself attain the desired results.

We must have Faith. Faith is the possession of experienced years, yet is necessary. Faith of a certain type is ours, however, for we have Faith in our training. This Faith may not be all-embracing, it may not be the Faith of which Mr. Stevenson speaks, yet the Faith which we have in a proper beginning at Central is indeed a valuable asset. This Faith, coupled inseparably as it is with the training of Central, cannot but carry us over many of the reefs on which we would otherwise be wrecked.

Hope will start us right on the road, Faith will carry us along, yet without the training both would indeed be of slight avail. The training of experience is the most valuable kind of training, but it can only be gathered by actual contact with the world. In acquiring this type of training, however, the preliminary training will prove of great assistance.

We have been trained at Central, the school renowned for courage, loyalty and sportsmanship. We have been trained in the school, which, though sometimes defeated, has never been beaten. We have been trained in the school where victories are expected, and so often attained. Concentration and energy have been asked and given until we may well realize the prime importance of these factors. The actual amount of learning which we may possess varies—yet with the possession of these qualities for which Central is noted, the rest will come.

Hope we naturally possess. Faith is ours through Central; our training is from Central. What more need be said for it? Some will go to college, some will not, but wherever we may go, no matter how long we may stay, we will always hold in our memories this Commencement.

We may become noted, we may not, yet Central will always be in our memories. Misunderstandings and troubles fade into nothing as we think of this school and of what it means to us.

"We must depart, boys, each on his way,
But Central will stand, she'll stand for aye,
Bright star to guide us throughout the years.
Here's to Old Central, three rousing cheers!"

JAMES LEROY.

Print Shop Graduates, June, 1919

The Print Shop

THE Printing Department, since its inauguration into New Central in 1917, has made very rapid progress. With the installation of the large Miehle press, this year, we were able to handle completely the BRECKY, Review and Bulletin, besides the following other publications: The Balance Sheet, The Western Breeze, The Easterner, The Central Alumni Record, and the Bulletin of the Superintendent of Schools.

The pupils in the Print Shop have shown fine school spirit in the printing of our publications. The appearance of a school periodical is a great asset towards its success, and these pupils have always been willing to work overtime, and to aid in every way possible towards that end.

We have only accomplished so much in such a short time, through the untiring efforts of our instructor, Mr. Lawrence. The boys and girls of 1919, are proud to have been associated with him, and to have been "Central Printers."

The Seniors in the Print Shop, who have supervised the typesetting and makeup of the BRECKY are the Misses Frances Axtell, Adelaide Conard, Marguerite Joyce, Katherine Liebermann, Margaret McDonald, Louise McDowell, Lucille Stancill, Thelma Stancill, and Marjorie Wooden, and Messrs. Samuel Dodek, Waldo Girdner, Isadore Gordon, Morris Jaffe, and Foster Morrell.

A Message to the Graduating Class

The most important period of your life is the next several years. Your entire future success and happiness is largely contingent upon the decisions and steps you now make.

200% INCREASE IN SALARY

I am glad to say that the training received at Strayer's Business College has been of great value to me.

As evidence of this fact I may say that my salary is now more than three times what it was before taking up your course. J. E. Giles.

You can enter to advantage at any time. The best time to begin is now. Good positions are waiting for those who are thoroughly prepared to fill them. All that you need is a few months' special training and the Strayer influence. There is absolutely no risk to run in taking a course in a school that has had so many successful years of experience in training young people for business life—in a school where the demand is greater than the supply and increasing every year.

Strayer's Business College

Fully accredited by the National Association of Accredited Commercial Schools

Ninth and F Sts. N. W., Old Masonic Temple Bldg.

P. J. HARMAN, Principal

Those of you who will enter business should by all means consider, at least, what a course in Strayer's would do for you. A few months' special training will thoroughly qualify you to hold a much better position in business or Government employ. We can give you the names and addresses of former students who are now making from $5,000 to $10,000 a year.

Strayer's Business College has been located here in Washington for more than fifteen years. With this long record of successful experience, Strayer's has an ever-increasing reputation. To say that you are a graduate of Strayer's Business College gives you standing among business men and is an efficient help at all times in procuring a desirable position.

Strayer's Business College

Special Announcement

The Washington Business and Civil Service School is now owned and managed by Strayer's Business College.

Special Notice to High School Graduates :

The Washington Business and Civil Service School offers special inducements to High School Graduates taking up a course at this time.

25 per cent Reduction in Our Rates to the first 100 who enroll for our regular business course.

Mr. P. J. HARMAN, Principal

The man who opened Strayer's Business College in Washington, July, 1904, is now devoting his full time to the interests of this new school—where Strayer's methods and standards are now in effect.

The Demand for Skilled Workers in the Government service, as well as in the commercial field, is far greater than the supply. Never in recent years have the calls been so numerous for trained young men and young women.

Day School is in session five days each week, from 9:30 A. M. to 3:20 P. M., with an intermission of forty minutes at noon for luncheon.

Night School is in session Monday, Wednesday, and Friday evenings from 7 to 9:30 o'clock. We do not close either the Day School or Night school during the Summer. New students may, therefore, enter at any time in the year and continue their courses uninterruptedly until they have finished.

Whether you are anxious to enter Government or private employ, enrollment here will afford you a generous saving in tuition and the same thorough instruction that has made Strayer's the foremost commercial college of Washington, D. C.

"Eat a Plate of Ice Cream Every Day"

Ice Cream is both a dessert and a food. It pleases the palate and builds up the body.

The Dairy Council Says:

"A quart of Ice Cream has the same Food Value as a whole pound and a half of round steak, or a dozen and a half eggs, or four pounds of potatoes, or a whole gallon of oysters. So at the lowest cost Ice Cream gives you one of the highest food values known."

"Ice Cream is so easily digested that it is often the first food allowed to convalescents. Mothers now realize that Ice Cream is fine for growing children."

"Eat a Plate of Ice Cream Every Day"

We cannot make all the Ice Cream so we just make the best.

THE SAFEST INVESTMENTS

—are those that do not fluctuate during disturbed conditions of the money or stock markets. First deed of trust notes (first mortgages), well secured on real estate in the District of Columbia, constitute "gilt edge" investments, and they do not depend upon the financial responsibility of individuals or corporations for their stability. We can supply such investments in amounts from $500 upward. Send for booklet, "Concerning Loans and Investments."

NOTICE

¶ Without advertisements in this book, the cost to everyone would be more. As the cost at present is high, an increase in price would mean that many graduates would be obliged to go without the book. For this reason, we should patronize our advertisers and prove to them that it pays to advertise in The Brecky.
